Bomb Hoax, Fight Mar Bennett Do

A boisterous Social Credit rally in Victoria high school Saturday night was marred by a bomb hoax and a fist-fight between a heckler and party supporters.

Socred leader Bill Bennett had barely started his address to the noisy, feisty crowd, when a heckler was heard in the back corner of the auditorium.

The second time the heckler shouted a question, a scuffle broke out with Socred supporters around him and the meeting came to a halt as the man was dragged out by a couple of beefy-looking bystanders.

Bennett quickly got the meeting back on course by saying: "That wasn't nice. That's no way to treat tourists in B.C. that we know the NDP has brought in.".

Outside the auditorium, Adam Ustik, a 35-year-old provincial government employee, charged that he had been assaulted, left the meeting and returned shortly with two Victoria policemen.

In the meantime, three other police officials arrived and quickly told Socred organizers a bomb threat had been received and the bomb was allegedly hidden under the stage.

Saanich Socred MLA Hugh Curtis was called off the stage where he was sitting with other Social Credit candidates and warned of the threat.

Metchosin Pair Held Captive

By DEREK SIDENIUS
Times Staff

A man believed to have escaped from William Head prison held a husband and wife captive for more than six hours Sunday as he ate their food, dried his clothes, had a bath, and then told them how he escaped.

Paul Joseph Desjarlais was arrested by RCMP shortly after 11 a.m. today near Che-mainus. The wanted man was discovered hiding near where a camper truck, stolen Sunday night in Victoria, had been found abandoned. An RCMP spokesman said the man submitted without struggle.

"It was the most frighening experience of my life," Mrs. April McKenna 26, of 4611 William Head Road said this morning. "All I could think about was tomorrow people will be talking of me because I'll be dead."

She and her husband, Colin, 31, had just arrived home at about 11 a.m. Sunday after spending the night with friends on the Malahat when they discovered a window at the rear of their seaside log cabin had been smashed.

She said she thought at first it might have been broken by their Irish Setter trying to get out.

They opened the door, "expecting to find a bloody dog," walked into the kitchen when suddenly "this tall burly man stepped out from the pantry area, holding knives in each hand, and told us 'Don't be a hero'."

The description of the man matched that of Desjarlais, a 30-year-old inmate of William Head federal medium security prison who went missing at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. McKenna said the man pointed the knives at her and her husband but "made it plain he didn't want to hurt us provided we did as he said."

He told them he had put the dog in the bedroom. They asked him if he had hurt it and he replied No.

She said the man appeared ... and obviously desperate." He asked for some food. They told him to help himself. He

S.C. Crowd Reports 'Biased'

Victoria NDP officials have requested a formal inquiry into what they term the "biased reporting" of the Social Credit rally in Victoria on Saturday by CTV.

In a telegram today to Canadian Radio and Television Commission's (CRTC) acting chairman Harry Boyle, the NDP allege that CTV's Andy Stephen inaccurately reported a crowd of nearly 4,000 at the Victoria high school meeting.

"In fact," said the telegram, "in conformity with the fire regulations, the fire marshall for the city of Victoria allowed no more than 1,650 people into the building."

The Times had estimated the crowd at 1,800 to 2,000 but checked with the fire chief's office and was told the inspector on duty reported an attendance of about 1,600.

The inspector said there were 800 in the main auditori-

B.C. TOP CONTROL FANS

TORONTO (CP) — A survey conducted across Canada for CBC News indicates Canadians favor federal selective wage and price controls by a three-to-one margin, the CBC said Sunday.

The CBC said the controls received the most support in British Columbia where 76 per cent of those surveyed said they would back the controls. The least support was found in Quebec where 44 per cent of the persons surveyed said they would support the controls, the CBC said.

The survey, conducted by Adcom Research of Toronto from Nov. 25 to Dec. 3, indicates 61 per cent of Canadians favor the plan, 22 per cent oppose it and 14 per cent are uncommitted, the CBC said in a news release.

Portugal Appeals to UN Over Indonesia in Timor

Times News Services

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Portugal asked for an urgent meeting of the security council today, charging that Indonesia had military intervened in Portuguese Timor.

The request followed announcement by Indonesian foreign minister Adam Malik in Jakarta that Indonesian-led forces had captured Dili, capital of Portuguese Timor.

Portugal has broken off relations with Indonesia and the Indonesians, in turn, have ordered the Portuguese diplomatic representative in Jakarta to leave the country.

Political observers in Jakarta said the seizure of Dili would pave the way for incorporation of the four-century-old Portuguese colony as Indonesia's 27th province.

Malik told a news conference the invaders had quashed all resistence in Dili by the leftist revolutionary front for East Timor, known as Fretilin.

More than 1,000 Indonesian soldiers landing from warships spearheaded the attack on the remote colony, wracked by a bloody civil war since August.

There was no information on casualties.

Information Minister Mashur said Indonesian "volunteers" supported the attack on Dili, and a Fretilin broadcast said the Indonesians are pursuing the independence fighters in the hills.

The Portuguese government planned to give its half independence in 1978, but on Aug. 10 the Timorese Democratic Union (UDT) attempted a coup against the Portuguese. Fretilin forces opposed the UDT and took over Dili, and the Portuguese colonial administration fled to an offshore island.

'Cavalier Disregard' For Business Ethics

OTTAWA (CP) — Top Air Canada management was not dishonest but several executives failed to deal properly with the real nature of some controversial financial dealings by the publicly-owned airline, the Estey report says.

The report, tabled in the Commons today, says there was "cavalier disregard of the ordinary rules of business" in some of the deals investigated.

Washington Post Workers Vote No

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking pressman and stereotypers, by an overwhelming vote, voted "No" Sunday to what the Washington Post has called its final offer to end a walkout.

Contempt Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise offer from President Ford to head off contempt action against State Secretary Henry Kissinger was rejected today by the chairman of the House of Representatives intelligence committee.

Inflation Drop Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A moderation in food and energy prices and an increase in worker productivity should cause the inflation rate to come down to 6 per cent for the next year, predicts U.S. assistant commerce secretary James Pate.

Twister Chews Town

PORT HEDLAND, Australia (AP) — Cyclone Joan chewed up Port Hedland, a town of 13,000 in northwest Australia, today. A police spokesman reported: "Practically every house in town has its roof torn off. It's been a bloody disaster here."

The police reported one casualty, a man with a broken arm. Storm warnings were issued hours before the cyclone's 120-mile winds reached the town, and everyone took shelter.

Officials said the storm left 50 families homeless, destroyed all but one wing of the hospital and one out of every nine houses, and damaged 85 per cent of the town's other buildings.

They said there was two feet of water outside the police station after 16 hours of rain and that flooding had isolated the town by road.

"There was no panic, nothing like that," the police spokesman said. "Some people are already cleaning up."

"We're organizing a search right now, from one end of town to another, to see if there are any people in the wreckage," said emergency service controller Dick Langley.

IRA REFUSES VICTIM TRADE

LONDON (UPI) — Four trapped Irish Republican Army gunmen today rejected a police offer to provide them with food and cigarettes in exchange for the release of a woman they are holding hostage with her husband in a small apartment living room.

(See Picture Page 3)

"Absolutely not," came the answer on a hot-line telephone between the IRA gang's besieged Dorset Square refuge and the police outside. It came as the ordeal was in its second day.

The IRA gang is believed to include Britain's most wanted man, Michael Wilson, said by the poice to be responsible for London-area bombings that have killed 27 persons and wounded 540 in the past 18 months.

Wilson is wanted for the murder of Ross McWhirter, co-founder of the Guinness Book of Records. McWhirter was shot to death 10 days ago after offering a reward for the capture of the bombers.

The offer to provide food and cigarets to the gunmen in exchange for Mrs. John Matthews was made via the hot-line telephone connecting the second-floor living room on Dorset Square with police outside.

With police in hot pursuit, the gunmen seized Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, aged 54 and 53, respectively, Saturday night in their apartment, then barricaded themselves in the 13-by-14 foot living room overlooking the street.

They were given water, a portable toilet and toothache pills for Mrs. Matthews, but the police refused late Sunday and early today to supply requested food and cigarettes. Then they made the exchange offer.

Mediator Fails In Amsterdam

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — A mediator tried for two hours today to negotiate the release of four children held by South Moluccan rebels at gunpoint in the Indonesian consulate but he failed and left the building grim-faced and silent.

The children are among a group of more than 20 hostages held in the consulate by gunmen demanding freedom for their South Asian homeland from Indonesia. Another 31 hostages were being held for a seventh day on a hijacked train near the town of Beilan.

The Rev. Semol Metiary, a Protestant clergyman from South Molucca, took out with him a white envelope containing the Dutch government's "guidelines" in negotiations with the gunmen who seized the hostages in a raid on the Amsterdam consulate last Thursday.

At least two attempts to secure the safe release of the children collapsed over the weekend. The gunmen stuck firmly to their demands for Dutch government support of South Moluccan independence from Indonesia.

The Netherlands has firmly rejected any deal with the gunmen at the consulate or with the six holding an estimated 31 persons at gunpoint on a two-car train at Beilen, 75 miles north of Amsterdam, in the second of the two long running sieges.

A government source at the crisis centre in the capital of The Hague said chances for ending the twin standoffs without bloodshed were "bleak, to say the least."

The Dutch government has mobilized more than 1,000 heavily armed police and troops, including special anti-terrorist squads, around both sites.

TORY BOOST FOR KAREN

One riding where Social Credit warnings about splitting the so-called free enterprise vote seems to be unheeded is the northern Vancouver Island constituency of Comox. There Tory candidate Vic Stephens has been running such a strong campaign he is expected to ensure the re-election of the NDP's Karen Sanford. Linda Hughes reports on Page 5.

Violence, a major issue in hockey these days, cropped up again on the weekend with Attorney-General Alex Macdonald, Gordie Howe and police in London, Ont., adding fuel to the fire.

Macdonald, blaming "people like Clarence Campbell and the big-league officials" for violence at games, said in Kamloops that an incident in Vancouver last Wednesday is being investigated by his department. Phil Roberto of Detroit Red Wings was assessed a match penalty and suspended indefinitely for deliberately trying to injure Vancouver Canucks Don Lever in a National Hockey League game. Page 12.

Howe, 47-year-old right winger and president of Houston Aeros, is sitting out the first suspension of his 29-year professional career after elbowing referee Pat Asselstine in a World Hockey Association game. Page 12.

There's a vast difference between violence and plain, hard-hitting hockey, as Memorial Arena patrons learned Saturday night when Victoria Cougars edged Edmonton Oil Kings in a Western Canada Junior League game that was close and entertaining. Page 12.

St. Louis Cardinals, getting three first-half touchdown tosses from quarterback Jim Hart, rolled to a 31-7 triumph over Dallas Cowboys in one of three National Football League games of major importance. In the others, the injury-riddled Miami Dolphins overcame Buffalo Bills 31-21 and Washington Redskins rode Mark Mosley's 39-yeard field goal in the last five seconds to a 30-27 win over Atlanta Falcons. Stop Smoking, Nobel Trio Urges

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The three winners of the 1975 Nobel Prize in medicine today blamed outside environmental factors for causing up to 80 per cent of cancer in human beings.

About half of the cancer from these factors could be eliminated, but the population appears to turn its back on expert advice, they said. The three said the most prominent outside cancer-causing factor was cigarette smoking.

Profs. David Baltimore, Howard Temin and Renato Dulbecco won this year's prize for their "discoveries concerning the interaction between tumor viruses and the genetic material of the cell."

Appearing at a news conference prior to the Nobel Prize awarding ceremonies Dec. 10, Temin, of the University of Wisconsin, said:

"Well over half or up to 80 per cent of cancer in human beings is caused by things in the environment. The first thing is to recognize them and the second is to remove them. If they were removed, about 50 per cent of these cancers could be prevented."

Baltimore, from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said even if these factors are identified, he doubted if the population would heed the advice of the experts.

"People still smoke," he said. "The number of youngsters smoking is appalling."

Baltimore said some cancers are caused by high fat content in food and to warn people of the risks they are running "is just not going to work to get them to avoid these things."

He pointed to the urgent heed of a cancer cure.

Asked what was the most important development in cancer research during the past three years, Dulbecco, who is currently researching at the Imperial Cancer Research Laboratory in London, said without hesitation, "the proof between cancer and smoking."

Temin said: "Now we can shift our attention to things in the environment that cause cancer. Therefore most cancers can be prevented. The most practical thing that could be done is for people to stop smoking."

Bomb Hoax, Fight Mar Socred Rally

nett during his speech and told him of the bomb scare but Bennett simply shook his head and kept on speaking.

"There's no way anyone was going to stop me from speaking," Bennett said later. "I said I would keep speaking. I was giving my message to the people."

Bennett said he was simply making an individual decision for himself to keep speaking, although no one in the audience was told of the threat.

Asked what would have happened if there had been a bomb, Bennett said: "I guess the election campaign would have gone out with a bang."

Later Bennett said he felt it was up to police authorities to decide if the building should have been cleared.

Police officials said today the auditorium area under the stage was searched and it was concluded the threat was a hoax.

Crowd of about 2,000 was unaware of the bomb scare and angry exchanges between Ustik and other Socred supporters were going on in the hallway outside.

The rest of the rally continued without disturbance and a few brace hecklers continued to lightly jeer Bennett at every opportunity. Their boos were lost in the wild cheering of the remaining partisan crowd.

Ustik said he was an NDP supporter but had come to the meeting as a concerned citizen, wanting to ask Bennett questions. He was told at the start of the meeting, however, that Bennett would not have a question period after his speech.

"I'm going to lay charges of assault."

"This is also the party of freedom to listen," one Socred retorted and others angrily said Ustik had no right to be there and was preventing others from hearing Bennett.

Party officials said they did not condone any kind of violence and Bennett said later he agreed heckling is part of all political rallies.

Ustik said today he decided against pressing charges because he felt for every witness he could find to support his claim, the men who wrestled him down could find people to say he started the fight.

According to Ustik, he was pushed down when he tried to speak out and when he shoved away the man who pushed him another came from behind and tackled him and helped drag him out.

The two men involved in the fight would not give their names to the Times and said only that they were told to keep order at the meeting.

Meanwhile, inside the meeting, Bennett gave his regular campaign speech and added a little extra criticism for Provincial Secretary Ernie Hall, who sent letters to employees at a government-owned poultry processing plant on the Lower Mainland warning they could lose their jobs if Social Credit was elected.

Pair Held at Knife Point

said he wanted to dry his clothes. They lit a fire. Then he said he was going to take a bath, but first would have to tie them up.

"To be tied up was a really frightening thought ... we pleaded three or four times with him not to.

"He started to tie up one of Colin's hands when Colin said 'Lookit, we are not going to do anything stupid ... don't tie us up"

"That convinced him it wasn't necessary, but he told Colin to sit on the bedroom bed in view of the bathroom until he had finished."

Mrs. McKenna said the man recounted for them how he had escaped. He said he had walked out the front gate late the previous evening as the guard was sitting in the office with his hands behind his head looking at the ceiling.

Why had he escaped? they asked. He answered he couldn't stand to be in prison." he said candidly he had been serving eight years for some break-ins and had also "shot a cop with a sawed-off shotgun. (The latter incident is not revealed in the escaped prisoner's ciminal record. Mrs. McKenna thought he may have just been trying to terrify them further.)

He said he had hoped to have enough time to catch the last ferry and had tried to steal a car but couldn't get it started.

He told the couple he was not familiar with the area and had stumbled through the bush reaching a place identified by the McKenna's as Lester Pearson College where he stole a boat.

Mrs. McKenna said he must have rowed around the prison situated on William Head, before beaching the boat near their cabin.

The man said he broke into a nearby beach house and then the McKenna cabin. He said he had thought the place was vacant and their arrival Sunday had surprised him.

"We were really nervous," Mrs. McKenna said. "But we tried to be calm and understanding. We didn't want to frighten him or give him cause to panic."

As night came, Colin, a school teacher on a year's leave to write a novel, asked the man about his plans.

He replied he wanted to go into Victoria.

Mrs. McKenna said her husband asked the man not to take his truck as it was their only means of transportation.

The man responded by saying either both of them accompany him on the drive into town or he would take the truck without them.

They agreed. Colin drove. Mrs. McKenna said she couldn't recall the route they took as she was possessed by a fear the man would harm them.

The man, who told them his first name was Paul, said he wanted to be let off in a dark residential area.

After driving around the city the man ordered Colin to stop. He got out. "Bye," he said curtly.

Mrs. McKenna couldn't recall the street but said it was somewhere between Town and Country and Mayfair shopping centres. The McKenna's then drove to RCMP station in Colwood to report the incident. It was 6:50 p.m.

Victoria police said this morning a white GMC Mini motor home, B.C. licence PRG 894 was discovered missing from S. J. Peden recreation vehicles, 2855 Quesnel.

A police spokesman said there was a "reasonable possibility" the escaper may have stolen it.

Colwood RCMP said Desjarlais is described as six foot two inches tall, 200 pounds, black hair, and wearing a green parka, white long sleeve shirt, blue jeans and running shoes.

CROWD SIZE QUERIED

um of the school and 400 and 450 people watched the rally on TV screens in the two gyms downstairs.

Socred officials at the meeting told reporters their crowd count was 4,000.

In the telegram to the CRTC, Greg Welsh, campaign manager of the NDP in Victoria, said Stephen's report was carried on CHEK and CHAN on Sunday.

It asks for a formal reprimand and a public apology.

The Victoria Colonist also reported an attendance of 4,000 at the Bill Bennett rally and the NDP plan to send a letter of protest to the paper's publisher about the reporting of Jim Hume.

Stephen said today he had no comment on the charge and Hume could not be reached.

Socred organizer Bud Mesher told the Times today he estimated the crowd "realistically" at 3,300. He said there were about 1,100 in the auditorium and although there were only about 400 chairs in each of the gyms, he estimated about 1,100 in one of and 700 in another.

Premier Barrett's rally a week previous was widely reported as attracting a crowd of 3,000. Fire officials also say that crowd was probably closer to 2,000 although an official count was not taken.

800% Usury Rate In Crime Family

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre McSween, sole survivor of a 1974-75 gang war in southwest Montreal, said today that his family's usury business made a net profit of $7,000 to $8,000 a week.

He told the Quebec police commission inquiry into organized crime that customers paid 800 per cent interest on debts and faced beatings if they defaulted. Sixty per cent of customers were taxi drivers.

McSween brothers, Jacques and Henri, were killed in what an inquiry counsel called "our own St. Valentine's Day massacre," a Feb. 13, 1975 shootout at the southshore Hotel Lapiniere.

The family also operated a crooked lottery system, intended to resemble the Québec government's Loto Perfecta, as well as a hockey lottery, for which there were no winners, said Pierre McSween.

He said the hockey lottery, which brought in profits of $15,000 to $18,000 a week, was operated at one point with the co-operation of the "clock man" at the Montreal Forum, home of the Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

If, despite precautions, someone did win, they were paid with much fanfare as an investment in public confidence, the inquiry heard.

"The public should realize," said Judge Marc Cordeau," they are helping to fill the coffers of organized crime, with minimal chances of winning, when they participate in these lotteries."

Tickets for the crooked lotteries were sold at 50 cents each through a network of distributors in taverns and bars.

24-Hour Beirut Curfew

BEIRUT (UPI) — The Lebanese government, fighting desperately to regain control in this war-wracked capital, has imposed a 24-hour curfew to halt an eruption of weekend kidnappings and executions that left more than 100 dead.

Interior Minister Camille Chamoun clamped the curfew on the capital Sunday "in order to preserve the safety of citizens."

Beirut has been under a dusk-to-dawn curfew since Sept. 19.

His announcement followed two days of bloodletting in which rival factions killed more than 100 persons. The victims' only crime was to carry an identity card listing their religion.

Another 100 kidnap victims were reported freed after payment of ransoms.

The lastest round of violence brought casualties in eight months of civil war between Christians and Moslems to more than 4,600 dead and 10,000 wounded.

Chamoun warned that "if the situation continues to deteriorate, the declaration of a state of emergency will become inevitable."

Such a move would mean calling in Lebanon's 18,000-man army to try to restore order, an act consistently opposed by Premier Rashid Karami for fear it would trigger still more bloodshed.

The sudden collapse of security came Saturday after the bullet-rjddled bodies of five Christian militiamen were discovered in outer Beirut.

A wave of kindnappings and counter-kidnappings then swept the city, with hapless motorists and pedestrrians gunned down in cold blood if their identity cards proved them to be Christian or Moslem in the wrong area.

Beirut radio warned citizens that all streets in the city were unsafe and few persons ventured outside.

Scattered shooting erupted across the city and the thunder of exploding rockets and mortar shells echoed from the downtown areas as security forces appeared powerless to contain the violence.

Firemen and ambulance drivers came under fires as they tried to extinguish fires or pick up the wounded.

PROTECTED by police sharpshooters, two unidentified people flee from house in central London where IRA gunmen are holding an elderly man and his wife hostage after they were chased into the building following a shoot-out with police.

Rail Unions Hit STOL-Plane Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Railway unions have attacked the government's decision to invest more money in the DHC-7 STOL aircraft as a "blunder of monumental proportions."

The investment is an "appalling misallocation of funds that should have gone instead toward improving and expanding railway passenger service in Canada," says the unions in a letter, made public today, to all federal MPs.

The letter, written by E. G. Abbot, executive secretary of the Canadian Railway Labor Association, urges MPs to press for high-speed rail passenger service.

The government announced 10 days ago that it will proceed with production of the DHC-7, a STOL Short takeoff and landing aircraft, by the government-owned de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. The company has firm orders for 25 from several domestic and foreign airlines plus an option for eight more from Nordair, a Montreal-based regional air carrier.

Abbot said the STOL downtown-to-downtown idea has failed to catch fire in other countries despite several proposals in the last 20 years.

He noted the government says it will not recover its full investment in the DHC-7, known as the Dash 7, until 250 are sold.

The transport department received two studies in early 1974 one recommending a $435-million improvement of rail track and equipment and another proposing the Montreal-Ottawa STOL demonstration service, Abbot said.

The STOL proposal was accepted and the train idea was set aside.

MADRID HALTS LEFTIST MARCH

MADRID (AP) — Police put a heavy guard on the Madrid cemetery today to break up a Socialist march as the Spanish government pushed ahead with a crackdown on leftists demanding democratic reforms.

The Socialists scheduled a silent march to commemorate the death of the founder of the Spanish Socialist party, Pablo Iglesias. The police last year routed a similar observance.

The police also prohibited a Socialist meeting at a downtown movie house.

The crackdown began Sunday with the arrest of Communist labor leader Marcelino Camacho, 57, one of the few major political prisoners who had been freed a week ago by the limited amnesty with which King Juan Carlos began his reign.

Half an hour later riot police on horseback and in jeeps swarmed into the area around Carabanchel prison swinging clubs and setting off tear gas to break up a Communist rally to call for full amnesty for all political prisoners. Several hundred of the estimated 2,000 political prisoners are held at the prison.

Police said 100 persons were arrested, but anti-government sources said 300 were rounded up.

Camacho was arrested near his home as he went to buy a morning newspaper. He was charged with organizing the rally and recruiting demonstrators at Madrid University. His wife denied the charges.

Camacho, head of Spain's 400,000-member underground trade-union movement, had been in prison for illegal political association. After his release Nov. 30, he called the king's amnesty an insult because it left 90 per cent of the political prisoners in jail. He said he would campaign for amnesty for all political prisoners.

Cypriots Landed

TEL AVIV (Reuter) — Israeli jet fighter planes intercepted a Cypriot airliner with 52 people aboard today and forced it to land at Ben Gurion airport near here when it headed for Israeli-controlled air space, airport sources reported.

Israeli Troops Quell Riot by Arab Youths

Times News Services

JERUSALEM — Israeli troops firing into the air today quelled a demonstration by about 1,000 Arab youths protesting Jewish settlement on the occupied West Bank of Jordan in one of the worst outbreaks of unrest there in six years.

The outbreak came as the influential newspaper Ha'Aretz reported that Israeli foreign minister Yigal Allon will propose a peace plan to the cabinet that will include creation of a Palestinian state on the occupied West Bank. The report was promplty denied by the foreign ministry.

The Israelis fired their guns in the air for about an hour in efforts to quell the demonstrators and rushed the blockaded alleys. Women and children ran for safety. All shops were closed.

Dozens of youths were collared by the troops who kicked and clubbed some of them before throwing them into waiting jeeps. About 350 troops and 20 armored cars were on the scene. The area was quiet after three hours.

An advance party of eight American technicians scouting the Sinai Destert for peace watch station sites arrived in Israel today.

The eight had spent three days with Egyptian officials in Cairo and the Egyptian sector of Sinai.

Thanks for the memories.

Remember those stirring promises that heralded the coming of The Insurance Corporation of British Columbia? The promise that the "profits" made by ICBC would remain in the province? The boast that ICBC would be self-supporting? That subsidies would never be required?

That was before Autoplan actually got into operation ... and in less than two years these promises have dissolved into pipedreams.

Remember the $36 million deficit?

"This plan will stand as a beacon to the sound business management of the NDP." So said the Hon. Robert Strachan, the Minister responsible for ICBC, when he introduced Autoplan. The beacon has since faded fast. In its first year of operation, ICBC reported a deficit of $36 million. But remember that $36 million deficit figure. All the forecasts are that it will look good compared with what ICBC will drop in its second year.

And all the high hopes that Autoplan would never be subsidized? Just another pipedream. In June the government proposed that a subsidy of up to 10 cents a gallon on the gasoline tax could be used to support auto insurance. One way or the other, the taxpayer has to pay.

Remember the ICBC strike?

In May 1,800 employees of The Insurance Corporation of British Columbia went on strike. This strike lasted 15 weeks. There were an estimated 100,000 claims still awaiting settlement when the strike began. Another 100,000 new damage claims occurred during the strike itself. About 350,000 driver certificate renewals had to be ignored. The monopoly was immobilized for more than 100 days. If you were in an accident and wanted action — tough.

The Insurance Corporation of B.C. spent $32 million on capital expenditures and another $19 million on start-up costs. Just to create another government bureaucracy.

And has it been fun dealing with yet another government monopoly? The feeling that you had to take or leave whatever was offered? The frustration that came with the realization that you had been robbed of the ultimate defence of consumers everywhere — the right to take your business elsewhere.

All the opposition parties in this election recognize that the public good will not be served if ICBC remains a monopoly. They all say Autoplan should have to compete with the private insurance companies. After all, if the private companies are inefficient or cannot match the service or rate offered by ICBC, they'll be the losers — not the public.

Just judge ICBC on its record. And, hopefully, on December 11th we turn the realities of monopoly insurance into mere memories.

A Mandate for David Barrett

The Times believes David Barrett's New Democratic Party should be returned to office Dec. 11. Our reluctant decision to support the NDP is based on the political future of this province, not next month or next year, but a decade hence. If Barrett is returned to power the conglomeration of turncoats and greedy opportunists that manipulates Social Credit will in all probability crumble. This would mean British Columbia could return to moderate politics which the Times supports.

The provincial election campaign conducted by New Democratic and Social Credit parties has been an insult to the electorate's intelligence. Both parties have treated voters with utter contempt in attempts to maintain or grasp power. Premier Barrett's clown and anguish act would be theatre of the absurd in most jurisdictions. To use the purchase of a cruise ship as a symbolic plank in a re-election campaign is bizarre. Bill Bennett's slick pitch is an unprincipled concoction of half-truths and full blown promises written in the air and carefully qualified on the ground. Neither party has explained itself, preferring jokes and jingoism to substance and seriousness.

After giving vent to these feelings a newspaper is still faced with a choice, the same as every voter. Despite our strong leanings towards Liberal and Conservative parties, either NDP or Social Credit will form British Columbia's next government. Given the paucity of choice we prefer the NDP. When the NDP replaced Social Credit in Aug., 1972, it was like a fresh breeze in a musty room. A host of long overdue legislation was enacted within months. The Land Commission Act safeguarded scarce agricultural land. One of the most comprehensive farm plans in the nation, including an income assurance plan is a credit to David Stupich. A new emphasis on people rather than things gave British Columbians tough consumer legislation, a strict human rights code which is being enforced, the right to sue the crown and disclosure legislation to root out conflicts of interest. Mincome and Pharmacare are responsible programs, as the premier never tires of telling us. A fair return on natural resources is another NDP priority the Times has always supported. For those persons who see the Barrett administration as holding hands with organized labor we can only point to the recent back to work legislation. No other Canadian administration, regardless of ideology, has had the guts to take such a step. Indeed, it is hard to fault the provincial NDP on their social policies and demonstrated leadership.

Unfortunately, similar praise can not be lavished on the government's economic policies. Excessive salary increases in the public sector—Strachan's plaint, "They have a gun to our head", in reference to striking ferry workers is a good example — coupled with a $100 million overrun and ICBC mismanagement frankly frighten us. While this newspaper endorses some government purchases in private industry, many have been foolish, pathetic salutes to ideology rather than common sense. Most North American governments faced a financial squeeze in recent years. Barrett's administration ignored warning signs, however, continuing to spend like a small kid in a candy store. The premier has been honest enough to admit some mistakes. He went so far as to limit hiring and trimmed $150 million from his fat budget. This is not good enough. If the NDP is re-elected we expect the provincial government to be tight with taxpayers' dollars. And we will be alert to any signs of the old excess in a free-spending cabinet.

Social Credit is a great disappointment. Bill Bennett is an intelligent, likeable man, but the characters who surround him and form the nucleus of this party are not to our liking. People who trade in their principles as they would an automobile should not be entrusted with public office. The old Social Credit party at least stood up for its values. This amorphous new lump of prattling jingoists offers nothing more than a blind loyalty to cowboy capitalism, the kind of rip and tear the rest of the country discarded years ago. Sure, there are promises of Mincome, Pharmacare, even a Ministry of the Environment. All of these things were acted on by the NDP government of David Barrett. Where was Social Credit for the past 20 years when chronic care facilities were needed? How can we turn the clock back on the strength of some Johnny come latelys and 60 promises? After 20 years of allowing mining in parks and negotiable pollution standards are we to trust this bunch again? The answer should be a hearty "No."

What is left of the provincial Liberal and Conservative parties appears to agree with the above sentiments. Both parties are led by bright, articulate men who remain a credit to politics and the legislature. If the traditional parties face the nadir of their fortunes now, their day will come, perhaps as soon as the next election. Even this time around either party might be the balance of power with an NDP government. No voter should ignore a strong Liberal or Conservative candidate in his or her riding. In fact the Times will discuss the local candidates in Tuesday's editorial.

Still the focus remains on Social Credit and NDP. Premier Barrett is an exceptional leader, in our view, a compassionate man with strong feelings for B.C. and the parliamentary system he serves. The Times believes the NDP deserves a second mandate from the people of this province on Thursday.

Parkland

Last week, the provincial government announced creation of a 1.66-million-acre park on the Spatzizi plateau in northwestern B.C. This brings the new parkland created by the present government to close to four million acres since it came to power in 1972, a truly impressive achievement.

By comparison, under the former Social Credit government not one square foot of park land was bought in nine out of the 20 "glorious" years they were in power. In many cases during those years land for recreational use was donated by private citizens or companies, some acquired in busy horse trades as the 400 acres of scrubby timber land at Cape Scott for millions of board feet of lumber ripped out of Strathcona provincial park.

Under the present government and in a short period many new parks were established, others enlarged. The Ruckle property on Salt Spring Island at Beaver Point, which includes four and a half miles of lovely shore line, bought at bargain price and interest free, to be made into a badly needed campsite. Near Sooke, 138 acres of land at French Creek along a lovely beach nearly a mile long. Financial assistance was given by this government to the capital region to establish East Sooke park and land donated to enlarge that park. Many hundred acres of land in the Thetis Lake watershed, once sold into private hands, repatriated at a very high cost.

The record shows that the former Social Credit government had very little interest to create much-needed land for recreation, and their policies are clearly reflected in a resolution taken at their Okanagan convention — to shove the citizens of this lovely province into private campsites. — W. Lissetz, 501 Richmond Avenue.

Public Divided

Never before has any provincial election in Canada seen such polarization of the public as is present in B.C. The public is clearly divided into two opposing groups. One group seeks to improve living standards through greater productivity, while preserving personal freedom under a free-enterprise form of economy, allowing the natural equilibrium of human relationships to remain the dominant force. The other group is being encouraged to seek a better life through government intervention to regulate people's lives in conformity with socialist theory, regardless of human nature.

MORE LETTERS ON PAGE 40

Those whose observations of human events elsewhere have taught them to be suspicious of attempts to legislate human behavior and to be fearful of the impact of such attempts upon individual freedom, regardless of their usual political affiliations, have united their efforts under the B.C. Social Credit party as the only possible vehicle for effective political expression of their concerns. Those who place their faith in government clout, ranging from social reformers to hard-line communists, have united their efforts under the New Democratic party.

Along with this intense polarization there is unfortunately a growing bitterness which will take many years to heal. In many respects the present situation reminds one of those scenes from Dr. Zhivago when the revolutionaries discovered that the general population was becoming disillusioned with the new political leaders. I hope we don't see a repetition of this election.—Hilda Venables.

Subtle Accusations

I read with great interest the subtle accusations by the Liberals and Conservatives that the Socreds are "blackmailing" their candidates into withdrawing from the election.

Come on, Dr. Wallace and Mr. Gibson, you both know that type of unsubstantiated statement is the cheapest of political manoeuvres and because you are condoning and feeding on these lies you have, in my opinion, destroyed any credibility and integrity you may have had.

The truth is that the majority of people in B.C. want the NDP out and they know a vote for you is a vote for state socialism. You can scratch up all the phony issues you want but you will not fool the people.

Thank you for your past service.—R.E.D.

Barrett: A Leader Who's Way Out in Front of His Party

By NORMAN GIDNEY

"The biggest political rally in Victoria's history," said John Twigg, the premier's press secretary, as one reporter elbowed his way into the jam-packed gymnasium at S. J. Willis school a week ago Saturday.

The enthusiastic crowd of 3,000 (one-third of them watching things on closed circuit television in an auditorium elsewhere in the building) would have distorted anyone's judgment. It was only seven years ago that Prime Minister Trudeau attracted 11,000 people to Beacon Hill to watch him descend in a helicopter.

A minor quibble though. It was one of the largest indoor political rallies ever held in the city, and certainly the biggest demonstration of support for the NDP ever in Victoria, which has never given NDP or CCF candidates much support. For a frosty Saturday, even discounting the drawing power of a premier of the province, the sheer number of Victorians who turned out was impressive.

More than that, who can say what it means? As never before in a provincial election in recent times, people are intensely interested in the issues and the candidates and the leaders. But mobs and crowds are fickle. Someone who shouts and claps and cheers — or fears not to in a mass of several thousand others — may mark his ballot in contrary fashion in the solitude of a polling booth.

Maybe the 3,000 wildly enthusiastic supporters were evidence of a much larger group of Victorians who this time will elect NDP members to the legislature. Or they could have been just the hard core of the nearly 7,000 voters who in 1972 marked an X for the party's candidates who ran sixth and seventh in a field of eight.

Nobody can say, even a few days before the election, how Victoria will go. The capital region has an almost schizophrenic record of vote-splitting. In 1972, Liberals, Conservatives and NDPerse finished within a few hundred votes of each other. The Social Credit party says its canvassers are finding a huge block of uncommitted voters — still.

Perhaps the only solid conclusion you can draw from the big NDP rally in town is the incredible personal popularity of David Barrett himself. It must be remembered that Barrett has always run well ahead of his own party in elections, from 42 per cent of the vote in the old Dewdney riding in 1963, to 55 per cent in the then-new Coquitlam riding in 1966, to 47 per cent in 1969 and an amazing 57 per cent in the 1972 landslide.

It explains the NDP's strategy in the 1975 election campaign, which seems to be: "Show Barrett everywhere, don't mention socialism, smile a lot and keep the cabinet out of sight."

The party's advertising mentions Barrett's leadership to the exclusion of almost everything else. It's not "the Barrett team" or "NDP good government" but "B.C. has strong leadership. Let's keep it that way."

The special edition of the New Democrat, the party publication which was delivered to households across the province, has a big picture of Barrett on the cover, another inside with a message from the premier, and paeans of praise in the headlines about his having "the toughest job of all." With hard work and guts, the premier's proved his leadership, it says.

Social Credit has its own cult of personality ("Bill Bennett's Way"), but it's always been so in that party. From a party of purists which the NDP claims to be, the quick adoption of all the glib advertising gimmicks and slick political tactics of the PR world is a rather barefaced reversal of everything the party says between-times: "The issues are important, not personalities."

The real socialists were outside S.J. Willis school that Saturday night, standing in the cold handing leaflets to people rushing past to hear Barrett. "Guns and cash registers in the museum," was one leafletter's slogan.

Someone has written that the only reason the parties put on such big rallies and meetings is for the benefit of the press, which as all familiar with The Front Page and Waugh's comic novel Scoop know, daily demands new stories and fresh headlines — no matter how trivial.

Premier Dave Barrett at S. J. Willis school NDP rally

But during this election campaign, the press has been striving to create news where there hasn't been any. The party leaders have given their standard platform speeches at most stops. In the last couple of weeks of the campaign especially, they seem to have developed lockjaw on the issues.

I think the rallies and monster meetings are organized for the benefit of the party leaders themselves. To watch Barrett or Bennett before an enthusiastic crowd is to see a man rejuvenated, brought alive. Cheers and applause, especially when they interrupt your words dozens of times in a speech three-quarters of an hour long, can produce a powerful rush of adrenalin.

So it was with the rally at S. J. Willis school, strictly a Barrett production from beginning to end. Except for a warm-up by an emcee which consisted of an interminable joke about Bennett buggies ("with a Liberal transmission, you know, where they keep the McGeers . . . a Tory rear end and a donkey up front who doesn't know where he's going either"), and a brief introduction of all the area NDP candidates, the evening was Barrett's.

He started with some bad jokes of his own, but which nonetheless got roars of laughter from the crowd. One was about a nice little old lady who called his office and told his secretary what a wonderful man Dave was, how fine his Mincome and Pharmacare programs were and went on for some minutes in her praise. The punch line, of course, was that she told the secretary: "Just tell him his mother called."

Another Barrett joke concerned a man who eagerly came up after a rally somewhere (one night it was Powell River) and said he had all kinds of questions to ask the premier: "But somebody stole his briefcase." More howls.

He kept them laughing and he left them laughing. It's an important part of his political style. Make them laugh, at you or your opponent, but leave them with the message. More people will remember it longer.

The Socreds claim that the NDP is going to take away people's land?

"Can't you see them (the NDP) coming over to your house with a shovel, putting your land into a sack and carrying it to Victoria?"

Businessmen praise him for buying the Princess Marguerite, but criticize the NDP for purchasing Ocean Falls?

"I'm learning their economic system. From now on when we give help to people we'll call it grants. And when we help businessmen we'll call it welfare."

Confusion in Social Credit about candidates attacking each other, people jumping from other parties?

"Some of those birds are so new they think Major Douglas is an uncle of Tommy."

His finest routine, complete with arm contortions, is about Attorney-General Alex Macdonald's "golden elbow" (variously, his "Diamond-studded platinum elbow") — the B.C. Petroleum Corp. set up to buy all natural gas in B.C. at the wellhead, then re-sell at a much higher price to Westcoast Transmission Co. which in turns sell it to American and B.C. utilities.

Between the jokes, he slips in the serious messages.

"We're trying to create something rare, something different, something unique. It's not necessary to create a dog-eat-dog life style."

"If they agree with everything we've done, then what are they running against us for?"

"Old age pensioners in Victoria who were reduced to eating dog food and toast and jam at the end of the month — thank God that's gone."

Whether he slipped enough of these messages across between the laughter, and enough people were listening, not even Just Dave would hazard a guess about now. He may not have the luxury of 38 seats in the legislature come Friday to afford much time for jokes.

60 YEARS AGO

From the Times of December 8, 1915

The annual meeting of the Victoria section of the Royal Astronomical Society was held last evening, with president A. W. McCurdy reading a paper on the "planet of romance" — a name associated with Vulcan, a mythical planet whose influence may be observed upon the planet Meroury although it has never actually been seen by astronomers, although photographs of the sun have been taken every day for years now. A new method of photography during a total eclipse of the sun may produce better results, said Mr. McCurdy.

The Campaign: COMOX

Tory May Save Seat For NDP's Sanford

By LINDA HUGHES
Times Staff

(Seventh of Series)

COURTENAY — A huge sign on the outskirts of Courtenay warns voters: "Social Credit is the only alternative. Don't split the vote."

It's not an "official" Social Credit campaign sign and party workers insist they don't know where it came from, although they sympathize with its sentiment. Perhaps more accurately, they're obsessed with it.

In a constituency where a few months ago the Socreds might have confidently predicted a victory, the strong Conservative candidate appears to have snatched away their chances.

"This guy Vic Stephens is coming on like gangbusters," said Social Credit campaign manager Peter Robinson.

"He's not going to win but he's got a good chance of electing Karen Sanford . . . she's down but she's still stronger," said Robinson.

SANFORD

HANUSE

10 Months' Work

Stephens isn't quite so sure. He was nominated by the Tories 10 months ago and has been working the constituency with amazing energy and determination ever since.

If anyone is splitting the vote in Comox it's the Socreds, he said.

"If the Socreds hadn't nominated I would have had an easy victory," said Stephens, "... I've got a good enough share of the Socred vote so it's impossible for Social Credit to win here."

With the Tory and Socred candidate Dan Hanuse vying for the same anti-NDP vote and discounting each other's chances, Sanford, the incumbent NDP member, is sitting pretty in the middle.

Comox encompasses a large, far-flung area on the north end of Vancouver Island from Mud Bay and Hornby Island in the south, through the Comox Valley and Campbell River to the small communities of Alert Bay, Port Hardy, and Winter Harbor on the northern tip of the Island.

Social Credit's Dan Campbell held the seat through five elections from 1956 to 1972, losing miserably to Sanford in the NDP sweep.

But despite the Socreds' 16-year reign, Campbell never won by any substantial margin (except in 1969 when he took 49 per cent of the vote compared to the NDP's 39 per cent) and the NDP have traditionally held a solid 40 per cent base of support.

In the 1972 election that support mushroomed to 57 per cent, while the Socred strength dropped to 29 per cent.

The constituency has grown rapidly in the last three years, with eligible voters increasing from about 33,000 to over 45,000. Most of those people are younger workers in the resource industries — logging, mining and fishing. Tourism is a growing source of revenue.

But the riding can be easily divided into three distinct regions.

Nearly half the population is in the southern, Comox Valley area, around Courtenay. Distinct from the rest of the constituency, this area includes some farm land and an older, retired population in the Comox and Cumberland centres.

Another third of the population lives around Campbell River where the Crown Zellerbach pulp mill employs about 1,200 people and a large fishing fleet ties up its boats.

In the northern reaches of the constituency another sixth of the population lives in logging camps, fishing villages or mining communities. A second pulp mill operates in Port Alice and most of the native Indians in the constituency live in this northern sector.

There tends to be a large transient population, especially in the booming Campbell River region.

Sanford topped every poll but a tiny northern one in 1972 and her election was clearly a party rather than a personal victory.

Lost Innocence

A 43-year-old housewife and former school teacher, Sanford had worked the riding fairly hard prior to the election but as one local official said, "the NDP could have run anybody and won that year."

"Karen was just an innocent young girl three years ago but that's all changed now," he said.

Many people who voted for Sanford last time were not traditional NDP supporters and in some quarters they won't be voting for her again because of an image she's acquired, however valid, as a more left-wing member of the caucus.

"Sanford's not as popular as some NDPers might be because she's so agressive on state socialism and land issues," said one observer.

When Premier Barrett appeared on the local hot-line show, a good portion of the questions dealt with land issues and Sanford's alleged comment that she didn't believe in the private ownership of land.

Sanford insists her comments were misinterpreted but her opponents are pushing the issue for all it's worth.

She thinks most people in the riding support the land commission, which has only affected a small segment of the population in the Comox Valley, and she also thinks they strongly support her campaign against foreign ownership of land.

Cumberland Clinched

There are two large mines in the area but the NDP doesn't believe the mineral royalties legislation has weakened their support from mine workers.

If Cumberland was any indication, Sanford would be a cinch. Cumberland Mayor Bronco Moncrieff is not known as an NDP supporter but his praise of the government is unwavering.

The town is mostly a retirement centre with little tax base and badly in need of nancial aid. It was ignored for years, according to Moncrieff, but since the NDP came to power more than $4 million in aid has poured in for senior citizens' projects, housing, recreation and medical facilities and federal-provincial neighborhood improvement grants.

But Cumberland is unique and accounts for barely 1,000 votes. Courtenay and Comox, with a substantial portion of air force people, presents a very different picture of Social Credit or at least free enterprise voters. Campbell River has been a stronger base of NDP support.

A large number of teachers in that area came out to work for the NDP in 1972 and Sanford said just as many seem to be back working in Campbell River again this time. Over a hundred people are working on the campaign and while donations are coming in slowly the party still plans to spend $10,000 to $12,000.

Sanford says she's encouraged by the feedback her workers are getting but she's not willing to make any predictions.

Stephens is not making any predictions either but says he's more excited about the campaign than he's been about anything in his life.

An energetic 44-year-old Courtenay lawyer who runs seven miles a day, Stephens is very much in the mold of his leader, Scott Wallace. He's a sincere, independent thinker who talks a great deal about honesty, integrity and good government.

He's knocked on nearly 9,000 doors since February and his name is becoming familiar in Campbell River and the northern areas where he wasn't well-known 10 months ago.

Shake, Shake, Shake

On an average campaign day, Stephens is up at 6:30 a.m. and out at the pulp mill to shake hands with workers at the change of shift; then he races down to the wharves to talk to some fishermen; spends the rest of the morning and afternoon door-knocking; talks with workers over dinner; more door-knocking in the evening; and at 11 p.m. is back at the mill to shake some more hands.

He said he is spending only about $9,000 on his campaign but has about 400 to 500 workers—mostly people inexperienced in politics, like himself. Most are not Tory party members and Stephens, like Wallace, is more of an independent than a party man.

"People laughed at us when we started but they're not laughing anymore. We've got a committed, hard-working group of people . . . and we're convincing people that we are the alternative. Polarization isn't here because we've worked so hard."

There was a strong anti-government hysteria, whipped up by the Socreds over the last year, said Stephens, but it's dying down and "in the last 10 days it's started to self-destruct."

"Before, I was closer to the business community but since I've been campaigning I've gotten away from that sector and found it's not really that large. The people are not hysterical but they are concerned."

One of the big issues of concern in the Comox riding is the highway system, especially that long-promised vital link with the northern tip of the Island.

The NDP, like the Socreds for 20 years before it, have promised the road will go through but progress has been slow. Stepphens, like most of the candidates, has wisely stayed away from rash promises on the road, but he still thinks it's an important factor in the election.

The isolation problem itself is an issue, and the Socreds think their candidate will gain because of it.

Hanuse, 57, is a native Indian, born in Alert Bay. He's spend all his life working in the northern end of the Island and his logging operations there have made him a wealthy man.

His campaign people think he will do well in those areas, despite the predominance of traditional NDP voters within the forestry unions. But they admit he is not well known in the more-populated southern regions.

Hanuse was nominated late in the campaign, which hasn't helped increase his recognition, but the nomination was almost a mini-election in itself, complete with three all-candidate meetings and eight aspirants vying for the spot.

As in other ridings, Socred party strength has increased phenomenally and now stands at about 1,400.

Socred critics say Hanuse has almost been invisible during the campaign even if his advertising hasn't. Social Credit posters and signs are everywhere in the riding and the party has over 1,000 workers.

The Liberal candidate in Comox isn't expected to be much of a factor but Norm McLaren, a 38-year-old loans officer with the Bank of Commerce, may gain a strong personal following in his home of Campbell River.

Hits Local Issues

McLaren has a long record of community work. He has served on the executive of the labor council, on the Chamber of Commerce and last year was nominated as an outstanding Canadian.

McLaren was also nominated several months ago and although he is spending only $1,700 on his campaign, feels his name is becoming known outside the Campbell River district.

"I'm the only candidate talking about local issues and telling it like it is," he said. Those issues are the northern highway, the need for a second bridge in Courtenay, the need for hospital facilities in the north, the whole question of isolation and lack of action in the north and the demand for long-range environmental planning in the area.

Welfare is an issue, said McLaren, because so many transient youths from the United States and eastern Canada pass through the constituency "to pick up their welfare cheques."

Sanford agrees welfare is a matter of contention in the riding but said she has urged people to report all cases of fraud to her. Last year she said she checked out 15 allegations and none of them proved to be true.

McLaren believes the fishermen and a good portion of the unionized forestry workers are "die-hard NDPers" but thinks he, rather then Hanuse, may pick up some of that six per cent native vote.

He thinks Sanford is too left-wing for many voters in the riding and has not made herself totally available to all sectors of the community.

Courtenay Mayor Bill Moore said he agrees the NDP government's lack of action on transportation problems and the whole question of land may lose Sanford votes but he sees the split Socred-Tory vote ensuring her election anyway.

"I'd put a great deal of money on her winning," he said.

The odds on Sanford are high but with Stephens gaining a hefty personal following and the Socreds visibly very strong, it's still an active three-way race.

FOOD MARKETING AGENCIES NEED CONTROLS

GLOBE AND MAIL
An Editorial

The federal government has proposed to the provinces that food prices set by farm produce marketing agencies should be subject to Ottawa's anti-inflation guidelines. The proposal is sensible, equitable and intelligent.

Prices set by the marketing agencies are not farm-gate prices — which the government has said it will exempt from controls — but prices set one step beyond the gate. And the public has no cause to trust that these agencies will hold produce prices in fixed proportion to their costs, as producers of other goods are going to be required by law to do.

The Ottawa proposal would embrace food marketing agencies where there is little or no import competition and where supply and demand generally are absent factors in setting price — the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency (CEMA) and the provincial egg and milk marketing boards, the broiler chicken and turkey agencies and some fresh fruit and vegetable agencies.

They would be required to hold prices at October 14 levels unless they could show that increases were justified by cost increases.

Ottawa has not spelled out how the guidelines would be enforced but, presumably, it would be along the lines of what Finance Minister Donald Macdonald suggested (for the federal agencies at any rate). The Anti-Inflation Board would monitor the prices but the power to roll back unjustified prices would be held by the government itself — through the Farm Products Marketing Act — rather than by the government's special anti-inflation administrator.

We would like to feel confident that this is enough; the monitoring of prices (as an an example, if ever again the price of eggs goes up by one cent a dozen while the price of chicken feed drops far enough to account for a two-cent-a-dozen price decrease).

But with these marketing agencies — these so-called shining examples of how much better the consumer and producer can be served by organized production and price-setting rather than the free market — there is so much nonsense and always so much under the rug.

Last year, Canada imported only 4.3 million pounds of eviscerated chickens — broilers — and its storage stocks were 11 million pounds. This year, to November 15, it has imported 11.7 million pounds and the storage stocks on November 1 were only 3.5 million pounds. What sort of controlled, guaranteed production is this? And who will assure the public that there is no suggestion of a created shortage of product to send up prices?

What about the reports from some agricultural observers that there is going to be a shortage of tom turkeys — 16 to 20 pounds — for Christmas? Or that in two weeks, Canada is going to have to import eggs because there aren't enough for Christmas baking?

Last winter with eggs, it was 28 million of them wasted by CEMA by misquota and over-production.

There is justification in the government's decision to exempt from controls the price of food at the farm-gate. The farmer, dealing in a free market, is going to look closely at his costs and his efficiency and strive to remain competitive. An argument might also be made for returning a better share of the price of food to him for his labors.

But the marketing agencies are different. There is too much suspicion that agency-set priced do not reflect the true costs of producing food, but the cost of keeping inefficient producers in business.

STUPICH KEPT BUSY . . .

NANAIMO (CP) — Finance Minister Dave Stupich said Sunday that the campaign for provincial election Thursday has kept him busy correcting statements made by Bill Bennett, the leader of the opposition.

"One of my responsibilities in the election campaign as minister of finance seems to have developed into one of correcting the leader of the opposition when he makes statements about government finances," Stupich said in an interview.

He said Social Credit leader Bennett's mistakes have included saying a 10-cent-a-gallon increase in gasoline prices was imposed by the provincial government, when in fact, Stupich said, it was the federal government.

"I think the best thing would be for him to come to my office when he intends to make any statement about government finances," Stupich said.

"I'll review his statement about government finances and make the corrections to save us both the embarassment.

"Then he can go ahead and make his statement."

Canada No. 10 In Inflation Rate

PARIS (AP) — Consumer prices in the 24 member-countries of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development OECD went up 0.8 per cent in October, the monthly OECD inflation scorecard shows. The rise was identical to that registered in September.

The scorecard, which was issued Friday, says the small increase of 0.3 per cent last August was "a temporary lull." It adds that the increases in October and September over the August percentage reflected partly an increase if food prices outside North America.

Canada, with 10.6 per cent, is 10th in an OECD-compiled breakdown of country-by-country inflation rates for the 12 months through October.

The breakdown shows that Iceland—54.4 per cent—had the highest rate of inflation and Denmark—4.7 per cent—the lowest.

The OECD breakdown shows: Denmark, 4.7 per cent; Switzerland, 4.8 per cent; West Germany 5.8 per cent; the United States, 7.6 per cent; Austria, 7.7 per cent; Sweden, 8.9 per cent; Japan, 9.6 per cent; the Netherlands, 9.9 per cent; France, 10.2 per cent; Canada, 10.6 per cent; Belgium, 11.2 per cent; Luxembourg, 11.5 per cent; Norway, 11.9 per cent; Australia and Italy, 12.1 per cent respectively; Portugal, 12.7 per cent; New Zealand, 14.8 per cent; Greece, 15.5 per cent; Spain, 16.1 per cent; Finland, 17.2 per cent; Turkey, 17.7 per cent; Ireland, 19.0 per cent; Britain, 25.9 per cent; and Iceland, 54.5 per cent.

Coal Sales Slammed

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Barrett government is virtually giving away British Columbia's coal resources and is losing the provincial treasury tens of millions of dollars, Liberal leader Gordon Gibson said Sunday.

Gibson said that while the world price of metallurgical coal has increased to $52 a ton from $30 in the last year, the provincial take on it is only $1.50 a ton.

Gibson said he finds it "mighty strange" that while the rest of the mining industry has been driven almost to extinction by royalties, coal has remained virtually exempted.

"They've been awfully rough on the copper people, but very soft on coal," Gibson told a coffee party gathering in his home riding of North Vancouver-Capilano.

"I find this very puzzling. I wonder why. It is one of the questions I hope (Premier Dave) Barrett will answer before this election is over."

Gibson said about eight million long tons of metallurgical coal, the high-grade coking coal used to make steel, will be exported from B.C. this year, for which the province will get $12 million.

U.S. WON'T REVIEW INDIAN LAND TREATY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court refused today to grant a bicentennial-year hearing to 15 Indian tribes who say they were cheated of their land because they fought for the English in the American revolution.

The justices chose not to review a ruling of the U.S. Court of Claims denying compensation for approximately 20 million acres of land in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan.

The case arose out of the Treaty of Greenville, signed by the tribes and the young American government in 1795.

In an earlier treaty, the U.S. had agreed to abide by commitments which the British had made ceding the land to the tribes.

Despite this, most of the tribes fought on the British side in the war because they believed the Americans had designs on their land.

After the British conceded U.S. sovereignty over the Old Northwest in 1783, the U.S. said the Indians, having fought for England, were dispossessed of their land.

Nimsick Tribute

CRANBROO K(CP) — Leo Nimsick, who served 26 consecutive years in the legislature was honored by more than 300 persons at a retirement dinner Saturday night.

"He fought for better working conditions, for workers' compensation and for better safety on the job," said Premier Barrett, who took a night off from campaigning for next Thursday's provincial election.

"When he stood up in the legislature to fight for a cause, it was with a burning conviction."

Ricci Shares VSO Spotlight With Wind, Percussion

By AUDREY JOHNSON
Times Staff

The highly competent wind players and percussion group of Victoria Symphony Orchestra share the spotlight in the current pair of concerts with guest violinist Ruggiero Ricci.

Not only is one selection written specifically for these instruments but the orchestra's main work — the Bruckner fourth symphony — takes particular account of their presence.

In between comes the richly melodic, scintillating violin concerto of Tchaikovsky.

Ricci is not unfamiliar to Victorians. During the last four summers when he has been an artist in residence at the Shawnigan Summer School of the Arts, he has played at concerts frequently in this area.

But through his immense and experienced virtuosity he is ever able to provide a fresh and vital impression.

Ricci involkes a lovely silken tone from his violin but it is not a notably broad or powerful tone and there were many occasions when the orchestra's strength overwhelmed him.

Nevertheless his brilliance and artistry and the authority of his performance were manifest and brought him an ovation from the Royal's near capacity audience.

He responded with unaccompanied, lively and humorous variations on the tune of God Save the Queen.

Gati's interpretation contained some intriguing differences in coloration from what is usually heard and a touch of melodrama leant an occasional alien highlight to the teutonic texture.

In general the effect of this performance was quite breathtakingly impressive. The security of attack and intonation and clear warm tone of the horns at the opening and the spirited dialogue between horns and trumpets and trombones in the third movement were a constant delight.

Majestic climaxes that are developed in this music were well conceived and performed with genuine bravura.

All too brief was the opening number on the program — Canadian composer Pierre Mercure's Pantomime for Wind Instruments and Percussion.

This work provides a poetic insight into the character and textural qualities of woodwind and brass and the rhythmic individuality within the percussions group.

It was played by Gati and these sections of the orchestra imaginatively and with sensitive coloration and phrasing.

The concert will be repeated tonight at 8:30.

CREWMAN AIRLIFTED

A crew member from the weather ship Vancouver was airlifted by an armed forces helicopter from CFB Comox late Saturday afternoon and taken to Victoria General Hospital.

A Pacific Rescue Co-ordination Centre spokesman said today J. W. Pegg of 3155 Mars, an oiler, was suffering from chest pains at 11:45 a.m.

The ship, 75 miles out in the Pacific on her way to relieve the Quadra on Station Papa, radioed for help, thinking that Pegg might have suffered a heart attack. Pegg was airlifted at 3 p.m.

A hospital spokesman said Pegg was given tests and later released. He did not suffer a heart attack.

FLU-CLOSED SCHOOLS RE-OPEN

DIDSBURY (CP) — Two schools in this southern Alberta community, closed Friday when more than 200 of 830 students came down with a flu-like illness, re-opened today.

Dr. John O'Gorman, medical health officer in the area 40 miles north of Calgary, ordered the schools closed to provide a three-day period in which it was hoped to halt the spread of infection.

"Most of the kids seem to be having flu-like symtoms — sore throats, high fevers and bad coughs," Dr. O'Gorman said in a Sunday interview.

Two Cons Still Sitting In

THUNDER BAY (CP) — Police Chief Onni Harty confirmed today that two of the eight prisoners who barricaded themselves in the Thunder Bay Jail last Thursday night are still occupying a top-floor cell block and are preventing jail officials from entering the area.

Chief Harty said the two prisoners, who are aged 35 and 31 and whose names have not been released, have jammed the locks on the cells in cell block seven, an area measuring 58 feet by 18 feet.

Jail superintendent C. M. Gillespie said the two men are "not under punishment" and are still being fed. However, he said jail officials" would soon be going in there."

1976 Mercury Monarch

The beautifully trim Monarch gives you a fine combination of size, comfort, luxury, efficient operating economy and the famous Mercury ride.

Monarch combines fine engineering features with classic styling in a precision size. It's a beautiful expression of Mercury design and comfort, tuned precisely to today's tastes and lifestyle.

The 1976 Mercury Monarch has the great combination going for it. Ride, styling, luxury, comfort and fuel economy. It just may be the perfect combination for you, your family, and your lifestyle. And there's pride to owning a new Monarch. You know that you've got a car that's precisely right for you.

Monarch is beautifully trim overall and provides plenty of comfort and room for five adults without cramping anyone's style. It has been tastefully appointed with a wide selection of standard and optional interior trims including soft velours and fine leathers on some models. If you like your luxury with a touch of elegance then you'll love the 1976 Monarch.

Monarch has a high level of standard value. Even the lowest-priced Monarch offers an economical 250 CID 6 cylinder engine, solid-state ignition, high level ventilation, front disc brakes, steel-belted radial tires, foot-operated parking brake, steering column mounted windshield wiper/washer control, and full wheel covers—all at no extra cost.

SSHHH listen to the ride.

Monarch has Mercury's reputation for a very quiet and smooth ride. And for 1976, it's been made even quieter with a number of design improvements, including softer front stabilizer bar bushings, thicker front spring insulators, revised engine mounts and an increase in the use of sound-absorbing materials. The result is an outstanding degree of smoothness and isolation from road noise.

There's a Mercury dealer near you who will be pleased to show you the Monarch and Monarch Ghia 2- and 4-door models, and the 4-door Grand Monarch Ghia. And the trim-size Monarch offers a big car selection of options, like automatic speed control, bucket seats, console, digital clock, moonroof, sunroof, tilt steering wheel, vinyl roof, tinted glass, air conditioning, AM/FM Stereo radio with tape player and much more.

In the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) tests of 1976 cars, Ford Motor Company cars had the highest sales-weighted average city/highway mileage.

1976 Monarch performs with excellent fuel economy... up to 29 miles per Imperial gallon highway, 22 MPG city, in U.S. EPA estimates, with the standard 250 CID engine and manual transmission. While EPA figures are useful for comparative purposes, they may not be duplicated in actual driving.

See your Mercury dealer and ask him about his quality-engineered, smooth riding Monarchs. And take the solid, durable Monarch for a test drive today.

Wall St. Begins A New Upswing

The market backed away from its headlong decline of last week at New York, apparently having absorbed the brunt of investor worries over the economic recovery.

The closely watched Dow fell 41.87 to 8118.80 last week, its biggest weekly drop in a year. Analysts pegged the slump to investor concern that the economic recovery was faltering and on the chance that interest rates may soon turn higher.

At mid-day, as the market began its upturn, Sen. James B. Allen who led opponents of the bill providing $2.3 billion in loans for New York City, said he would no longer seek to delay the measure and predicted its passage by Thursday.

Although issues declining in price on the New York Stock Exchange held a slight lead over those advancing, the exchange's composite index moved ahead 0.15 to 45.99 by 2 p.m.

Toronto

Prices in all major sectors at Toronto moved sharply lower in slow, mid-afternoon trading, extending last week's steep decline

Falconbridge Nickel, which said the anti-inflation board has approved a 17 per cent wage increase for employees at the company's mind in Sudbury, Ont., fell ⅝ to $28⅞.

Inco A lost ½ to $24⅝, Texasgulf ½ to $28½, Canadian Imperial Bank ⅝ to $25½, Price Co. ⅜ to $13½ and Husky Oil ⅝ to $17½.

Nu-West Development B gained ¾ to $12, Dofasco A ½ to $23, and Steinberg's A ¼ to $18.

Among mines, Western dropped 60 cents to $2.65, Preston ¼ to $13¼ and Pan Central Explorations 19 cents to 91 cents, Roman Corp. rose ⅜ to $12⅞ and Dension ¼ to $53½.

Montreal

Prices were lower in moderate trading at Montreal.

Volume at 2:30 p.m. was 254,500 shares compared with 437,200 shares traded up to the same time Friday.

Interprovincial Pipeline fell ¼ to $12, Imperial Oil A ⅛ to $23½, Atco A ⅛ to $12½, Noranda A ⅜ to $29¼, Abitibi Paper ⅛ to $8⅝ and Domtar ½ to $17¾. Massey-Ferguson rose ⅛ to $18

DRAPEAU 'HAPPY'

MONTREAL (CP) — Mayor Jean Drapeau repeated Sunday that he was grateful for the provincial government takeover of responsibility for contruction of some Olympic facilities.

Speaking on radio station CFCF, Drapeau said Quebec should "be thanked for the dynamic decision they took" in deciding to step into construction of the 1976 Summer Games facilities.

"The situation had reached a stage where a body more powerful than the city had to take over. Without that government decision, the Games would have been a failure."

Ethnic Support Goes On

HAMILTON (CP) — John Munro, federal minister of labor, said Sunday that a shift in emphasis in the government's program on multiculturalism will not result in decreased assistance to established ethnic groups.

Munro said in a speech to an Italian-Canadian association that unnecessary fears surfaced among ethnic groups following the announcement of a federal proposal to place more emphasis on fighting discrimination.

Disregarding a prepared speech, Munro said the program on multiculturalism has been criticized as a government handout to keep ethnic groups happy while policies on bilingualism and biculturalism were being established.

He said the policy change will actually make more money available to ethnic groups through multicultural programs within such organizations as the CBC, the National Film Board and the Canadian Radio-Television Commission.

However, the minister suggested that less money be allotted to folklore projects within ethnic communities.

He said ethnic leaders have told him that money spent on folklore projects such as dance groups might be wasted because the communities are able to fund those activities themselves.

TV Given Test Run In House of Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — The glare of television lights was reflected off the polished wood desks in the House of Commons Saturday afternoon as technicians checked camera positions in that may be a prelude to full-scale TV coverage of day-to-day parliamentary proceedings.

The experiment involved testing a light-weight German camera in positions around the chamber, said Bob Anderson, a TV producer hired by the government to study the feasibility of televised debates.

Alistair Fraser, clerk of the Commons, emphasized that Saturday's experiment was just that, and no final decision has been taken.

The government presented a notice last June asking Commons approval in principle of radio and television coverage, but debate on the motion is not expected until early next year.

Currently, cameras are only allowed to film the opening Parliament in the Senate, although some experimental televising of Senate committee proceedings has taken place.

Anderson, under contract to the office of Privy Council President Mitchell Sharp, said the current plan will allay the concerns of MPs who are worried about the effects of daily television coverage on Commons debate.

"These members have some very unreal fears," he said in an interview.

"There's no intrusion into the chamber at all nor would there be any cables seen," Anderson said.

The camera would tilt, pan and zoom by remote control from a room outside the Commons. The cameras themselves would be located in the corners of the chamber and only the lenses would be visible.

Anderson said the possibilities are almost limitless for use of film from the Commons and it would not be simply for the use of television networks for the news.

Smoking Banned

NEWQUAY, England (CP) — Mrs. Saxton, 49, of Newquay in Cornwall is a strict disciplinarian when it comes to non-smoking. She will not allow anyone who smokes into her six-roomed guest house. Also no smoking is allowed in the rooms. She said she and her husband used to smoke 30 cigarettes a day until he became ill. She adds that introduction of the smoking ban has not affected her business.

Saanich Building Doubles

The value of building permits issued in Saanich for the first 10 months of this year is more than double the same period in 1974.

This year 1,208 permits were issued for a total value of $50,490,500, compared to last year's 1,116 permits, valued at $22,326,850.

The number of homes, including duplexes, has also risen for the same period — 685 at a total value of $23,590,100, compared to 1974's 472 buildings, totalling $14,023,500.

The largest project for which a building permit was taken out in October was Cleeve Wood Estates' $700,000 55-unit apartment at 1002 McKenzie.

Other projects started with a value of $50,000 or more are a $98,750 home at 5483 Old West Saanich Road, an $87,000 home at 4704 Hillwood, a $57,100 home at 4054 Hare and a $50,000 barn at 4520 Viaduct.

A total of 136 permits was taken out in October with a total value of $3,345,398, including 67 single-family homes or duplexes.

In October of 1974 permits for 43 homes were issued out of a total 112, valued at $1,475,300. Total value of all permits that month was $3,126,051.

Judge Bars Tots From Nudist Camp

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — A judge has ruled that a woman must leave her two young daughters home when she and her husband visit a nudist camp.

"I'm sure this is laden with all kinds of constitutional implications," Superior Court Judge Cameron Hopkins of Yakima County said about his decision.

It was not known whether there will be an appeal. Names were not released because the children are minors.

Judge Hopkins ordered the woman not to take her daughters, aged nine and 13, to the nudist camp until they are mature enough to decide for themselves whether they want to go.

The girls' father, divorced from their mother since 1967, had petitioned the court to prohibit his ex-wife from taking his daughters to the nudist camp. The woman has legal custody of the children. Both parents have remarried.

"I hate it," the girls' father said about nudism. "It's as indecent as can be. Its absolutely wrong. I don't like the idea of my little girls exposing themselves to other adults."

The woman said her current husband encouraged her to become a nudist shortly after they married in 1973. She said the entire family goes to the nudist park whenever possible.

ONE-YEAR STUDY OF WELL FLOW

A year-long study of the effects of two wells drilled on the site of the Pat Bay Institute of Ocean Sciences will be undertaken before any construction on the planned adjacent complex is started.

The institute itself is still being constructed on schedule, but project manager Norman Todd said the construction of the planned facilities for private researchers will be held up until the study is completed.

The study will show whether the wells have any effect on the water supplies of local residents who live near the West Saanich Road site.

The 14-acre centre, to be built on a 40-acre site across West Saanich Road from the institute itself, was to enable about 10 marine research-related companies to work with and benefit from the government's scientific research.

North Saanich residents, plagued by short water supplies for years, expressed the fear at the public meeting earlier this year that the wells for the private complex would affect their own.

Todd said there are also problems because the land for the private complex lies within the agricultural land reserve.

The federal government owns the land and does have the right to bypass the reserve restrictions, but Todd said the federal group involved in the institute are "environmentalists and concerned about the land and so we will study the situation in detail before deciding whether to proceed."

The institute itself, combining extensive research and wharf facilities, is on schedule and expected to be completed by 1977.

CPU Voting on Contract

VANCOUVER (CP) — Members of the Canadian Paperworkers Union will vote during the next two weeks on a contract offer from the industry.

The 7,200 workers, forced back to their jobs by government legislation in early October after a strike which began July 15, will not, however receive a recommendation from their executive on how to vote for the settlement.

Art Gruntman, CPU western region vice-president, said Saturday the tentative contract is the final offer from the industry and "we then have no alternative but to take it to the membership."

Gruntman said he doesn't like the agreement, but said it is an improvement from past offers from the industry.

Details of the agreement were not released.

The Pulp, Paper and Woodworkers of Canada, which also went on strike in B.C. on July 15, have yet to work out an agreement.

Contracts for the 13,000 pulp workers expired June 30.

A special mediation report by Mr. Justice H. E. Hutcheon of the B.C. Supreme Court recommended in August that the pulp unions and the International Woodworkers of America receive increases of $1.55 an hour over two years.

A cost-of-living-adjustment clause, worth 24 cents an hour when the contracts expired, was to be folded into the base rate of $5.10 an hour.

The 35,000 IWA members have since settled for an increase of $1.67 an hour in a two-year contract on the base rate of $5.10 an hour, plus the folded-in cost-of-living cause.

MONOXIDE CLAIMS SIX

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP) — Six versons died of carbon monoxide poisoning in a house trailer here Saturday.

RCMP found five persons dead and two more unconscious in the house trailer. The two were rushed to hospital and one died Sunday afternoon. The other person was in satisfactory condition. No names have been released.

A police spokesman said carbon monoxide poisoning from a faulty furnace is suspected as the cause of death.

Legal Fee Credit Cards?

VANCOUVER (CP) — If three chartered banks in British Columbia agree, lawyers could be using credit cards to collect fees from clients by 1976.

Peter Manson, past chairman of the B.C. branch of the Canadian Bar Association, told a meeting Saturday that the bar and the B.C. Law Society have been working on the proposal for about a year.

Nanaimo lawyer Don Cunliffe, who initiated the idea, said in a telephone interview that a credit card system would help middle income clients pay fees.

Lawyers could erase much of their high overhead caused by long-overdue bills and by a "high bad debt rate—up to 30 per cent in some cases," he said.

"Lawyers are the last ones to be paid, contary to popular belief," Cunliffe said.

Exam Picket Line

VANCOUVER (CP) — Striking members of the Association of University and College Employees Union voted Sunday night to reject the latest offer from the University of British Columbia on the issue of job classification.

The vote means students will face picket lines today as they start to write Christmas examinations. The 1,200-member union has been on strike since Wednesday.

Nancy Wiggs, union vice-president, said the membership also voted to continue the strike indefinitely and also criticized administration vice-president Chuck Connaghan for trying "to split our union."

"I'm very disappointed this offer was turned down," Connaghan said. "It's very unfortunate."

The university administration has announced exams will go ahead as scheduled, but students will not be penalized if they refuse to cross picket lines.

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — John Aarons, 18, of North Vancouver has been arrested and charged by West Vancouver police in connection with an act of vandalism by bulldozer in Cypress Provincial Park.

The charge stems from an estimated $33,000 damage done by bulldozing a parks branch building in Cypress Bowl on Nov. 19. Aarons is scheduled to appear in West Vancouver provincial court on Jan. 15.

PORT MOODY (CP) — A smoldering cigarette is believed responsible for starting a mattress fire that spread to heavily damage a three-storey frame apartment block Sunday. About 100 residents of the building were evacuated and 30 were left homeless because of damage to six top floor suites and 13 suites on the second floor.

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — A fire early Saturday raced through the Fort George museum in the city's Fort George Park, destroying the structure and all the city's major historical artifacts.

No damage estimates were available.

The blaze started in the caretaker's quarters and quickly spread to the rest of the building. Firemen were hampered in their efforts to save the museum by four-foot snow drifts across the road leading to it.

Officials said the fire was caused accidentally, but its exact origin was unknown.

No injuries were reported.

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP) — An independent union won a certification vote Friday to determine representation of about 400 workers at the Gibraltar copper mine.

The miners voted 238 to 111 in favor of joining the Canadian Association of Industrial, Mechanical and Allied Workers (CAIMAW) and dropping their current union, the United Steelworkers of America.

CMHC Interest Rate Hiked

OTTAWA (CP) — Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. (CMHC) announced Friday it will increase the interest rate on direct loans it makes to home buyers in remote areas.

The increase to 11¾ per cent from 11 per cent comes at a time when banks and trust companies are lowering the conventional mortgage rate to 11¾ per cent from 12 per cent.

The change affects loans to people who have adequate incomes to buy homes but are not served by regular banks, trust companies, credit unions and similar institutions.

A CMHC official said this rate usually is set close to that charged by private lenders. The rate was raised to 11 per cent from 10 per cent in July.

The change does not affect loans under other programs such as assisted home ownership, non-profit and co-operative housing and subsidized rental plan.

School Survival Skills

OTTAWA (CP) — Teenagers unable to cope with the rigors of school routine will soon have special classrooms where they can get angry and blow off steam without being expelled by an overworked and irate teacher.

It is hoped that the classes, to be located in two Ottawa-area secondary schools, will be ready by the end of November.

The classrooms are not intended to be a dumping ground for "problem teenagers," said one of the project's organizers, Bill Rowberry of Ottawa's youth services bureau.

Instead they are part of a program helping teen-agers learn to play by the rules and stay in school.

Said Rowberry :"Some of these kids have been blowing it for three years. They have built up a partly deserved reputation of being troublemakers and sometimes the teachers kick a kid out of class because there are still 30 other students to contend with.

"Most of these kids need a little confidence and now they will be able to turn to the special classroom teacher and worker and blow off steam."

The teachers and the youth services bureau workers will be putting academic matters on the shelf and talking to the teen-agers about their problems. Rowberry calls it teaching "school survival skills."

These are skills needed to get along with teachers and other students, he said.

The special program is funded partly by the provincial ministry of education and the bureau and is an attempt to help trouble-ridden students while they are away from the shelter of the bureau's two residences.

'Zonians' Fighting Handover

BALBOA HEIGHTS, Panama Canal Zone (Reuter) — The Americans who live in the U.S.-controlled Panama Canal Zone are fighting a political handover to Panama.

They fear this would expose their families to danger or mean exile to the U.S., now unfamiliar to many of them.

Douglas Schmidt, a 38-year-old Canal Zone government administrator, has spent most of his life in this 550-square-mile enclave and now leads one of the civic groups campaigning against negotiations under way with Panama on relinquishment of American control.

"I was born and raised here in the zone," he said. "I do not want to give up everything which I have invested in my life here and in my family's future."

He said the biggest grievance among the 10,000 American civilian workers and their dependents was that the U.S. government had announced no plans so far for their future.

He believes that although Panamanian officials have spoken of a 25-year handover period, most of the Americans will be out of a job soon after a new canal treaty is signed.

The other major anxiety of the American residents is the Panamanian National Guard, which would take over the policing of the zone three years after a treaty.

"As soon as the Guardia come round the corner of our street, my children and I are leaving this place for good," one young American wife said.

The American residents are collectively known among outsiders here as the Zonians, a name which they have come to dislike.

The word is taboo here because it carries overtones of the old colonial stereotypes: under-employed and overpaid foreigners living in huge mansions with flocks of servants and neatly-tended gardens.

BACKYARD ARK

TORONTO (CP) — Ainmals won't be the passengers in what is termed an updated version of Noah's Ark, says Roy Brown, who has been constructing a 45-foot motor vessel in his Toronto back yard for seven years.

Sir Noah is the name given to the vessel by Brown's colleagues who work for him at the Scarborough fire department.

Brown said he hasn't had to face ridicule from his neighbors during the construction of the 24-ton project as Noah did. "They've been really terrific and always willing to help out."

He is planning completion for early spring launching and said he will need a large crane to lift the boat onto a float or trailer to take it to Toronto Harbor.

Although it is the largest project he has tackled, he built a smaller boat several years ago and rebuilt his house. Whatever carpentry, electrical or plumbing knowledge he lacks, he learns from books or experts in the field.

"You can educate yourself to do anything if you put your mind to it," he said.

Brown, who works an average 20 hours a week on the boat, said he spends a lot of time scrounging around junkyards and searching for good buys in material and equipment.

The Margroy, named after his wife Margaret and himself, will cost about $17,000 and to buy one of comparable size and quality would cost about $160,000 Brown said.

Howe Ruling Today

Times New Services

The elbows Gordie Howe used for 29 years to give himself skating room have him on the carpet today.

Howe, who won a reputation as one of hockey's most hard-nosed players, finds out today how long the first suspension of his long professional career will last.

Ben Hatskin, chief executive officer of the World Hockey Association, is to rule here today on the cases of Howe, who is right winger and president of Houston Aeros, and Houston goalie Ron Grahame.

Howe and Grahame were thrown out of a Friday night game at Houston between the Aeros and Winnipeg Jets after separate incidents involving referee Ron Asselstine.

The league office announced Saturday the two players had been suspended and called Asselstine, who had been scheduled to handle a Saturday night game in Phoenix between the Aeros and Roadrunners, back to Toronto.

The 47-year-old Howe admitted Saturday night in Phoenix that he had elbowed Asselstine during a dispute over a minor penaltty.

"Among other things, I rumbled at the referee," said Howe. "One time I did give him an elbow, and you shouldn't do that to an official."

Asselstine left the ice for 15 minutes after an angry Houston crowd booed his ejection of Howe and only completed the game after meeting with Aeros coach Bill Dineen and coach Bobby Kromm of Winnipeg Jets. After the game, the referee said he was quitting.

Hatskin said in a radio interview Sunday night in Winnipeg he would make his ruling on the two suspensions today after reviewing the referee's report and checking a videotape of the incidents.

Pop Was Right

By The Canadian Press

Goalie Pete LoPresti of Minnesota North Stars figured he was lucky just to be alive.

"My father told me there'd be nights like this, but I wouldn't believe him," LoPresti said after facing 48 shots in a 6-11 loss to Philadelphia Flyers in their National Hockey League game.

"I'm still alive," said LoPresti, sounding surprised at that. "They seem to have three or four guys around the net all the time."

The elder LoPresti, Sam, could have told his son about surviving under fire. Playing for Chicago Black Hawks, he stopped 80 shots in a 3-2 loss to Boston Bruins in a 1941 game.

Reggie Leach scored twice for the Flyers, who were rebounding from Saturday night's surprising 7-2 loss to St. Louis Blues. Gary Dornhoefer, Joe Watson, Bill Barber and Don Saleski had the other Philadelphia goals.

In Sunday's other games, Pittsburgh Penguins dropped Toronto Maple Leafs 6-3, New York Rangers trimmed Washington Capitals 5-2, New York Islanders blanked Buffalo Sabres 3-0, Atlanta Flames stopped Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 and Montreal Canadiens tied Boston Bruins 2-2.

In other games Saturday, Buffalo topped the Islanders 4-2, Boston defeated Toronto 4-2, Montreal crushed Washington 9-3, Minnesota blanked Kansas City Scouts 4-0 and Los Angeles Kings shaded Detroit Red Wings 3-2.

The Flyers scored three times in the first 11 minutes to run their unbeaten home streak to nine games and extend Minnesota's losing streak at the Spectrum to 12 games.

Pittsburgh centre Pierre Larouche scored two goals on breakaways and assisted on two others as the Penguins built a 6-0 lead against the Leafs by the halfway mark in the game. Jean Pronovist also had a pair of goals for Pittsburgh.

"Our defence was just letting them walk in," said Toronto coach Red Kelly. "We couldn't stop them. I thought they were trying to see how many breakaways we could give them."

Washington coach Milt Schmidt blamed referee Ron Wicks for the Capitals' loss at New York, criticizing a holding call against centre Tom Williams.

"I might get fined for this," said Schmidt. "But in my estimation, we were going along fine in the third period until a lousy call against Williams decided the whole thing."

About a minute after Williams' penalty, the Capitals Bill Clement drew a hooking penalty. Before Washington returned to full strength, goals by Jerry Holland and Gilles Marotte had broken a 2-2 tie.

Clark Gillies scored two goals for the Islanders against the slumping Sabres. Goalie Glenn Resch registered his third shutout, stopping 22 shots, but wouldn't take any of the credit.

"This was like a pitcher getting a no-hitter without striking anybody out," he said. "The other guys did all the work."

Goals by Tom Lysiak and Curt Bennett and the shutout goaltending of Dan Bouchard enabled the Flames to hand the Hawks their second loss in a row after six successive ties.

Guy Lafleur's 50-foot slap shot in the third period gave Montreal the tie after goalie Ken Dryden kept the Canadiens in the game by making 34 saves.

No Violence, Just Tough

By ERNIE FEDORUK
Times Staff

Violence in hockey is a popular topic these days. It was virtually ignored by Victoria Cougars and Edmonton Oil Kings but the Western Canada Hockey League teams moved into Memorial Arena on Saturday to point out the difference between violence and tough, hard-hitting hockey.

The Cougars won the entertaining encounter, 3-2. It could have just as easily wound up in Edmonton's favor.

There wasn't much difference between two teams playing a similar, hard-hitting style. Both skated well and both were served extremely well by their goaltenders.

On Saturday, Victoria defencemen tilted the scales in Cougars' favor. Cougar rearguards scored two of their team's three goals and provided goalie Murray Bannerman with excellent protection. Tim Williams and Don Johnson fired Victoria's first two goals before forward Jeff McDill supplied the winner on a power play. Lorry Gloeckner was the standout on a defence that played well.

Wayne Babych and Barry Brown scored for Edmonton, always dangerous but thwarted by Bannerman almost as often as 17-year-old Tim Tomlinson blocked Victoria's other scoring opportunities.

All in all, an even match.

Even the checking and hitting was on an equal level. Victoria coach Pat Ginnell, after praising Cougars' "good team effort," felt Edmonton's bodywork "was as good as we've faced all season."

"Certainly no one has hit us harder than Edmonton did," said Ginnell.

It was accomplished with a minimum amount of mayhem and "cheap shots" that lead to violence.

Granted, there were two fights. The fistic outbursts were broken up quickly.

LORRY GLOECKNER

as the result of infractions that preceded the fights. Paradise called only four other minors and generally permitted both teams to skate, which they did, and to check.

Cougar captain Jim Gustafson drew an assist on McDill's goal to run his record consecutive-game scoring streak to 27. McDill also has launched a streak and now has managed a point in each of his last 12 games.

Cougars leave Wednesday for a five-game road trip. Ginnell said new defenceman Grant Shmyr will accompany the team.

Shmyr played well in his second game with the Cougars and was given plenty of ice time. He is allowed one more trial game before Ginnell must decide to keep him on a permanent basis or return him to Richmond of the Pacific Coast Junior League.

Edmonton's skating and checking touch seemed to be neglected Sunday as the Oil Kings absorbed a 12-3 beating at the hands of the Bruins in New Westminster. Mark Lofthouse scored four goals to pace Bruins.

In other games, rookie Keith Hertx continued to produce for Regina as the Pats clubbed Winnipeg 6-1, Medicine Hat edged Lethbridge 5-4, Calgary defeated Flin Flon Bombers 7-5 and Brandon Wheat Kings rallied to defeat Saskatoon Blades 5-4.

Winnipeg, struggling through a slump that has dropped the Clubs from first to fourth place in the Eastern Division, obtained right winger Rick Dorman from Fin Flon. The deal announced Sunday will send forward Dale Allen to Flin Flon, which also has acquired WCHL rights to Tom Legge, now playing in the tier two Manitoba League.

The host Scorpions, erupting with one of their best offensive displays of the season, overwhelmed Vancouver All-Stars 121-83 to claim consolation honors in windup action Sunday at Central Junior High.

Diminutive Garry Budd, who had a brief trial with Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association, sparked the Realtors with 55 points in the two games, including 30 Sunday.

Budd was voted the most valuable player of the tournament.

Clubmate Greg Williams, who scored 28 points Sunday, was named to the all-star team along with two Renton players and two from Victoria. Len Kemp and popular George Carter of Renton were named all-stars along with Victoria's Bob Burrows and Brian McKenzie.

Burrows topped tournament scorers with 32 points in each game. MacKenzie contributed 26 points Saturday but only 12 Sunday as coach Howard Tooby used his bench liberally in the walkover against Vancouver.

Kemp scored 25 points and Carter added 20 for Renton, which tired noticeably in the final four minutes of play.

Scorpions, who return to Dogwood Senior League action against North Shore Mountaineers next weekend, played without Dave Mulcahy. The six-foot-seven forward injured his ankle last week but is expected to play in next weekend's two-game series at Oak Bay High.

Napoles Loses Crown

Stracey opened a cut above Napoles' right eye in the second round, continued to work on it with left jabs and then finished off the Cuban-born champion with a flurry of lefts and rights with 30 seconds to go in the sixth round.

The 26-year-old British fighter had been given little chance to beat Napoles, 35. The Mexican had held the title twice over the last six years for all but a period of about six months.

SELECTED as coach of the year by Canadian Amateur Softball Association is Joe Patterson, who guided Victoria Bates to national senior men's championship in 1975. Patterson will also direct Bates in world tournament next month in New Zealand.

DAGG NABBED IT

A Victoria Curling Club foursome skipped by Keith Dagg defeated Playland's Dave Wilson 7-6 Sunday to win top honors in the ninth annual men's bonspiel at Playland.

The Dagg rink, tied 6-6 playing the final end, scored the winning point despite having last rock against them.

Dagg was supported by third Gary Liebel, second John Balloch and lead Corky Davies.

Rinks from the Racquet Club, Duncan and Playland collected the main prizes in other events.

Ron Young's Racquet Club foursome defeated Glen Farrell of Playland to take "B" event; Duncan's Gary Merrett captured "C" event and Dick Latta of Playland won "D" event.

The victory was Dagg's second in the Playland 'spiel. He previously skipped a rink to victory in 1971.

Third-String QB Has A First-Class Debut

By The Associated Press

For a third-string quarterback starting his first National Football League game, Don Strock was a pillar of strength.

"It's not my nature to be nervous," Strock said after passing for two touchdowns and running for one to lead Miami Dolphins to a 31-21 victory Sunday over Buffalo Bills.

"I wasn't scared," said Strock. "I slept like a log last night, but I probably won't sleep tonight."

In Sunday's other games, Baltimore Colts beat New York Giants 21-0, St. Louis Cardinals downed Dallas Cowboys 31-17, Washington Redskins defeated Atlanta Falcons 30-27, Pittsburgh Steelers topped Cleveland Browns 31-17, Cincinnati Bengals shut out Philadelphia Eagles 31-0, San Diego Chargers upset Kansas City Chiefs 28-20, Minnesota Vikings downed Green Bay Packers 24-3, Los Angeles Rams beat New Orleans Saints 14-7, Houston Oilers defeated San Francisco '49ers 27-13, New York Jets edged New England Patriots 30-28 and Chicago Bears defeated Detroit Lions 25-21.

Strock, a six-foot-five, 200-pounder who had warmed Miami's bench since coming out of Virginia Tech as the collegiate passing champion in the United States in 1972, went from No. 3 to No. 1 in a hurry when Bob Griese and Earl Morrall were hobbled by injuries in successive weeks.

The Bills charged back in the second half. O.J. Simpson scored twice on a 14-yard run and a 62-yard pass from Joe Ferguson, who also hit J.D. Hill with a 31-yard TD pass.

Jim Hart threw three touchdowns in the St. Louis victory over Dallas that restored the Cardinals' sole possession of first place in the National Conference East.

Washington seemed headed for overtime when Atlanta's Nick Mike-Mayer kicked a 44-yard field goal with 61 seconds to play, tying the game at 27-27.

But Billy Kilmer, who had thrown three touchdown passes earlier, marched Washington up the field and Mark Moseley booted a 39-yard field goal with five seconds to play.

Joe Namath picked apart New Engand's defence, hit yards and John Riggins ran for 154 yards and two touchdowns as the Jets snapped an eight-game losing streak.

Blues Get Most Out of Sawoff

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Blues enjoyed a split of Saturday's Big Six Hockey League points more than Lake Cowichan.

Winners of only one game in 17 previous starts, the Blues picked up their third point by playing to a 2-2 tie with the Lakers. The result prevented Lake Cowichan from moving into a third-place tie with Juan de Fuca Canadians.

A-G's Department Studying Hockey Violence

Provincial attorney-general Alex Macdonald says that professional hockey "should clean itself up" and blames "people like Clarence Campbell and big league officials" for outbursts of violence at games.

Macdonald's comments were made Sunday at Kamloops in reply to a question about an incident involving Phil Roberto of Detroit Red Wings and Don Lever of Vancouver Canucks during a National Hockey League game last Wednesday in Vancouver.

Roberto was assessed a match penalty for deliberate attempt to injure after Lever has hit in the throat by a strick.

Campbell, the NHL president, suspended Roberto indefinitely the next day and Macdonald says his department is looking into the affair.

In Kamloops for a political rally, Macdonald said he was not following in the footsteps of Ontario attorney-general Roy McMurtry, who has laid charges in an attempt to curb violence in hockey.

"I'm not too sure in my own mind as to everything he's done," said Macdonald, "but I hope the taxpayers would not have to pay the cost of having policemen as witnesses at hockey games.

"But if we find incidents of this kind repeated, we're going to insist on that."

The attorney-general said that league officials are "too interested in protecting the bucks of franchise owners to have proper internal self-discipline."

Macdonald said his department was investigating the Vancouver incident, although a film of the game had been delivered to Campbell in Montreal and not to his office in Victoria.

He said his department had asked that the film be made available so he can study the incident.

Swimmers from the Lower Mainland grabbed some glory in a pair of American invitational meets, breaking two Canadian records and equalling one national mark. Shannon Smith of New Westminster set a short-course record of 16:42.97 in the women's 1,650-yard freestyle at Seattle and Michael Ker of Vancouver snapped the men's mark for the same event at Palo Alto, Calif., with a clocking of 15:59.80. George Nagy, Vancouver, tied a Canadian standard at Palo Alto with a time of 1:53.20 in the 200-yard butterfly ... Vasili Alexeyev of the Soviet Union made his last effort a memorable one Sunday night in an international weightlifting competition at Montreal, regaining a world record taken from him last week by East Germany's Christoph Bonk ... Alexeyev hoisted 545.6 pounds in the jerk, topping Bonk's mark by just over two pounds ... Meeting in Pakistan Sunday, executive directors of the Asian Games failed to find a host for the 1978 Asian Games as they attempted to fill a vacancy created when Pakistan bowed out last May because of economic conditions.

Attendance figures for the National Hockey League's first two months of the current season are slightly lower than those of a year ago, but gate receipts have increased because of a 51-cent boost on each ticket sold ... Average attendance for the first 215 games of the schedule was 12,700, a decrease of 433 per game from last season ... Professional baseball enjoyed a climb in attendance last season when about 43 million fans — the largest number since 1971 — attended games ... the total of 42,984,376 included 11,607,190 spectators at minor league games and 1,002,739 for major league preseason contests.

Two last-place teams have swung the first deal of major league baseball's winter meetings ... In a seven-player deal with Houston Astros, Detroit Tigers have acquired pitcher Dave Roberts, 31, catcher Milt May, 25, and relief pitcher Jim Crawford, 25, in exchange for outfields Leon Roberts, 24, catcher Terry Humphrey, 26, and pitchers Mark Lemongello, 20, and Gene Pentz, 22.

Shuttle Seeds Bloom

The seeding committee of the Racquet Club's badminton section seems to know its business.

That's how it turned out. Top-seeded Bruce Rollick defeated Mike Epstein in Sunday's final. The second-seeded Epstein easily disposed of Taylor in Saturday's semi-finals.

Taylor, Ireland's closed champion in 1974 and 1975, previously won tournaments in Kamloops and Vancouver but still was seeded third by the Racquet Club committee.

Taylor now lives in Vancouver.

The women's "A" singles championship went to Vancouver's Jane Youngberg, who defeated Sherri Boyse of Calgary. The singles finalists then teamed up to capture the women's doubles by defeating Mimi Nilsson and Judy Rollick of Vancouver.

Results:

Ladies' singles — Jane Youngberg (Van) def. Sheri Boyse (Calgary).

Men's doubles — Geoff Harris (Courtenay) and Greg Harris (Van) def. John Taylor and Conley (Van).

Saanich Midgets Prevail

COMOX — Garry Slezak fired two of his three goals during overtime Sunday to give Saanich a 7-4 decision over Comox and a victory in the two-game, total-goal Vancouver Island playoff in the Wrigley midget hockey competition.

Comox and Saanich tied 3-3 in the first game Saturday.

On Sunday, the two teams fought to 1-1, 2-2 and 4-4 deadlocks before going into the 10-minute overtime session. Slezak scored the tying goal at 15:52 of the third period.

David Prince scored the other overtime tally while singles were scored in regulation time by Wayne Himmelman, Robert Clavette and Ed Beachemin. Stu Winchester (2), Stu Robertson and Alex Kelly replied for Comox.

Brent McKnight scored the tying goal for Comox on Saturday with 14 seconds remaining and the other goals went to Bruce Tuck and Bary Knight.

Slezak, Jackie Wallis and John Brown connected for Saanich, which now plays host to a team from the Mainland in the two-game, total-goal Pacific Coast final this weekend for the right to enter provincial finals Dec. 20 and 21 in Kimberley. The Canadian final is Feb. 1 in Calgary.

Wings Aid Braves

Saanich Braves, with a little help from Victoria Ray's Red Wings, expanded their lead in the South Island Junior "B" Hockey League to 10 points Sunday at Juan de Fuca Arena.

Ron Vincent led Saanich marksmen with two goals and singles were fired by Jim Story, Rob Coldwell, Brent Patterson, Tom King, Wayne Larsen and Bill Adkin. Steve Saunders, John Leroux and Tom Wilson replied for Gulls.

Norm Allen fired three goals to pace the Wings while Larry Hansen added two and singles came from Stan Alstad and Steve Letham. Gord Brooks and Murray Allen connected for Esquimalt.

Scoring for Lake Cowichan were Dale Debott, Mark Coulombe, Brian Lundberg, Scott Morrow, Shindy Kalar and Mike Forrest. Gene Wrigglesworth led Flyers wjth two goals and singles were chipped in by Tracy Sherwood, Terry Ellison and Grant Easterbrook.

Boxing Club Maroons Both Joyful and Sad

London Boxing Club Maroons f the Vancouver Island Soccer League's third division had distinct reasons for feeling both joy and sadness Sunday.

While players in the club were elated at posting a 3-1 victory over Gillespie Electric of the second division in one of five second-round Jackson Cup matches played that day, they were less than happy to lose the services of Jim Utterson for the remainder of the season.

In other Jackson Cup play, Courtenay topped Oak Bay "A" of the third division by default, Prospect Lake of the second division blanked London Boxing Club Whites of the third 8-0, UVic Norsemen tripped Da Vinci 2-0 in a tussle between second division clubs and Vantreights of the fourth division fought to a 1-1 deadlock with Victoria West of the second division in a match called because of darkness.

The tied match will be concluded at a later date and all 10 teams from the premier division will compete in the third round when it is played sometime in February.

In premier division play at the weekend, London Boxing Club extended its unbeaten streak to eight games Saturday by blanking Gorge United 8-0 at Royal Athletic Park and Nanaimo City tripped visiting Oak Bay 4-1 on Sunday.

Boxing Club captain George Pakos led the victory with three goals, Bob Bolitho and Dunc McCaig added two each and Dan Hood fired a single.

Rookie Leads Warriors

By The Associated Press

The slender rookie, passed over on the first round of the National Basketball Association draft before being grabbed by Golden State in the second round, has given the Warriors a big lift with his speed, hustle and scoring punch.

Williams came up with one of his best efforts Sunday against Seattle SuperSonics, scoring 27 points in the Warriors' comeback 115-106 victory, their second win in less than 24 hours over the Sonics.

Williams scored 18 of his points in the second half, including 10 in a seven-minute span in which the Warriors turned an eight-point deficit into an eight-point lead.

Rick Barry topped the Warriors with 28 points, while Fred Brown and Slick Watts had 22 each for Seattle.

Canadian Scores Surprise Ski Win

VAL D'ISERE, France (Reuter) — Ken Read of Calgary scored the first-ever Canadian victory in a men's World Cup ski event Sunday when he won the first downhill of the 1975-76 stason.

Adding to the surprise victory were three other Canadians placing in the top 10 after four of the international favorites fell on the icy course.

Dave Irwin of Thunder Bay, Ont., placed fourth, Jim Hunter of Calgary was ninth and Steve Podborski of Toronto placed 10th. David Murray of Abbotsford, B.C., placed 13th.

Read, 20, a native of Ann Arbor, Mich., went off first and got the best of a sparsely-covered run.

Read's winning time for the 10,800-foot run was two minutes 4.97 seconds.

Herbert Plank of Italy finished second in 2:05.58, followed by Bernhard Russi of Switzerland, 2:05:62; Irwin, 2:05.78; Werner Grissmann of Austria, 2:06.23'; Phillipe Roux of Switzerland, 2:06.77; Michael Vleth of West Germany, 2:06.84; Karl Cordin of Austria, 2:07.06; Hunter, 2:07.11, and Podborski, 2:07.28.

Murray's 13th-place time was 2:07.86.

Missing from Sunday's competition was the entire French team and Swiss skiers Roland Colombin and Walter Vesti, both injured in practice runs Saturday.

The French team's absence was a sign of respect for teammate Michael Dujon, 19, who died Saturday in hospital after he suffered a fractured skull in a fall at nearby Tignes where he was making waxing tests.

Colombin fractured two verterbrae in a fall identical to the one which put him out of action all of last season. "I am finished with competition," said Colombin, who would have been sidelined for the entire season.

Hunter places second in the combined with 27.97 points, followed by Irwin, 29.91 and Podborski, 33,40. Murray placed seventh with 48.32.

DRAYTON WINS MARATHON

FUKUOKA, Japan (AP) — Jerome Drayton of Toronto won the 10th annual Fukuoka International Marathon on Sunday with a time of 2:10:8.4.

Drayton, 30, who won the event in 1969, broke up a stride-for-stride duel with Australia's David Chettle in the last 1,500 metres to win by nearly 12 seconds over the 26-mile, 385-yard race.

Hockey Charge Laid

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police say a stick-swinging brawl between hockey players and spectators at London Gardens three weeks ago has resulted in criminal charges being laid against the coach of St. Catharines Black Hawks, two Black Hawk players and three spectators.

The Hawks play in the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series.

Charged with causing a disturbance by fighting are: St. Catharines coach Paul Emms; St. Catharines defenceman Robert Manno and three fans — Marco Schembri of St. Thomas, John Bernaards of Ingersoll and Vernon Brown of London.

Court appearances will be scheduled early in January.

The incident here Nov. 14 started that way but ended with fighting in the stands.

At 5:22 of the third period in a game between St. Catharines and London Knights, play was halted for a skirmish between Andy Whitby of the Black Hawks and London's Brad Marsh. Five-minute fighting penalties were assessed to each player but, before the referee could signal play to resume, fighting broke out in the stands involving first one St. Catharines player, then the entire team and its coach.

Provincial police had to be called in to stop the 20-minute brawl.

One fan was taken to hospital by ambulance and required stitches for a facial cut. Several othes were treated at hospital.

Although the league did not act against any member of the visiting team, it ordered London Gardens to post a $5,000 bond to guarantee adequate police protection at future games.

FAN STABS PLAYER TO DEATH

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli soccer player was stabbed to death by an enraged spectator Saturday when rioting fans stormed the playing field in a match between two Israeli teams.

The player, Mordechai Kind, 24, was a member of the Maccabee Rehovot team.

With Rehobot ahead 1-0 in the second half, a foul was called on a Kfar Gvirol player. Angry Kfar Gvirol fans ran onto the playing field, and one of them stabbed Kind with a kitchen knife, police said.

MILLER LEADS U.S. TO 10-STROKE EDGE

BANGKOK (AP) — Johnny Miller led the United States to a 10-stroke victory in the World Cup golf championship Sunday and won the individual title with a final-round 68, four under par.

Miller finished the 72-hole tournament with a 275 total, 13 under par on the 6,904-yard, par-72 Navatanee course. His partner, Lou Graham, had a final 70—279.

The team total of 554 was 10 strokes ahead of Taiwan, which collapsed after tying the Americans after the second round and being just one shot back after the third. Japan charged into third place at 565. Australia, only two strokes off the pace going into the final round, was fourth with 566, followed by Argentina with 571 and the Philipines with 573.

The Canadian team of Bob Panasiuk, Windsor, Ont., and Bill Tape, Woodbridge, Ont., finished in 22nd place with a 605 total.

The United States, which last won the Cup in 1973 when Miller teamed with Jack Nicklaus, now has won the trophy 13 of the 23 times it has been contested. The team shared a $2,000 top prize and Miller collected $1,000 as individual champion.

Trailing Miller for individual honors at 277 were Ben Arda of the Philippines, Hsieh Min-Nan of Taiwan and Bob Shearer of Australia.

The 1975 World Cup is expected to be played in the United States, but no official announcement has been made.

Miller and Graham wrestled the Cup from South Africa, which was won last year in Caracas, Venezuela, by Bobby Cole and Dale Hayes. Cole also won the individual honors. But neither played this year, and South Africa, represented by Tienie Britz and John Bland, finished in a four-way tie for 13th.

Nicklaus, Palmer Tops in Golf Poll

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Sandra Palmer were almost unanimous choices for golf's player-of-the-year awards in the poll of the Golf Writers Association of America.

Bob Rickey, secretary of the organization, made the announcement Saturday.

He said Nicklus was a landslide victor in the voting for the men's award, with only British Open winner Tom Watson and Gene Littler getting mentions. Nicklaus won five tournaments, including his fifth Masters and fourth PGA crowns, and led the pro tour in money winnings with $298,149.

Miss Palmer, an 11-year-old pro out of Dallas, headed the balloting for the No. 1 women's spot after winning the two top tournaments — the Open and the Dinah Shore — earning $78,374.

JoAnne Carner finished second and Sandra Haynie third, followed by Carol Mann and Kathy Whitworth.

Ashe Is No. 1 In Ile's Book

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Arthur Ashe of the United States, who failed to win the Masters tournament in Stockholm, is still ranked by most observers as the top tennis star of 1975.

Ilie Nastase of Romania, who won the Masters on Sunday after a remarkable up-and-down week, said he rates Ashe the year's No. 1.

So did Bjorn Borg of Sweden, who disappointed his home fans by losing to Nastase in the final.

"You have to consider results first," Nastase said. "I think Ashe must be No. 1, and I would rate Borg No. 2, and then perhaps Jimmy Connors. I would put myself No. 5 or 6."

Nastase himself had not won a major event all the year until the Masters. On the first day of the tournament he was disqualified from a match against Ashe for his behavior on the court. On the final day he really looked like a master reigning among masters.

Nastase toyed with Borg and won 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. As in the semi-final against Guillermo Vilas of Argentina the previous day, he played with calculated coolness and never betrayed a hint of his usual excitement or tantrums.

Nastase has been in the final of the Masters five years in a row and has won the title four times. The tournament features the leading players in the year-long Grand Prix.

Nastase defeated Vilas 6-0, 6-3, 6-4 and Borge ousted Ashe 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2 in Saturday's semi-finals.

Lansdowne Wins Title In Volleyball

Runnerup Central and third-place Comox were the only schools to defeat Lansdowne during the two-day, eight-team tournament which wound up Saturday at S. J. Willis.

Central finished with an 11-3 record, followed by Comox (9-5), Cedar hill (9-5), Ucluelet (8-6), Campbell River (3-11), Parklands (3-11) and Quamichan (1-13).

$100,000 SHARED BY EVERT, CONNORS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jimmy Connors overpowered his opponents with his front-court play Saturday and propelled Chris Evert and himself to a 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 7-5 victory over Marty Riessen and Billie Jean King in a $150,000 tennis challenge match.

Connors and Miss Evert split the winners' share of $100,000 and Riessen and Mrs. King earned $25,000 each for the nationally-televised match at Caesars Palace.

Aggies Shocked

By The Canadian Press

Arkansas, college football's sleeper of the year, stormed into the Cotton Bowl on Saturday with a shocking 31-6 blitz of second-ranked Texas A and M.

The 18th-ranked Razorbacks used the heroics of much-maligned quarterback Scott Bull to stun the previously unbeaten Aggies, who boasted the nation's No. 1 defensive team.

It was the second consecutive year A and M had blown a trip to the Cotton Bowl on the final game of the season. The Aggies lost to Texas last year to allow Baylor a trip to the New Year's Day game.

Mixed Success in Basketball

Spectrum, Mt. Douglas and Oak Bay were winning hosts but Belmont Braves and Tomahawks were unwillingly gracious in high school basketball tournaments on the weekend.

Spectrum beat Port Moody 65-62 to win its tournament as Harbinder Sanghara scored 24 points and Grant Clark 19 for the winners. Alberni downed Kamloops Westsyde 80-75 in the consolation game.

Oak Bay had little trouble in its tournament final, dumping Rutland 94-34 with Dave Richmond scoring 20 points and Steve Leung 18 for the Bays. Campbell River edged Vanocuver Lord Byng 69-68 in the consolation final.

Mount Doug Ramblers' won their girls' tournament by downing defending champion Vic High 40-28. Bev Galt, who paced Mt. Dougas to its victory was voted most valuable player.

Consolation honors went to Burnaby Central, a 24-21 winners over fifth-place Port Alberni. Prince George was fourth, Vancouver Prince of Wales sixth, Oak Bay seventh and Spectrum eighth.

At Belmont, Vancouver College won the boys' tournament by defeating White Rock Semiahmoo 71-62 while Reynolds won the girls' tournament by beating Belmont 34-31.

In other boys' games, Semiahmoo downed Penticton 74-67, Vancouver College beat Belmont 79-74 and Reynolds beat Esquimalt 66-52. Semiahmoo beat Cowichan 49-30 in another girls' game.

VIC HIGH 4TH

PRINCE RUPERT — Victoria High School finished fourth in the B.C. high school boys' volleyball championships Saturday.

The tournament was won by Vernon, which defeated Vic High 15-9, 15-11 in the semi-finals, then went on to beat Prince George 15-8, 15-8, 15-3 in the final. The Okanagan champion went unbeaten in the 16-team tournament.

Prince George reached the final with a 15-1, 15-3 triumph over Mennonite Educational Institute.

Earlier, Vic High won both its games over Courtenay in quarter-final play. Courtenay finished fifth and Qualicum sixth in the "B" group.

Tom Kovar of Vic High was selected to the all-star team while Gary Wong of Vernon was named most valuable player.

Among the all-star runners-up were Dean Jordan of Vic High, Ken Graham of Qualicum and Alec Fox of Courtenay.

Lumberettes Win 16th In a Row

Victoria Home Lumber started slowly but accelerated before half time and went on to its 16th straight women's basketball victory Saturday at Central Junior High School.

Victoria, an 89-53 winner over Vancouver Friday, trailed late in the first half but rallied in the last three minutes for a 35-24 lead at the intermission.

Wendy Grant and Mary Coutts each scored 18 points to pace the winners while Angie Dobie added 16. Loretta Young led Vancouver with 14 while Heather Cranston added 12 and Linda McCulloch 10.

BELLINGHAM (AP) — Western Washington Vikings jumped into an early 18-point lead and held on to defeat the University of B.C. Thunderbirds 79-66 Saturday in an exhibition college basketball game.

Wignall Collects The Most

Wignall collected six of the 26 trophies given out to top drivers in the club, which has over 250 members.

In addition to the Competition Trophy, awarded to the member demonstrating overall ability in every type of driving competition, Wignall collected the Autocross Trophy for the second straight year. Along with navigator Dennis Wende, he also captured trophies for victories in four rallies — the Dapedo, Observation, Reliability and Petite Alpine.

Ion Barnes won the Petheck award for sportsmanship under trying circumstances and Bill Morgan received the Horwood Memorial award as the club's most valuable member.

James Bay Gains Share of Top Spot

Rod Fiddick scored two tries Saturday to lead James Bay Athletic Association to a 17-10 victory over University of Victoria Vikings in a Victoria Rugby Union first division match at Macdonald Park.

The victory moved James Bay into a tie for first place with Vikings.

Postal Staff Doubled For Yule Rush

Victoria post office has hired 584 Christmas helpers to assist the 550 regular employees with a mountain of parcels and letters.

The hiring began Friday and was completed on the weekend. Many had worked last December as well. No further hiring is planned.

"It is useful to hire people who have worked in previous years because they are experienced workers," public information officer Buz Sawyer said.

Of the permanent staff, all but one have returned to work. One inside worker has not yet reported.

The load consisted of 2.5 million pieces of mail and weighed about 25 tons.

Normally the post office handles 400,000 pieces of mail per day, rising to about 1 million in December.

Loads of mail to businesses and homes are expected to be unusually heavy this week as the post office begins delivering the backlog of letters and parcels.

With all post offices in the country back on regular shifts, mail from out-of-town points is expected to be unusually heavy all week.

However, the Victoria post office has enough workers to handle the load and is "on top of the situation," Sawyer said.

By contract, regular post office workers may apply for overtime to handle the heavy load. Following that, the hours of regular part-time employees will be extended and then, if the load requires more workers, the Christmas help will be brought in.

Yule help is hired through Canada Manpower during the first week of December. Their wage is $2.75 to $3 per hour, depending on their classification.

Christmas workers are already on the job in Vancouver. About 2,100 were hired there on the weekend and some were brought in for the midnight and early morning shifts.

Top Debater

Victoria debater Dermod Travis, 15, of St. Michael's University School, won the Western Canada Debating Seminar Saturday in Winnipeg.

One hundred speakers from the four western provinces took part in the event, which determines who goes on to the next level of competition and the national finals before the end of school term.

Travis is a grade 10 pupil and competed as a senior for the first time following his win with a junior debating team in Nanaimo last month, repeating his success at that level in 1974.

Who'll Win the Election —Or Why Nobody Knows

My friend Al Fotheringham, the talented and astringent columnist for the Vancouver Sun, has made it a habit for several years, before each provincial and federal election, to poll a number of experts in advance for their predictions of the outcome.

I expect that there's been a massive sigh of relief from these experts — one of whom happens to be your correspondent — that the mail strike interfered with the sadistic exercise this time around since, in the past, a good 90 per cent of those polled have been spectacularly wrong.

In retrospect, of course, each and every one of these experts has been able to tell why the election went as it did — some, indeed, can't be shut up — but calling the shots has proven to be as risky as Russian Roulette.

Since I have been as wrong—or even wronger—than the other people on Al's list I'm happy to be off the hook and never happier than right now since this particular election, whatever else may be said of it, seems to defy even an informed guess. I know who I want to be elected, of course, but I expect that's all even the so-called experts know for a certainty.

Truth is, I hadn't realized the full impertinence of British Columbia election predictions until recently when a visiting Londoner, Drew Webster, a long-time journalist and predictor of British elections, with a high batting average, solicited my help, among others, on the idiosycraneies of our provincial politics. My hunch is that Drew went on his way more confused than enlightened. As for me, it convinced me that you might as well consult an ouija board as to make any rational judgment on how it will go, ever.

There are, of course, shocks and surprises in many British elections, but they do work to an identifiable pattern which can hardly be said to be the case on these slopes. By and large the Parliament, fluctuating between Labor and the Conservatives, reflects the views of the country as a whole so that provincial or county elections at the local level very often provide an advance look at who will be in power at Westminster next time around.

Here, as there, it is the uncommitted voter who makes the difference, but here practically everybody is uncommitted and there's simply no political barometer that can be trusted to anticipate the weather ahead.

We have, for example, and thank God, no class distinctions, which are the very basis of the British electorate. It can be said that the working man and woman, especially in the union movement, supports Labor and the rest support the Conservatives, though, as I say, it is the free-spirited floater who may make the difference.

I saw this once, very dramatically, on that strange night in the immediate post-war years when Clement Attlee upset Winston Churchill. I had spent the day in the Rhonda Valley, interviewing Welsh coalminers and their wives, and returned to Cardiff that night to hear the results. Since I was on a very generous expense account I checked in to Cardiff's grandest hotel. Most of the other guests could fairly be described as posh.

When Churchill took an early and apparently commanding lead the guests ordered champagne and cheered each new Conservative victory. Then the whole thing began to turn around. Attlee, so to speak, was coming up fast on the inside rail. At that very moment when it was clear that he would win, a result that left the guests crestfallen, there was suddenly a mad victory parade by the hotel's staff. Scullery maids and chefs and porters and chambermaids, all marvellously plastered, marched through the lounge, wildly cheering their triumph.

No such convenient guidelines are to be found here, I told Drew. Provincial politics not only bears absolutely no resemblance to federal politics, but most voters who endorse a party to run the country will reject it out of hand when it comes to running the province.

There is nothing that passes as a class distinction except, possibly, a purely economic division, though even that is not to be trusted. Whatever lip service, for example, that the NDP may get from organized labor it takes small comfort in the loyalty of the individual unionist. Many a union man with a fibreglass speedboat and a lottery ticket thinks of himself only as a capitalist and votes accordingly.

The Social Credit Party is equally confusing to an outside observer. For a man like Drew who knows a little bit about the economic theories of Major Douglas it comes as a surprise when you tell him that, in this country, the party might as well be called The Sani-Flush Party or the How's-Your-Sister Party, that "Bible Bill" Aberhart who gained power by sheer evangelism never had more than a faint idea of the theory or that the Elder Bennett knew even less.

Then, as now, it became a convenient catch-all and unblushing compromise for the believer in private enterprise, from the mightiest to the lowest.

Still, one might as well stick out one's neck. My forecast? Thirty-six for the NDP, 17 for the Social Credit, one for the Conservatives, one for the Liberals. But don't bet on it.

City Merchants All Smiles As November Sales Up 15-20%

Retail sales were strong in Victoria during November, up as much as 20 per cent from the previous November, according to a study by Canada Manpower.

Department stores and shops aim for an increase of 15 per cent but in November they were doing better than average with results in the 15 to 20 per cent range.

This good news for the economy is bad news for the consumer. Because of the heavy spending there will be fewer pre-Christmas sales this year, store managers say.

Stores reporting a 20 per cent increase had a net growth of 7 per cent, allowing 13 per cent for inflation over the past 12 months.

All retail items were selling well in November, except for Christmas cards, and department stores reported customers seemed to be favoring higher quality goods, indicating there was a lot of prosperity in the city, despite the recession.

Merchants were optimistic that the brisk retail pattern would continue through December.

Stan Purdy, manager of the Victoria Canada Manpower centre, said most of the large stores have already lined up their Christmas help and some have started work. Many stores have begun offering extended shopping hours.

Elsewhere in the economy hiring is on a holding pattern with people being hired only to replace those who are leaving.

Demand for woodworkers was at a low level in November and extended Christmas layoffs are expected in the bush. There is some hope for a higher level of production in January if orders increase.

The fishing industry has closed and no activity is expected before March. The local fish processing plant has reduced staff from 50 to a maintenance crew of 20, which will continue wholesale activities and smoke curing.

The harvest has been completed but there have been some orders for dairy workers and for greenhouse workers in connection with Yule plants.

The Canada Manpower survey, conducted by information director Dan Bowes, shows that construction activity in November was ahead of the same period in 1974. Outlook for the new year is good with several large new projects just starting.

There has been a reduction in shipyard workers to 700 from 775 but there is enough work on hand to last until spring.

The number of jobs listed by the provincial civil service is down to 40 per week, much below normal levels, and no increase is expected in the near future.

Federal government hiring is also low at this time.

The have been 69 LIP projects approved for this area providing 11,560 man-weeks of work. As of the end of November, 58 projects had started, employing 255 workers.

There was very little hiring by municipal government in December and this pattern was expected to continue through December.

Johnson Jury Goes Out

The Crown and the defence completed their cases late this morning in the sixth day of the trial of Rodney Trevor Johnson, 24, of 2507 Vancouver.

Johnson was accused of armed robbery April 13 in Saanich involving a wallet and contents from Maurice Dutour of Surrey. His case is being heard by a jury and Judge Peter Millward in county court.

The last witness was Cpl. John Fahey of Saanich police, who said Johnson told him and another policeman in an interview April 15 he had no knowledge of the incident.

But later in the interview he said he and two other men met Dutour while drinking. Johnson said "It all happened so fast and we had his wallet."

Johnson denied a starting pistol was used and said he didn't get any share from the wallet, which, court was told earlier, contained $60.

Johnson testified that he did not participate in the robbery, did not agree with it and did not get any money from it.

The jury was expected to bring in its verdict late today.

BILL SCOTT'S WAY

Instead of spending money on his campaign, Bill Scott, running as an independent in Victoria, announced today he has donated $1,500 to charity.

"A lot of money is spent on elections; much of it is wasted," Scott said. "There are many needy and hungry people, both in Victoria and around the world. I decided to donate the money I might have spent to organizations that would help them."

Scott says he is presenting a $400 cheque to Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova's Unitarian Service Committee, for which the Times is running another year-end campaign this year. Scott said $400 cheques will also go to the Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace, as well as Oxfam of Canada.

In addition, Scott said he would give the Times, Colonist and Victorian $100 each, the money to be used to "help bring a better Christmas to local families."

He said he is running in the provincial election "because I feel people should have a chance to vote for something other than the official party line."

SUSPENSION REVIEW SET

Suspension of a Victoria West rest home licence by the provincial human resources department Friday will be reviewed Thursday afternoon by Community Care Facilities Licensing Board.

B.C. Rest Home Association president John Hanrahan, operator of Douglas House rest home, said the association would support licensee Mrs. Rudolf Baldauf if she wished to attend the hearing at which she is entitled to have counsel.

The special care licence for the Baldauf home at 228 Edward, known as Alston Residence, was lifted in a surprise move by human resources officials who took away seven patients for placement elsewhere.

Hanrahan said if Mrs. Baldauf did not appear Thursday —election day in the province —she would retain the right of appeal at a later time.

Mrs. Baldauf said today she was disturbed by the sudden move Friday, which followed an earlier attempt on her part to have the monthly fee per patient raised from $280 to a figure closer to $400 as paid to operators of similar accommodation in Victoria.

She said when she attempted to give up her licence Nov. 27 it was refused "because they were trying to play politics."

Now, having lost the licence, she is "satisfied, but it's the principle of the thing" to which she objects.

"It's like having the Gestapo appearing at the front door. Why the police cars? I wasn't going to make any trouble; they were going to do me a favor."

She asked why, if the department is concerned about standards of care, the licence was not suspended earlier.

Mrs. Baldauf noted two patients had returned to the home after being relocated.

"If patients were not being well looked after why did they come back?"

"I'm hoping for fairness, justice and equality for everyone," she said. "I'm hoping these incompetent people will be discharged."

If the department restored her licence and increased the fee, she would accept the new arrangement on principle, Mrs. Baldauf said.

Advance Voting Down

Advance voting was down in Greater Victoria last week with 3,001 eligible voters casting ballots compared to about 4,000 voting in the 1972 advance polls.

During the three days of balloting for people who will be away on election day, Thursday, a total of 1,185 Victoria residents cast ballots.

In Oak Bay 774 people cast ballots; in Esquimalt 617; and in Saanich 425.

One reason for lighter turnouts may be the timing of the election since the 1972 vote was taken in August when more voters would be effected by summer holidays.

ROTUNDA of the Legislative Buildings has been echoing to the sound of Christmas songs as Dennis Sheppard conducts the Newcombe Glee Club in rehearsal for a series of Christmas concerts. Composed entirely of civil servants, the ensemble will give first of its seasonal concerts Wednesday at Garden City United Church, 4054 Carey. Group includes instrumentalists and is accompanied by Margaret Brown at organ, right.

Power Failed

Power failed in prime viewing time for Saturday night television, remaining out up to 2½ hours in the area of Richmond Road between Royal Jubilee Hospital and Cedar Hill Cross Road and also in Fairfield.

B.C. Hydro said the trouble appeared to be a cable connection near the hospital, which was not affected by the failure.

TWO YEARS OF RESEARCH

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) — Two years of research were needed before the Yukon Status of Women Council could complete a 20-page pamphlet entitled Yukon Women. The pamphlet, divided into five sections, contains biographies of 28 Yukon women, both native and white, coping with Northern living and isolation and is an effort to show other women what can be done under similar circumstances.

Women in Business Miss the 'Shop Talk'

MRS. SINNAMON

elizabeth forbes

Are there difficulties to overcome when a woman starts and maintains her own small business?

Certainly, says Patricia Sinnamon, head of Transpeak, a multilingual translation agency, "but actually they are not the fault of anyone."

An example of what she means is "the sort of isolation women who head small businesses feel."

They do not have the same opportunity that men have for shop talk.

"Men will get together over coffee in a downtown restaurant of a morning. They talk for maybe half an hour or so and while they may not solve anything, they go their separate ways again with a feeling of kinship and a knowledge of the others problems."

Women do not have this opportunity to fraternize, she says. There are too few in their own businesses.

"So there is little or no opportunity for shop talk."

Mrs. Sinnamon conducts her translation agency from the family home at 941 McKenzie Avenue.

She does interpreting in the court and for tourist companies, also business, legal, medical an cultural work.

At the moment she has 39 interpreters and translators (men and women) "on call' at all times, with a back-up group that brings the total to around 60.

"We can provide translations and interpreting service in over 30 languages," she says, "from Arabic to Ukranian and the deaf mute sign language."

Written translation work comes from many sources and covers many fields.

"Our translations have accompanied trade missions to Europe, and in borchure form, went with the Canadian Naval Training Squadron to Japan in April this year."

There is also legal work "in many languages" and bilingual (French-English) newsletters, packaging information, technical instructions, large and small manuels on various subjects, conference programs "in fact, anything and everything."

French, she tells you "is naturally the most important language."

Yet, it is the Japanese language, that is her "first love" and that actually led her into her present business.

Eleven years ago a Japanese astronomer, Dr. Yasuma Yamashita, in this country on a research fellowship, lived with the Sinnamon family for some time.

"I looked at his books and magazines with all their weird and wonderful Japanese characters and I became curious."

So curious, in fact, that for the next seven years she studied the language at University of Victoira, with private teachers and with Japanese university students here on exchange.

In 1972 she decided it was time to combine her previous office experience with her proficiency in Japanese ... having in mind, as she says, "the tourist industry and the ever expanding trade with Japan."

Result? On January 3, 1973, she opened her own interpreting business under the name of Japanese Interpreting Serivces, Nichi-Kanada.

"I started from scratch," she says now. "I registered the name, took out a business phone, paid a Saanich business tax and had cards and promotial letters printed and sent them out to some 300 business, government and professional people."

The response "was one of the great interest ... but not much business." And the questions kept coming in "why only Japanese? ... We need Fench, German, Itallan, Spanish ..."

So, in August that same year, Pat Sinnamon "went multilingual."

She changed the anme of the business to Transpeak Services, advertised for translators, interviewed many highly skilled people ... chose six or seven, and was on her way.

"I did it all on my own," she tells you. "With only the help of a long-time family friend who had banking experience and who helped me set up my accounts system."

"It would be so much more efficient and much cheaper, if translators could be engaged right here for bilingual and multilingual conferences on this coast."

Mrs. Sinnamon was one of a panel of women in business who spoke of their work at an all-day seminar "Operating Your Own Business," recentby sponsored by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club in cooperation with the women's economic rights branch of the provincial department of economic development.

There she told the more than 120 men and women present:

"It's what you have to offer that counts. If you have a skill or can provide a service that you think is needed in the community, or a product, new or different, perhaps, that you think will appeal to other people—well, go ahead and start your own business.

"Age is no barrier ... neither is youth ... and personally I have found no discrimination on account of my being a woman."

Smoking Doubles

NEW YORK (AP) — American women have doubled their cigarette smoking in the last 10 years, but the producers of a anti-smoking program believe they are trying to quit.

The program, called You've Come A Long Way ... Maybe, offered a "quitters' kit" and received more than 20,000 requests for it.

HILDA BEASTALL

More homemakers each year are questioning the old traditions of serving only the richest foods for festive meals.

Why indeed should we think quantities of fruit cake, butter icing, and highly seasoned foods in general will be acceptable to our stomachs at Christmas or any other special season when not accustomed to them the rest of the year?

Is there a link between this food and the high statistics of illness during January?

Traditonal breads made especially for the Christmas season are a happy exception. Variations of these come to us from many European countries. Some are plain in content but have a variety of shapes; others have fruit and nuts included in moderation.

Since the base of these breads is good yeast dough we can reduce the quantity of fruit and sugar to suit our needs and tastes yet still make an especially attractive and festive product. Few bake shops put up this type of good baking. Let us make our own, at nominal cost, and have no regrets for having eaten well of them.

Some readers may have heard of Sally Lunn tea bread.

The originator lived in Bath, England around 1797. Her name became as famous as her baking was popular. Her specialty was a light yeast tea cake baked in a round tin.

Here is a slightly different version baked in a tube pan for decorative effect, and topped with a few pieces of fruit instead of having it scattered throughout the dough mixture.

You will notice a minimum of sugar to avoid an oversweet cake (or bread, whichever you like) so that the fruit topping is quite welcome as contrast. Either a little butter or a chunk of cheese makes this delicious Sally Lunn perfect for holiday lunches.

SALLY LUNN (1975)

½ cup warm water
1 tsp sugar
1 pkt or 1 Tbsp granular yeast
¾ cup hot milk from skim powder
¼ cup soft margarine
2 Tbsp sugar
¾ tsp salt
1 small egg
1¼ cups unbleached flour
1½ cups wholewheat flour
¼ cup wheat germ
12 dried apricot pieces soaked overnight
1 Tbsp sugar

Into a large mixing bowl measure warm water; add sugar and stir. Sprinkle yeast on surface and leave 10 minutes.

In a small bowl, pour hot milk over margarine, the 2 tablespoons sugar and salt. Mix well until about same temperature as yeast mixture. Then add to yeast mixture.

Beat with wooden spoon until smooth.

Stir in wheat germ and most of unbleached flour, or all if not too stiff. It should be a stiff batter but still moist.

Cover and let rise until double in warm place 30 to 35 deg. C. without draught, about 50 or 60 minutes.

Well grease and dust lightly with flour a 9 or 10-inch tube pan.

When dough has risen, stir down with spoon and beat or mix with deep strokes from bottom to top for 2 minutes. Then spoon into prepared pan about two thirds full.

I have used pineapple chunks, fresh sweet apple slices and soaked dried prunes at different times. These need no sugar added. All make a delicious topping; each serving of the cake gets a piece of fruit.

Cover with warm towel and let rise in warm place until batter comes nearly to rim of pan — about 45 minutes. Bake in moderate oven 177 deg. C. about 45 minutes until brown.

Remove from pan first upside down on a plate then at once right side up to cool on wire rack.

While waiting for the first rising of Sally Lunn, it should be possible to put together the next item.

Batter Coffee Cake having a nut crumb topping is a yeast product also but it needs only one rising period of 1 hour. The two cakes bake in the same moderate oven at 177 deg. C.

Both will freeze well when baked and cooled, and can be reheated when wanted after thawing at room temperature.

BATTER COFFEE CAKE

¼ cup warm water
1 tsp sugar
1 Tbsp or 1 pkt granular yeast
2 Tbsp sugar
1 tsp salt
2 Tbsp soft margarine
1 cup hot milk from skim powder
1 small egg
¼ cup soy flour
1½ cups unbleached flour
1½ cups wholewheat flour

Topping

2 Tbsp brown sugar
¼ cup wheat germ and whole-wheat flour mixed
½ cup ground nuts can be mixed

Measure warm water into large mixing bowl. Add sugar, stir. Sprinkle yeast on surface and let stand 10 minutes.

Into a smaller bowl, measure 2 Tbsp sugar, the margarine and salt. Pour hot milk over; stir until all dissolved. Add egg, beat.

When cooled to about same temperature as yeast mixture add to yeast mixture together with soy flour and wholewheat flour.

Beat until smooth. Stir in unbleached flour, beat until smooth again. This will be a fairly soft batter.

Grease and flour lightly a pan about 12x9x2 inches or similar. Spread batter evenly a little more than half full. Make 2 small cakes in foil pans as tasters to avoid overfilling big pan.

Topping: Combine ingredients; sprinkle on surface.

Set in warm place 30 to 35 deg. C. until puffy and light, about 1 hour.

Bake in moderate oven 177 deg. C. about 30 minutes until brown but do not scorch. Remove and cool. Extra good while warm.

BABKA (my version)

½ cup warm water
1 tsp sugar
1 Tbsp or 1 pkt granular yeast
½ cup hot milk from skim powder
½ tsp salt
1 Tbsp sugar
2 Tbsp soft margarine
2 small eggs
1¼ cups unbleached flour
1¼ cups wholewheat flour
¼ cup chopped dates
¼ cup currants or dark raisins

Measure warm water into large bowl. Stir in 1 tsp sugar. Sprinkle yeast on surface. Let stand 10 minutes.

Measure salt, 1 Tbsp sugar and the margarine into a smaller bowl. Pour hot milk over, mix until all dissolved.

When about same temperature as yeast mixture, stirring well.

Cover bowl; let rise in warm place, 30 to 35 deg. C., until light and fluffy, about ½ hour. Stir in the fruit. Spoon into well greased and floured fluted pan or other 4 or 5-inch deep cake pan.

Let rise, uncovered, in warm place again, this time for about 20 minutes. Bake in moderate oven at 177 deg. C. about 35 minutes, or until browned.

Turn upside down on wire rack; tap all over bottom and sides immediately to loosen. Remove pan.

As you read the detailed directions for these three yeast cakes, you find they are the same. Ony some ingredients and quantities vary. A beginner soon gets used to the routine.

The warm water for dissolving yeast is warmer than tepid. The hot water for melting margaine is hot but not boiling. Skim milk powder can be mixed with the hot water to have an extra pan.

The warm place at 30 to 35 deg. C. for raising yeast dough may be a warming over; near a hot water tank; near but not on the side of the range; or some special facility of your own kitchen.

Milk—Not Pills

OTTAWA (CP) — When Dr. Donald Roy ordered all sleeping pills to be discontinued for residents at Island Lodge, a local home for the aged, he was nearly "tarred and feathered" by the irate elderly group.

"Warm milk," ordered the internist.

In no time, the wards were slumbering peacefully and the incidence of fractures reduced drastically.

"These peole had been taking sleeping pills for years before coming to a home for the aged," he said. "Often they would awake at some time during the night, get up and stumble over something and fracture a leg or hip or arm."

Dr. Roy said in an interview: "Not only did I order all sleeping pills to be discontinued, but also all vitamin preparations and in many cases tranquilizers."

He added that the sleeping pills made them feel groggy when they did wake up and "as far as I could see, served no purpose."

Ministers Advised Not To Spread Gloom

DEAR ABBY: My mother died in a hospital a year ago, and one thing still bothers me.

I wish all those ministers and priests who go around to visit the sick would not tell them they should prepare to meet their God.

This happened to my mother, and she said she had no idea she was going to die. She did, of course, but I just know that had it not been for the minister's visits, my mother would have lived longer. She just gave up hope.

In the first place, the minister shouldn't even have visited my mother because she didn't belong to his church. She is an American Indian and didn't belong to ANY church.

We Indians believe that our church is the whole world. In all Good Books, it says, "The Lord created heaven and earth," so we worship any time, any place — not in a building, only once a week. And there is never a collection plate. Worship is free.

If you think this will help people to understand the faith of the American Indians, please put this in your column. Thank you—Jimmy Little Turtle, Harrisburgh, Pa.

DEAR JIMMY: I do and I will. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are planning our wedding for next spring. All of those I've selected for my bridesmaids have accepted. My problem: Two of the girls are very overweight.

After attending a wedding not long ago where four bridesmaids were overweight and four were slim, I decided I didn't want these heavy girls to be in my wedding. The procession was terrible. Fat, skinny, fat, skinny, fat, skinny and finally fat, skinny.

I just can't let my fat friends ruin my wedding. I know I should have thought of it before I asked them, but I didn't.

Abby, this will be hard for me since we've all grown up together. How can I tell the news to my two fat friends without hurting their feelings? —FAT-FREE WEDDING

DEAR FAT-FREE: You can't. And if you are that hung up on having uniformly slim bridesmaids, hire professional models. You've made your commitments. Stick with them.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for two years and are beginning to think about having a family. My problem is that I am not sure I would make a good parent.

I become impatient with children who throw tantrums when they don't get their own way, and I have to fight the urge to discipline them when their parents stand by and do nothing.

I know I'd be a very strict parent. Would that be good or bad for a child?

You can't take a child back once it's here, so before having one I want to be sure I would make a good mother.

What do you think?—On The Fence.

DEAR ON: "Discipline" is a must. But a child needs love, too. If you have a lot of love to give, I'd say you have the two most important qualifications for parenthood.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law lives in my neighborhood. We both drive, but whenever we go anywhere together she is the one who picks me up. I suppose I should be grateful because it's her gas and her tires, but I'd prefer to pick her up or take my own car for the following reason:

When she picks me up, we are always anywhere from 15 minutes to an hour late. I am by nature a very punctual person, and I hate being late — especially when it's not my fault.

Yesterday, we arrived at a shower 40 minutes late because of her. I have had it!

How can I tell her I don't want her to pick me up any more without making an enemy of her?—Had It

DEAR HAD IT: What's wrong with the truth? Next time she offers to pick you up, tell her no and tell her why.

WHEELS

DEAR MIKE:

We have a 1973 Chevy van that I've been trying to fix for three months. About 45 mph, the front end shimmies. I have to slow down to 30 to make it stop. We've had the front end aligned three times, replaced the front wheels and tires, had brakes checked, put in new bearings, new shocks, sway bar, even a new steering box. Every mechanic including the Chevy guys say everything is as it should be, but I take them for a ride and they're stumped. I've put $350 into nothing, so maybe you can help.

THE SHAKER

DEAR SHAKER:

You don't mention ball jints. Sometimes they feel joints. Sometimes they feel hand, but they're actually not. Have the next shop take them out and inspect them. If that's not it, though, you've got a real problem.

DEAR MIKE:

My 1967 Buick has an oil leak at the top of the engine (430 V-8), at the gasket between the motor and the water pump." The point of leakage is about an inch wide. I've bought a bottle of liquid sealer but am hesitant about putting it in. Is there any danger to the engine when you use this stuff? Will it do the job?

SKEPTICAL

DEAR SKEP:

It can block oil passages, yes, and it probably won't seal the leak. Yours is too big. The best substitute for a bad gasket is a good gasket, and my advice is to change yours.

DEAR MIKE:

My dad bought me a 1970 Maverick 6. He adjusted the carburetor, since he does a lot of the family's car work, but now the engine pops and jerks and sputters and makes a terrible noise when it's cold. The motor shakes and sometimes won't shut off. I don't want to take the car back to my dad, since he did me the favor of buying me the car in the first place and then working on it, but I don't know what to do to correct the problem.

DUTIFUL DAUGHTER

DEAR DUT DAUGHTER:

Sounds as though your engine is idling too high, and possibly you're adjusted too lean. Give dear old dad another chance—I'm sure he won't mind.

DEAR MIKE:

My Pontiac won't start hot. The starter sounds like it's binding—very sluggish. Sounds like a low battery, but it's not. Cool, the engine spins like new.

GRINDING

DEAR GRIND:

Your starter bushings are gone. You might also have a worn armature. Pull the starter and check.

Manitoba's Tories Pick New Leader

WINNIPEG (CP) — Sterling Lyon, a 48-year-old lawyer, defeated incumbent Sidney Spivak Saturday in a contest for the leadership of the Manitoba Progressive Conservative Party.

The vote was 264 to 207, a margin which emphasized the split that has developed between Lyon and Spivak during the sometimes-acrimonious leadership campaign. Spivak had led the party since 1971.

Spivak, 45, appealed to his followers to remain active in the party's efforts to defeat the New Democratic Party government and to pull the party together for a united front.

Lyon, a former cabinet minister in two Conservative administrations, said he hoped that any bitterness from the campaign would soon dissipate.

"This is not at all unusual, that you have some hard feelings after a leadership convention," said Lyon who lost to Walter Weir in a 1967 leadership race.

"But I do honestly believe that the kind of unity we've been looking for at the present time will be achievable, and in a very short time."

LYON
. . . healing breach

The question of party unity was the major issue in the campaign. Lyon received the support of a majority of the Conservative members of the legislature. Spivak laid claim to the support of the party's general membership.

Spivak said it was his leadership that increased the popular support of the Conservatives and allowed them to elect 23 members in the 57-seat legislature, compared with 31 New Democrats and three Liberals.

But Lyon said the lack of support for Spivak in the caucus and party as a whole was the main reason he ran for the leadership.

Unless one of the current Conservative MLAs resigns his seat or a vacancy is created in some other way to allow for an early byelection, Lyon will have to direct his party from outside the legislature.

Spivak has said he plans to keep his seat at least until the next election.

"I'm still very much a member of this party," said Spivak who expressed concern that the party might gain a "Portage and Main" boardroom image.

KOREA BROKE?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The institute for internationl policy forecasts default for South Korea unless there is $1 billion annually in foreign assistance.

The institute, a nongovernmental group, said it made its projections on the basis of reports available from the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the U.S. state department, CIA and other federal agencies.

The report said some U.S. banks could be hurt if there were a default by the Republic of Korea.

The report said that in 1974, Congress appropriated $145 million for military aid for Korea, $98 million less than the administration sought.

The report said Korea had been caught in a squeeze of rising prices of oil and other raw materials and a falling market for exports, resulting in a 1974-75 trade deficit of $4 billion.

In 1975, South Korea borrowed $325.5 million from the World Bank, up 400 per cent from the pervious year. South Korea also is the largest borrower from the Asian Development Bank, with $336 million in loans for 1974-75, the report said.

The institute said that although Korean planners have promised to trim domestic spending the budget schedules $675 million for higher salaries and pensions for government officials and doubles the $735 million of this year in military spending.

Arms Shopping Lists Approved for NATO

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The European members of NATO agreed today to add hundreds of tanks, jet fighters and rockets to the western defence arsenal next year.

Defence ministers of 10 of the 13 European nations in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — all except France, Iceland and Portugal — met in the so-called "Euro group" to open the annual winter week of NATO meetings.

The United States and Canada wil poin in meetings of all NATO defence and foreign ministers later in the week, with the United States represented by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and new Defence Secretary Donald Runsfeld. Runsfeld arrived Sunday night, and Kissinger is scheduled to get in Wednesday.

Euro group spokesman said the group will announce spending on arms improvement "necessary to maintain and improve the European defence posture" in 1976.

They said this included 333 tanks, 1,273 other armored vehicles, 156 modern fighters, 71 land-based helicopters, 172 antiaircraft missiles, and 1,524 antitank rocket systems.

European navies will get five new destroyers and escort ships, four submarines, 13 speedboats and 14 naval helicopters, it said.

In additon, six destroyers in NATO navies will be fitted out with land-to-air rocket units and eight with rockets capable of striking land or naval targets. Sixty planes will be given laser-precison guidance systems, it said.

HOFFA PROBERS REMAIN SILENT

DETROIT (AP) — Federal prosecutors are silent on what they found out when three New Jersey Teamsters were placed in a lineup viewed by a secret witness to the abduction of James Hoffa.

But a federal grand jury is expected to get a report on the lineup as early as Tuesday, leaving open the possibility of prompt indictments if the witness made a positive identification.

There is also the possibility that digging will begin this week at Moscato's Dump in Jersey City, N.J., where sources say the body of the former Teamsters president may be buried.

Federal prosecutors reported in open court last week that the three New Jersey men had been identified by another secret informant as having carried out the abduction and assassination of Hoffa.

Prosecutors said the man who saw the lineups Saturday at the Oakland County jail in Pontiac was a witness to the Hoffa abduction but did not know the names of those involved.

Afterward, all three returned to New Jersey, their lawyer said. The three are associated with Teamsters Local 560 in Union City, N.J., for years the power base of former union vice-president Anthony Tony Provenzano.

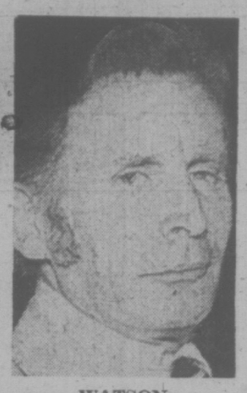
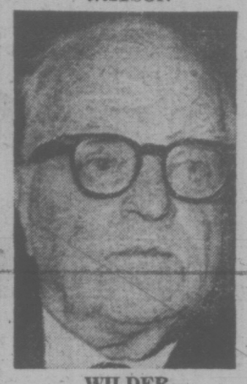
Wayne Out

NEW YORK — For the first time in 25 years John Wayne is not on the list of the top 10 movie box-office stars this year. Number one, for the second year in a row, was Robert Redford, second, and the only woman listed, was Barbra Streisand.

Stranded Six Days in Snow He Wasn't Worried



WATSON



WILDER

SEATTLE — Norman Hill, lost for six days without food or a tent on 14,410-foot Mount Rainier as the result of a blinding snowstorm, says he "wasn't ever really too worried that I wouldn't make it down. I don't know if I'll try Mount Rainier again this winter—but I'm sure I'll be back." Hill, 22, who suffered frozen toes, said from a hospital bed. "I think we just overextended ourselves."

REGINA — Jim Watson, a 46-year-old preacher from Edmonton chose the Saskatchewan provincial Progressive Conservative convention here on the weekend to announce his plan to run for the federal Tory leadership. He is the 14th declared candidate for the office to be vacated by Robert Stanfield.

NEW HAVEN — Author, playwright Thornton Wilder, who established his literary reputation with a novel showing people in their final hours of life, died of a heart attack Sunday night at the age of 78. Wilder won the Pulitzer Prize three times and the National Book Award, once. He is best known for his novel The Bridge of San Luis Rey and the plays Our Town and the Matchmaker which was turned into the musical Hello, Dolly. The author had been in frail health for several years.

DUBUQUE, Iowa — The manger in the local fire department's Christmas display is empty this year because someone stole the infant Jesus. "We decided to set up the crib without it," fireman Ronald Kann said. "Maybe the empty manger will prompt the thief to return the statue."

MIAMI, Fla. — The chariots of the gods were hot-air balloons, says an explorer who has recreated and flown an airship like the ones he says may have taken off from the mysterious Inca runways of Peru. Jim Woodman returned to his home in Miami a few days ago filled with the excitement of seeing the huge earth-drawings on the Plains of Nazca from the same perspective he believes their creators enjoyed—from a grass basket below a soaring seven-storey balloon. Julian Nott, a British balloonist and Woodman made the trip to attack the theories of Eric Von Daniken, whose book, Chariot of the Gods, speculated about pre-Columbian spaceships.

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio — Evangelist Rex Humbard said Sunday his Cathedral of Tomorrow has paid off millions of dollars in securities that had been questioned by government officials. Church representatives expect to meet soon with government lawyers to work out final disposition of state and federal court actions over $12.5 million in questioned securities which had been sold to thousands of church supporters in the United States and Canada, he added.

PARIS, Tenn. — Ailing Maj. Richard Wall, an 18-year career officer faced with early discharge and reduced retirement benefits before the army reversed itself says he's stunned by the decision. "I'm really amazed by the army's decision," said Wall, 40, who doctors say may have cancer. "But I feel just great." Wall was one of 2,500 officers passed over twice for promotion and tagged earlier this year for involuntary discharge in an effort to reduce the number of officers in service.

WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission ruled today that promoter Glenn Turner and his colleagues engaged in an illegal cosmetics marketing scheme that cost persons involved in it up to $44 million. The agency said it would not order restitution for those victimized because the company, Koscot Interplanetary Inc., of Orlando, Fla., is in bankruptcy and Turner and his associates claim to be broke. The FTC now has authority to go to court to halt schemes it considers deceptive, an authority that it did not possess during the time Turner was operating.

GRANNIS, Ark. — "We don't have any special plans for Christmas," says Elizabeth Nance Bard, one of 25 persons waiting in a small brick house for the second coming of Christ and the end of the world. "We just think maybe we won't be here." The vigil began 70 days ago with believers abandoning their homes and jobs. Mrs. Bard says the group is "in no way discouraged. 'We just keep praying and studying and waiting for the end to come," she said.

Nobody Likes a MONOPOLY

"Monopolies, whether Private or Government are economically unhealthy and undesirable."

Liberal Policy calls for common balance through competition. The Government should not be able to dictate the fate of anyone's livelihood. I.C.B.C. did that. The N.D.P. got rid of the competition and also ruined hundreds of dedicated hard working honest employees working within the rules and economics of their industry. Higher premiums came about because there was no Government subsidy of $50,000,000.00 to cover losses. There was also no 39% wage settlements.

As long as there is a Government Monopoly, I.C.B.C. will become a worse Financial Disaster. Premiums will be increased and subsidies which are also taxpayer dollars will have to be greater.

One way or another the individual pays his dues.

The Bridge Expert

By FRED KARPIN

In bridge, as in life, the commission of errors is a human frailty. Everybody makes errors at the bridge table, from the rank neophyte to the topflight expert, with the neophyte of course making them much more often than the expert.

One of the most flagrant errors of the inexperienced player is his "time-saving" refusal to play out a hand that appears to be destined to defeat. Instead, he detaches a couple of cards from his hand, tosses them onto the middle of the table, and says: "Here, you get two tricks. I'm down one." Today's deal illustrates this unfortunate defeatist attitude, which resulted in the tossing out of the window of a makable slam. The hand came up in a rubber-bridge game.

Both sides vulnerable. South deals.

♣ A Q J

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 NT	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♣.

After winning the opening lead with dummy's king of clubs, declarer picked up the outstanding trumps in two rounds, cashed his minor-suit winners, exposed his hand and said, dejectedly: "You get two spade tricks. Down one." So the defenders collected 100 points.

Admittedly, declarer rated to go down one trick. Nevertheless, as the adversely held spades happened to be divided, his slam contract was there for the taking.

After drawing trumps and cashing the three top diamonds and his two remaining clubs, all he had to do was to lead his four of spades. As is evident, West would have had to play the king — and upon winning the trick, he would have found himself endplayed. Whether he returned a diamond or a club, it would be ruffed in dummy as, on this trick, South would discard his queen of spades.

It goes without saying that neither of the opponents figured to have been dealt either the singleton king or ace of spades. But what it cost South, instead of conceding defeat, to lead a low spade and indulge in the long-shot wishful thinking that Lady Luck would favor him?

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By SYDNEY OMARR

Tuesday, Dec. 9, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Mueh that occurs is low pitch, behind the scenes, somewhat restrained. Older, conservative persons have plenty to say — and can pull strings. Know it and make necessary adjustments. Cancer, Capricorn types dominate. Display willingness to handle added assignment, responsibility.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Finish what you start — let go of past. You have chance to shake off apparent defeat and create victorious situation. Some hopes, wishes, including those in romance area, can be fulfilled. Aries and Libra could be in picture.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): One in position to push greenlight button is impressed, becomes ally. Highlight independence, not arrogance. Stress leadership potential. Bypass red tape; get to heart of matters. Leo could figure prominently.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Follow through on hunch. Your intuitive intellect is sharply honed. Aquarian plays key role. Accent on communication, advertising, publishing. Travel plans can be successfully formulated. Consolidate, collect and file pertinent information.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Question of spending, budget and money in general dominates. Partner, mate is involved. Check credit ratings, tax obligations. Follow through on saving or investment opportunity. Gemini, Sagittarius could be in picture.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Lie low. Do more listening than talking — detect subtle signals. Let others show their hands, reveal their plans. Be discreet. Put in an attention to oppositon, partnership, marriage. Don't neglect public relations.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Attend to basic issues. Highlight service, attention to health. Balance is required — and so is moderation. Gemini, Virgo and Sagittarius persons could be in picture. Social affair provides need change of pace.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Emotional responses are featured. Member of opposite sex could figure prominently. Bring forth creative resources. Be ready for change, variety — and a chance for travel. Speculation, impulse tend to dominate. Maintain balance. Be cautious without being timid.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Home value, real estate, ability to obtain valid appraisal — these are emphasized. Pisces, Virgo individuals could play key roles. If you build on solid base — by doing homework — you will be in position of strength. Older, experienced individual is in your corner all the way.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Accent on short journey which involves relative or special message. You get ideas in order, organized. You are ready to assume additional responsibility. Past effort pays dividends — you are repaid and could receive acclaim too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You are relieved of money burden. Financial picture may be brighter. You add to valuables. Be sure you are not possessed by possessions. Means avoid painting yourself into corner. Good news comes from afar. Aries, Libra persons could be involved.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Lunar cycle is at peak — take initiative. Get going on your own. Be confident. Emphasize personality, personal magnetism. Get to heart of matters. Someone now might confess to being "madly in love" with you. Keep sense of balance — and humor.

IF DEC. 9 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a humanitarian, fascinated with law, theatre, medicine. You're better at helping others than when it comes to aiding yourself. You make great "comeback" in 1976 — September will be your most significant month. Gemini, Sagittarius persons play important roles in your life. You're grand, careless, generous, carry too much weight for your size. You also are honest, loyal, temperamental and have talent with words.

FUN WITH FIGURES

By J. A. H. HUNTER

"My dad?" Bill smiled. "If you switch the two digits of his age, and add that to his age, you get a perfect square."

"That sounds bad," protested Judy, "What d'you mean?"

"The square of a whole number," replied Bill. "You know, like 16 or 25. But his age is two more than twice a perfect square."

How old was that?

Thanks for an idea to J. Partington, Holt, England.

MENDENHALL HURT

NEW YORK (AP) — John Mendenhall, defensive tackle with New York Giants, has been sidelined for the balance of the National Football League season because of an ankle injury.

Reading Tasks 'Incredible'

HALIFAX (CP) — If Johnny can't read well, it might be that he is caught up in the knowledge explosion.

Reading difficulties are not caused by a failure of educational methods to adopt to modern requirements, says Dr. Jean Robertson of the International Readers' Association (IRA).

She said schools now teach reading skills more effectively and reading instruction is generally better than it was years ago.

The current concern over reading and writing inadequacies is the result of three factors, she said.

First, the demands made on children have increased and educational methods have not kept pace. With the "explosion of knowledge" that has occurrred, children now are faced with whole libraries of highly technical matter which they are expected to learn.

She said students today are generally asked to perform tas.s which are "incredible" by the educational standards of a generation ago.

Secondly, she said the educational system has developed to such an extent that children are kept in school much longer than they used to be. As a result, people who cannot read adequately now are more noticable.

Dr. Robertson said children today do not have the same degree of support for reading at home that they had a generation ago. In today's families, both parents are workig and do not have the time for reading.

She said children who are encouraged to read are more likely to do so if they see their parents pick up a book.

Dr. Robertson also disposed of another widely-held belief.

Whe said television is not a major factor in the decline of reading among children.

Television and books were complementary rather than exclusive, and children should be taught how to use television as a medium.

For example if a child is interested by something he sees on television he should be encouraged to seek further information on the subject through books, she said.

WEDDING LACKING A BRIDE

LONDON (CP) — Model Cathy Downes, 22, would have been a beautiful bride if she had turned up for her wedding.

The problem was the prospective groom, Russell Williams, 29, refused to accept her refusal to marry him and went ahead with wedding plans.

He waited at the registry office for half a day, until he found out she was home taking a nap.

Human Need Exhibition

An exhibition illustrating the Pacific Region's approach to human needs is on view at Open Space Gallery, 506 Fort, in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Architectural Institute of B.C.

Themne of the Institute meeting is the UN Conference to be held in Vancouver May 31 to June 11. It combines human needs in the environment of the human settlement, the role of settlements in national development, structure and quality of the environment, special problems and management in settlements and international co-operation.

The exhibition includes displays from such groups as the Capital Region District, City of Victoria planning department, the Heritage Society.

'STREET' WILL TEST PRISONERS

REGINA (CP) — The real test for prisoners who spent the summer in a wilderness camp in a remote corner of Saskatchewan will begin when the summer in a wilderness they are back on the street, a prison official says.

Terry Thompson, corrections director for Saskatchewan, said the future of the experimental wilderness camp program will depend primarily on the performance of its "graduates" in the months ahead.

Eleven prisoners at the Regina and Prince Albert correctional centres spent the summer cutting trees, working on a log cabin, building a road and taking a 140-mile canoe trip through northern Saskatchewan.

The offenders, all between 16 and 21 years old, were released on parole at the end of the summer. All said they were not going back for more.

"The object of the program is to reach offenders who are classified as adults before the courts but who are still young enough to change their attitudes," camp supervisor Vic Walsh said.

Only prisoners from cities and towns were accepted in the program.

The theory was that tackling the challenge of living in the unfamiliar bush would give prisoners a positive attitude about their ability to tackle problems, the camp supervisor explained.

He said morale at the camp was high, with no request for sick leave made and no excuses accepted to get out of work duties.

"For example, one prisoner worked all day in the mud and rain wearing only one rubber boot, because he had lost the other."

The program was not problem-free. Camp counsellors said two prisoners were returned to the correctional centres before the three-month session ended because they could not get along in a group.

Another difficulty involved finding staff willing to make a "superhuman" commitment of being on duty 24 hours a day, Thompson said.

The B.C. Price Freeze: PROGRESS REPORT

DURING THE FIRST FORTY DAYS:

- Nearly 2,150 people contacted the Department of Consumer Services to get additional information on the Price Freeze.
- Of these, about 1,010 were business people and about 1,140 were consumers.
- In the same period, consumers registered 210 formal complaints about price increases. The department resolved 194 of these complaints, and in each case merchants rolled back any unjustified price increases. The other cases were still under investigation.

SOME POINTS TO REMEMBER:

- Prices can be lowered and raised again during the freeze as long as they do not go above their October 24th levels. So stores are still offering specials and holding sales during the freeze.
- Shop for October 24th prices. Prices on items covered by the freeze will either be at their October 24th level or lower.
- New items (brands, sizes, qualities, grades) not offered for sale on October 24th are not covered by the freeze. So it will pay to shop for the hundreds of regularly-stocked items which are covered by the freeze.
- If you wish to know what the October 24th price was on an item offered at a particular store, ask the store manager.
- The freeze covers prices at the retail, wholesale and processing levels. For example, retailers are also paying October 24th prices (or lower prices) to their B.C. wholesalers.

WHAT THE PRICE FREEZE COVERS:

All food and beverage for human consumption (except those sold by or supplied to restaurants). This includes candy and ingredients such as spices. All prescription drugs. All proprietary or patent medicine (obtained without prescription), such as pain relievers, headache remedies, antacids, etc. All fares on provincially-owned buses and the ferry system. Also, passenger and freight tolls within B.C. charged by provincially-owned railways.

HOW TO REGISTER COMPLAINTS:

If you believe there has been an unjustified price increase, first bring the matter to the attention of the store manager.

If you are unsatisfied with the explanation, fill out the complaint form below and get it to us. Extra complaint forms are available at some supermarkets and at offices of Government Agents and the Department of Consumer Services. If you are not near one of these offices, call your nearest Consumer Services office collect.

Whales, Russia on Slides

How Greenpeace gladiators jousted with the Russian whaling fleet last summer will be shown in a musical film-slide presentation Jan. 4 in McPherson Playhouse.

The program for which tickets are now on sale is in aid of Greenpeace Foundation, which proposes another anti-whale hunt expedition into the North Pacific next May under the title Greenpeace VII.

Bob Ikle, of the Victoria Greenpeace office, said he was "deeply impressed when I saw it in Vancouver. It really involves the viewer and I think it will heighten public awareness of the super-efficiency of a modern whaling operation."

Greenpeace Foundation vs. The Russian Whaling Machine has played twice in Vancouver. It shows in graphic color photographs how Greenpeace V mission using inflatable rubber boats confronted the factory ships and chaser vessels used by the Russians on the high seas.

There is a sequence showing how one tiny inflatable powered by outboard motor thrust itself between the whales and a chaser, defying the hunters to fire their harpoon.

When the crew balked, the ship's captain took over the gun and shot, missing the rubber boat but causing anxious moments for those in the little craft.

An extra feature will show film on the harp seal, a controversial conservation subject on Canada's east coast.

Appearing with the illustrated portion will be a musical group, The Boys, and Greenpeace musicians who will sing some of the songs they wrote about whales during the mission.

Ikle said the show has "gaiety, humor, fear and then death. The whales are chased almost beyond their endurance, and then killed. It shows how whales are adapted to their life in the ocean and how beautiful they are. And it leaves the question, 'why are we doing this?' "

Sky Shops Inquiry Pressed

OTTAWA (CP) — Elmer Mackay, Progressive Conservative MP for Central Nova, called again Sunday for a judicial inquiry into the activities of Sky Shops Export Ltd. when he appeared on CBC's television program The Nation's Business.

"The federal government can continue as they have done so far, to leave everything in the hands of the police and to say, in effect, if it's not a crime, it's not worth investigating," Mackay said.

"Or they can open this matter up to the fresh air of an independent inquiry where all those involved can give their version of the facts under the proper conditions and the proper rules of evidence."

The RCMP is currently investigating the company in connection with a 1972 lease extension for a duty-free shop in Montreal.

The owners of Sky Shops sold 5,000 shares at $1 each in June, 1972, to Senator Louis Giguere who resold them five months later at $20 a share, making $95,000 profit.

The transaction is "in the capable hands of the RCMP," MacKay said. But the situation goes well beyond such an investigation because it relates to "the whole practice and approach of the government in letting contracts and dealing with concessions and leases involving millions of your tax dollars," he said.

"We should consider, for example, that it was not the FBI nor any police investigation that brought the sorry mess known as Watergate to the attention of the American people, but rather the work of a Senate committee and the dogged persistence of a distinguished jurist."

QUEBEC EYES CASINO

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa had confirmed that his government is still studying the possibility of establishing a gambling casino in Quebec but said a final decision rests on talks with the federal government.

A Quebec government offer to buy the bankrupt Manoir Richelieu resort, a once-fashionable water hole in Murray Bay about 80 miles northeast of Quebec City, revived speculation last week that the site might be used for a casino.

"It's been said very often our first choice for a casino would be at that place," Bourassa said on CJAD radio's Quebec Report. "But there are some legal problems we have to study."

Bourassa said that when Jerome Choquette was justice minister, he held "brief discussions" with Ottawa on the subject of changing federal laws to permit establishment of a casino.

The discussions will "probably" be resumed by Fernand Lalonde, the new solicitor-general, Bourassa said.

The Premier said he was "personally not too fond" of public gambling, but compared the casino idea to the estabishment of a provincial lottery.

"Twenty years ago, a lot of people were against lotteries, about since they existed in neighboring states, and since there was a lot of money used for buying tickets in the Irish Sweepstakes, finally it was decided we should have some lotteries in Quebec."

He said he doubts that a casino would produce "substantial revenue" for the government through taxes.

The government made a $950,000 offer for Manoir Richelieu when it went on sale last week. So far, no other potential buyers have bid.

PQ Quebec Not Nazi: Levesque

MONTREAL (CP) — Parti Quebecois leader Rene Levesque assured a Jewish audience Sunday they have no reason to fear an independent Quebec governed by his party.

Answering questions after a speech in a west-end synangogue, Levesque urged Jews and other minority groups to support self-government for Quebec and help overcome the "frustration of French-Canadian society" that has fostered racial intolerance in the past.

"Your best guarantee for a healthy Quebec is not to hold onto the status quo, but to accept the idea that the healthiest development is for the French majority of Quebec to pickup its affairs and govern itself."

He also replied to fears that the growth of nationalism might breed racism similar to German anti-Semitism during the Hitler regime.

"Making comparisons between the Nazi system and the Hitler phenomenon and what might happen in a North American Quebec is to me really overdoing the memory of Jewish suffering."

U.S. Civil Rights Movement Looks Back After 20 Years

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Proud of its past but uncertain of the future, a fragmented civil rights movement celebrated its 20th anniversary this weekend, afraid that young blacks do not appreciate the accomplishments and that whites may succeed in reversing some of them.

Twenty years after the Montgomery bus boycott began the movement, civil rights leaders defended school busing, said the first priority of the nation should be full employment, demanded an independent investigation of the assassination of Martin Luther King Jr. and said King's birthdate of Jan. 15 should be made a national holiday.

Busing was defended as the only realistic means of bringing about school integration, but participants in a seminar — one in a series of gatherings this weekend sponsored by a variety of civil rights organizations from throughout the country — conceded it had often failed to provide quality education and voiced fears that Congress would yield to white pressure and place severe curbs on busing.

"Ten years from now, white people will realize that the best thing that happened to their kids is that they were bused," said Rep. Andrew Young (Dem.—Ga.) "If it were not for integration we'd have culturally deprived white kids and culturally deprived black kids.

"Many of the things that were won are eaily taken for granted," said Georgia State Sen. Julian Bond. "It's said to meet young people who believe the last 20 years of struggle began when Stokely Charmichael shouted "black power" in Mississippi.

The strains in the movement showed frequently during the weekend meetings, although some speakers said the media overplayed them while ignoring accomplishments.

John Lewis, the head of the voter education project and once the leader of the now-defunct Student Nonviolent Co-ordinating Committee complained the "so-called superstars" of the movement all left Friday, the first day of what was to be a three-day celebration.

"We have a large action agenda in 1976," said Southern Christian Leadership Conference vice president Bernard Lee, beginning with a robusing march in Louisville Jan. 15. "The movement is moving on, but the white press, if you leave it to them, you'd think we were doing nothing."

"We have changed the cradle of the confederacy to a cradle of feeedom," said Dr. Ralph David Abernathy, the head of the SCLC and a leader of the bus boycott.

Rosa Parks, a frail black woman whose arrest for refusing to give up her bus seat to a white set off the boycott, was the star of the meeting. "My one desire was to know some time in my ife when there would be some peace, some freedom," she said in explaining why she had done it.

Coretta King demaned a new investigation of the assasination of her husband, who rose to national fame as leader of the boycott, King's father joined in the call, and said he thought some blacks might have been involved in a conspiracy to kill his son.

KISSINGER PREPARED FOR MOSCOW SESSION

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, convinced the Soviet Union may be ready to compromise on the stalled arms limitation talks, probably will go to Moscow this month with some proposed concessions of his own, high diplomatic sources say.

Washington sources said Kissinger plans to go to the Soviet capital Dec. 19 after a series of meetings in Brussels, London and Paris.

In Tokyo, where Kissinger was briefing Japanese leaders on President Ford's China trip, a senior official traveling with the secretary said Sunday the Russians had passed on word they were willing to consider a compromise.

On Nov. 10, after Moscow rejected one U.S. proposal, Kissinger told a news conference the United States would make no new offers until Moscow gave a "reasoned response" showing signs of trying to narrow outstanding differences.

"We don't believe that the mere fact that the Soviet Union has rejected an American proposal requires us to come forward with another . . ." he said.

But the sources indicated there since has been some movement on both sides over the questions of the Russian backfire bomber and U.S. cruise missiles. While the second stage of the strategic arms limitation talks is 90 per cent completed, the problem of these weapons has been insurmountable.

The Washington sources said Kissinger has decided to go along with Soviet desires to exclude the backfire bomber from the list of strategic weapons capable of striking the United States, provided Moscow gives assurances:

—The backfire, which could reach U.S. territory on a one-way bombing mission, will not be stationed close to the United States in the Soviet Arctic and no tanker fleet will be developed to refuel the bomber in flight.

—The backfire is a regional weapon and will not be used for strategic purposes.

On the cruise missile issue, sources said, Kissinger is willing to accept a Soviet proposal letting both sides develop such missiles with a range of about 373 miles and banning those with a greater range.

The cruise missile is a modern version of the buzz-bombs flung at England by Germany in the Second World War. Russia has only short-range cruise missiles, but the United States is working on prototypes with ranges of up to 2,500 miles.

Thunder for a Hurricane

CLINTON, N.J. (AP) — Bob Dylan took his Rolling Thunder Revue to a small prison auditorium Sunday night to help publicize the cause of Rubin (Hurricane) Carter, a former boxer seeking a new trial on his conviction of murdering three men in 1966.

The minimum-security prison here, the Clinton Institution for Women, has 30 prisoners, 10 of whom are men.

Carter was transferred there about one month ago.

Before the concert, poet Allen Ginsberg talked about why he felt the appearance by the entertainers was important.

"There was a sense that protest was dead in the artistic community. But this concert tonight is a symbolic sense of the 1970's commitment," said Ginsberg, who sings on the tour in the background.

Plant Hunting Good Reading

Winter evenings bring opportunity for book study. With an interest already evident in gardening you are likely to have a subject about which you would like to know much more.

If there is nothing you want to know and yet consider that you do some gardening, why not read a book on plant hunting? This is high adventure at its most earthy level.

Victoria Public Library and its branches are a fine source of books on every phase of gardening, including plant hunting. To be recommended are Kingdon-Ward's Pilgrimage of Plants; and those by John Bartrum and his son William about their search for plants in eastern America suitable for cultivation.

Frank Kingdon-Ward's book was published in 1960. It deals with the search for new species and forms of plants in the Tibet, Burma and Indo China regions. The incredible hardships of mountaineering are incidental to the importance of securing and preserving plant specimens and making sufficient accurate notes of their finding to be of use to posterity.

The Bartrams, father and son, are considered pioneers in plant hunting in North America for they worked 200 years ago in the hills of Pennsylvania, New York and neighboring states. Later they explore the little known rivers and swamps of the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida. It was on this series of trips they discovered the lovely relative of the camellia — Franklinia, still seldom seen.

As botanists and naturalists, these two men planted and maintained the first botanical garden in the United States. It still exists as part of Philadelphia's city parks.

Plant hunting is only one phase of gardening which may interest you as a home study course this winter.

If you are even mildly interested in rhododendrons your reading may be continued for years. I doubt whether another single genus has had so many original species retained in cultivation nor so much hybridizing carried out within so short a period of years. This is a truly fascinating genus to read about if you have the conditions in your garden to plant and enjoy a few of these lovely shrubs, either the dwarfs or the big ones. Each have their merits.

Your choice for reading may be the lowly primula. In the public library shelves you find volumes devoted to this genus.

If you didn't know before, you will discover that Polyanthuses, Primroses, Cowslips and Auriculas belong in the one genus Primula. These plants have a long history among plant hunters looking for wild species, and among hybridizers who are still raising entirely new plants.

Should your chief interest be in raising food plants throughout the year, your winter reading schedule will be full. Almost every vegetable and fruit has more than one book devoted to its culture, plus all those dealing with vegetable or fruit growing in a general way, in greenhouse, under cloches, in coldframes or in the open garden.

Few hobbies are as well represented in library shelves as gardening. As you read, inevitably you find the book with the most answers to your questions. This will be the one to order and buy from a local bookstore for not many of us can retain the contents of a book in our mind for ready reference.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD HOUSE

Yes this was the old home before the homestead was divided into lots, consequently has kept the largest lot in this new area, and in my opinion the most elegant home. 3 bedrooms, 2 up and 1 down, den, lovely large living room with bay window and large fireplace. Heavy wall-to-wall carpet. Large family kitchen with many built-in cupboards. Ultra modern bathroom. Full dry basement houses workshop and extra room. Large aviary for you hobby. An ideal home for the large family who cannot afford the high prices. This one priced away down for a quick sale at $49,900. MLS 14905.

BEAUTIFUL HOME

This exceptionally beautiful property is in an ideal location with absolute privacy. The contemporary style, quality material and workmanship, and forward thinking design will mark this home a winner for decades to come. A winding driveway widens to spacious paved parking to a ground level entrance and double carports. Inside, reception areas for both front entrance and to the super-large and beautiful sundeck, are paved with gleaming, thick, natural slate. The 31x17.5 living-dining area is a natural for gracious living and smart entertaining. Subtle planning defines the dining area. Oak floors, mahogany plank panelled walls, enormous plate glass windows combine with vaulted ceiling and inviting fireplace to complete this area. There's a full guest bathroom with slate floor. Main bedroom, 17x11.5 has more big plate glass windows, a lovely 4-pce bathrm., big ward-robe and a connecting study that also has entrance from hallway to double as guest room. The kitchen is a sunny birch masterpiece of efficiency and beauty with appliances, slate floor and a custom built copper fan-hood and one complete floor to ceiling wall of storage space. Down open stairs, just off the living rm., is a 27x19.5 recreation rm. with the same big windows and a lovely fireplace. There's a big bed-sitting rm., another bedrm., a pretty 4-pce. bathrm plus a spacious room for hobby or dark rm. or just storage. All this at ground level. Heating is oil hot water. The 150 ft. wide property has just enough garden for charm and beauty, the balance is in Dogwood Cedars, Firs and Maples with all boundaries wooded. The lovely seaviews look across to the Peninsula, Gulf Islands and Mount Baker. Priced at $89,500, it is well below replacement value. Viewing is by appointment only, with GRAY LORENZEN 652-1038 anytime. Malahat Realty Ltd., 743-5525, Box 40, Mill Bay.

SINTERKLAAS, in full traditional regalia, arrived at the Inner Harbor Saturday and was met by children from Victoria's Netherlands community and escorted to a party at Holland House. The Dutch tradition has the giving of Christmas gifts on Dec. 6, with Dec. 25 being strictly a religious celebration.

Energy Bill 'Giveaway'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several House Democrats have attacked an energy bill they contend will result in a "$6 billion give-away" to major oil companies.

Rep. John Dingell (Dem.—Mich.) said he and others will try to defeat a bill to fund the Energy Research and Development Administration because a House-Senate conference committee tacked on a $6 billion loan guarantee program for synthetic fuel development.

Dingell said there were no hearings on the conference committee action. But a Senate commjttee official said there were extensive hearings on the proposal on the house before it went to conference.

The bill started out as a $5 billion authorization for ERDA, the new agency that co-ordinates federal energy research.

But the Senate added the loan guarantee provision and the house members of the joint conference committee accepted it. The money is for guarantees to encourage industry to build plants for synthetic fuels from materials such as shale and coal.

"Who are the chief beneficiaries of this $6 billion giveaway?" Dingell asked in a statement, and answered himself: "None other than those great and benevolent giants of our energy supply industry—the oil and natural gas pipeline companies.

"Those wonderful, consumer-oriented bastions of free enterprise are seeking a $6 billion handout from the public treasury to finance ventures they find too risky to finance for themselves out of corporate assets," he said.

Senate interior committee staffer Dan Dreyfus said the charge there were no hearings is "ridiculous." He said that after the Senate passed the bill in July and long before it went to conference, the house science committee held hearings in Washington and elsewhere.

Ford Sums Up Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford turns his attention to domestic matters this week after proclaiming his Asian trip "beneficial" and indicating that plans are in the works for a trip to the Mideast.

Ford returned to the White House early today after a 27,000-mile trip that he said contained "no minuses and many, many pluses." He climaxed his journey in Honolulu with a six-point "Pacific doctrine" for United States foreign policy and held out the possibility of future U.S. friendship with Vietnam and Cambodia.

A reporter, mindful of rumors that Ford now plans to travel to the Mideast early next year, asked about any such plans.

"There are no definite plans," the president replied. But he said that he probably will go to the Mideast "at some point."

Ford said he found his talks in Peking, Jakarta and Manila were "very substantively beneficial."

Ford flew home from Honolulu where he chose the anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor to reveal his "Pacific doctrine" in a speech in Honolulu.

"The first premise of a new Pacific doctrine is that American strength is basic to any stable balance of power in the Pacific," Ford said. And, noting Japan's transition from enemy to friend, the president held out the chance of U.S. friendship for Cambodia and Vietnam, saying:

"Our policies toward the new regimes on the Indochinese peninsula will be determined by their conduct toward us. We are prepared to reciprocate goodwill-particularly the return of the remains of Americans killed or missing in action, or information about them. If they exhibit restraint toward their neighbors and constructive approaches to international problems, we will look to the future rather than the past."

Back in the capital, Ford is facing decisions on a variety of issues and is expected to sign a bill to provide emergency assistance to help solve New York's fiscal crisis.

U.S. UN Stand Defended

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Daniel Moynihan defended his use of blunt language Sunday, saying: "We think that the United Nations matters and we want to stay there, we think that the only way to stay there is to stay there and fight.

"Other nations normally behave the way we have been behaving recently" at the World organization, Moynihan said in a pre-recorded appearance on the ABC television program Issues and Answers.

Accompanied by Pearl Bailey, the entertainer recently named special adivser to his UN delegation, the ambassador said:

"You have to go into that building, the United Nations . . . to know that harsh attack, spewing hatred . . . is the order of the day over there."

Praising Moynihans approach, Miss Bailey said: "I think he does speak from the heart. I think the greatest accomplishment that will happen there is to finally get men to sort of get rid of some of the paper and tell the truth . . . like it is.

"I do wish the American people and people of all nations would come and listen to how this world is getting torn asunder," she said. "I have never heard such an exchange as between China and Russia the day they each took the podium three times."

Controversy over Moynihan's style surfaced in November after the General Assembly overrode Western opposition to a resolution equating Zionism with racism. Amid reports that he considered resigning because of lack of White House support. Moynihan met President Ford and returned saying he was encouraged to continue speaking out.

The former Harvard professor was asked on the program what the United States might do about reported Soviet infiltration into Africa, a new issue he has recently raised.

"What the United States ought not to do— and we are not doing—is to remain silent about it," Moynihan replied. "There is a curious number of people over in that UN building who will yell and scream about the fact the United States has two coast guard stations in the Virgin Islands, but curiously remain silent about the pro-Soviet expeditionary force in Angola."

Looters Follow Flood Waters

Times News Services

SEATTLE — Looters came on boats and in trucks to pick up what they could after the multimillion-dollar flood in western Washington.

Snohomish County deputy sheriff Frank Ottenstror said Sunday there has been more than 100 incidents of looting — and cattle rustling where high ground allowed trucks — at homes laid bare by receding waters.

Many thieves used boats to carry their haul. National Guardsmen were ordered on 24-hour jeep patrols in the Snohomish Valley until residents could return home.

County and state highway engineers and county assessors started to total up the cost of the flood. Drowned livestock alone accounted for millions of dollars of the loss and National Guardsmen prepared to help remove the thousands of dead carcasses.

State director of emergency services Tom Pryor said damage estimates would be sent to Washington, D.C.

Unofficial damage estimates are up to $50 million. Only about $5 million of the total is covered by insurance.

Cows valued at $700 apiece are floating in the rivers and flood pools. The waters drop and leave carcases hanging from trees, tangled in bridges and piled in barns.

And the cows that lived through it, that swam to high land, or were towed to shore, scampered on to porches or otherwise were able to escape drowning still face a threat.

Barns are traditionally built on the highest ground on a farm to avoid flooding. For this reason none of the 200 cows on Erlin Skrinde's Snohomish dairy farm drowned.

But as Skinde looked at his cows standing up to their bellies in cold water, mooing in pain from not being milked, he said, "some of them will die of mastitis inflamation of the mammary glands."

Let The Party Begin

IAN RENDLE says:

CARING FOR PEOPLE IS A MAJOR RESPONSIBILITY

- Mincome will be improved by providing automatic adjustments upward to meet any rise in the cost of living.
- Community nursing homes for senior citizens will be constructed as a top priority.
- Pharmacare will be expanded to cover the prescription needs of chronically ill children.
- A preventive dental health program followed by Denticare for Senior Citizens and children will be developed.
- Provincial income taxes will be eliminated for citizens 65 years of age or over, on incomes up to $5,000.
- And Senior Citizens would be exempted from property taxes under a system of outright tax grants.

Family Life Program

This letter is to express my great concern over the following issues.

First, the irresponsible action of the trustees of the Sooke school board in acquiescing to the demands of a small group of parents to abandon the family life program. An elected body is in trust to hear all opinions and if any trustee feels he or she has not the fortitude to withstand pressure until all sides of the issue are known, he or she should resign.

Second, the Sooke school board failed to inform and consult all parents on the Sooke school district about the family life program. When an issue arises that is possibly contentious and that will affect all children in the area, the Sooke school board must inform and consult all parents through home and school associations, or lacking such an organization, through specially planned school meetings, and consider all concerns, ideas and wishes expressed before any decision can even be contemplated.

As president of the Millstream Home and School Association I know the parents of this area have not received adequate information nor have they been given the opportunity to express their opinions. On their behalf, I should like to have such a meeting organized.

Third, I am distressed at the apparent ignorance of some of the trustees. The book Boys and Sex by Wardell B. Pomeroy, while it may be unpalatable to some adults, is certainly not pornographic. Quite the contrary, Dr. Pomeroy is recognized as one of the most respected names in sex education and research in North America. My personal opinion is that the book is excellent and should be available as a resource book to teachers in the Sooke school district.

I urge you too reconsider your hasty decision and to meet with parent associations to discuss the future of a Family Life Program in the Sooke School District.—Patricia Spellacy, President, Millstream Home and School Association.

Concerned Parents

The Concerned Parents do not advocate censorship. We recognize a merchant's right to sell whatever line of merchandise he wishes — within the limit of the law.

Concerned Parents also have rights. We have the right to protect our children from material which is undesirable to us, such as sexually oriented, obscene or pornographic books and magazines displayed in some stores in the area.

We, as concerned parents, are requesting that merchants who want our business, place this merchandise in a less conspicuous place, out of the reach and out of the sight of children.

To those merchants who do not carry the material, we say congratulations.

To those who have already moved the merchandise, we say thank you.

To the remaining merchants, we have great faith in the businessman's concern for "happy customers" and we know you will help the parents by raising the standards of your store to a "family store." — Mrs. Bonnie Fournier, Chairman, Concerned Parents of Colwood, Langford and Metchosin.

Mincome Aspects

Several media and opposition statements including one from Hugh Curtis — late Progressive Conservative and now Socred — have been made which deal with the cost-sharing aspects of Mincome so I felt that the facts should be presented to the voters.

Of 119,242 (July 1973) guaranteed income supplement (federal government) recipients, 89,139 receive a Mincome (provincial government) supplement. This costs the province $2.2 to $2.5 million a month and is not shared by the federal government.

The age benefit program for 22,879 people between 60 and 64 costs $4.53 million a month but only $1.737 million of this is shared by the federal government. Therefore of the $4.53 million the federal government only pays $860,000.

The handicapped program for 9,648 costs $2.2 million a month but the federal government pays only $850,000 of this amount.

Recipients	Total cost per month	Gross shareable amt. (50-50)	Amount returned to Province by Ottawa
121,666	$9.019 million	$3.438 million	$1.718 million

So, of the monthly total of $9.019 million per month Ottawa contributes $1.719 million or 17 per cent not 90 per cent. Mincome means the provincially initiated program only, not the total federal-provincial package of old age support.

The other special programs for seniors, homemaker services, meals on wheels, transportation and home visitations are not included in the above. In addition Pharmacare is provided exclusively by the province except for those who receive Pharmacare and who are on social assistance. This cost is shared with the federal government. In the 1971-72 fiscal year, the last Socred year, $7.1 million was spent on health care and drugs for all social assistance recipients. For the 1975-76 year, $38.5 million is alloted for the same purpose (including Pharmacare). Prior to Pharmacare many senior citizens did not fill their prescriptions for lack of funds.

It might be interesting to know that Premier Dave Barrett's amendment to the budget speech of 1972 which would have provided a $200 guaranteed income for those 65 and over was ruled to be in order by the speaker but was voted out by the Socred majority. Those who voted against the amendment and who are still on the political scene include Alex Fraser, Ed Smith, Jim Chabot, Herb Capozzi, Evan Wolfe, Grace McCarthy and Cyril Shelford. As of July, 1975, 121,666 persons received some form of Mincome. In 1972 under the Socreds only 1,283 seniors received the maximum of $191 per month.

I think the voters should be aware of the above facts. — M. P. B. Wrixon, 301 1701 Cedar Hill XRoad.

Provincial Blight

If children were given the vote they would elect the candidate who offered them the most candies and the least discipline. They don't really understand that candies are not beneficial to health, and that permissiveness degrades the mind.

These facts have their analogy in the forthcoming election. To less mature minds, Mr. Barrett appears to be a political Santa Claus, handing out taxpayers' money to the needy. In reality, he and his colleagues are unscrupulous politicians whose naive philosophy depends upon the weaknesses present in human minds, in particular inexperience, laziness and fear.

I sincerely hope that when the people of British Columbia go to the polls, they will reflect upon the harmony of work, money, business and a wholesome standard of living. If thoughtful Liberals and Conservatives will put their differences aside at this time, then a unified free enterprise vote through the Social Credit party will remove this blight on our province. — Concerned Citizen.

Tourist Trade

I was amazed to find in the Tuesday night paper (Dec. 2) that Peter Pollen is now running on the Socred ticket in Victoria. I had thought that he had been rather decisively defeated at the nomination meeting. Perhaps the rumor is true that Bawlf is merely a puppet with Pollen pulling the strings. I wonder if he tests Sam's bath water as well?

The facts are that private interests such as the poverty-stricken CPR and well-heeled promoters like Bob Wright were going to let the Marguerite rot at its moorings and have the small business in Victoria rot with it. The facts are that Barrett and Williams knowing the importance of the Marguerite's tourist trade to the Victoria economy, sat down with the CPR, succeeded in cutting their price by half, refurbished it to its original grandeur and proceeded to put the Victoria tourist trade back on a stable footing.

Obviously, by his statements, Pollen doesn't give a tinker's dam about the small businesses in Victoria. It is perfectly clear that Barrett saved the bacon of the small stores, restaurants, motels and tour companies. Perhaps the real cause of Pollen's and Wright's indignation is the fact that Barrett and the NDP not only put people before the almighty buck, but in actual fact proved themselves better businessmen to boot.

Pollen should spend his last few days as mayor wondering why the moral of the Victoria police and civic workers is at an all-time low and why Barrett had to come to Victoria's aid to squash the horrendous Reid Centre development and to preserve other valuable Inner Harbour land. — Mike Shoop, 1437 Oliver Street.

Billy's Brains

How come Billy the Kid could accurately forecast the ICBC loss by counting on his fingers, while "Just Fine Dave", the former minister of finance, with all the books right under his nose, kept telling us everything was "just fine?" Could it be Davie has the gift of the gab, but Billy has the brains?—Mary Robertson, R.R. 1 Saanichton.

Trap Ban

The Association for the protection of Fur-Bearing Animals is pleased that the government of B.C. is the first provincial government to announce a ban on the leghold trap. It has been the aim of APFA for 30 years to abolish the use of the cruel leghold trap. We are sorry that the trap could not be banned sooner than in the next 2 or 3 years of Mr. Radford's government term of office. However, it is the hope of the APFA that by speeding the work of the federal-provincial committee on humane trapping in the testing and development of new, humane traps, humane traps will be found sooner and leghold traps banned sooner than in the next 2 or 3 years.

This announcement given now allows the trappers and trap manufacturers appropriate notification so that they can make the necessary plans and changes for the future. — Bunty Clements, President ,APFA, 928 Walker Street.

Socialist Hordes

Yes, once upon a time Great Britain was the greatest country in the world. But then came the socialist hordes and after a few years of that dreaded disease her pride and will were broken and she is now on her knees.

How any intelligent thinking person can vote for the NDP with that tragic example before us is beyond my comprehension. Make no mistake — Mr. Barrett and his gang of incompetents will do the same to us and our beautiful B.C. if they have another term. Yes, they have done more in three years than the Socreds did in 20 — for example they have managed to get unemployment up over the 100,000 mark, they have managed to drain the provincial coffers dry, drive revenue and job-producing industries out of the province, etc., etc.—Dismayed Citizen.

Filet Gumbo

I am deeply touched by the beatitudes from Bear Street (letter, Sooke Parables, Dec. 2). It warmed the very cockles of this old square's heart. I would like to say, Ernie my boy, you must be your party's pride and joy. Count your many blessing, name them one by one. See the noble works Lord Barrett has done. And Leo too, he gave to you $4,000 in long green for 100 days work in the piney woods. However, now prices are frozen and everyone is back at work. Next year I'll get $15 more per month for my Mincome. I will be able to buy a few extra tins of turkey treat to share with my old tom cat. But Ernie, you should stick to English. I don't understand those furrin' words of yours. Tell me, Ernie, tell me truly, if you can, what is this here filet mignon that seems to go with your grubstake. — Cornelius Marshall Smith, Box 91, Sooke.

Heritage Buildings

It's not so surprising that Mr. Bawlf wants to create a new governmental department and pour thousands of dollars into heritage buildings, since he does have a vested interest in the business. After all, he did restore the old buildings in downtown Victoria even if they are for commercial use only. I think they will be quaint enough for the tourists. I believe in taking care of our heritage too, but before brick and mortar comes our living heritage, namely, our senior citizens. How is Mr. Bawlf going to take care of them when rents skyrocket after Mr. Bennett takes away rent controls. It just goes to show where Mr. Bawlf's priorities lie. — Betty Miller, 38 Paddon Ave.

Juvenile Offenders

We have recently written to the attorney-general of B.C. asking if he can reassure us about a matter which is causing considerable concern. This is the inadequacy of the present laws concerning control of juvenile offenders.

This inadequacy enables juveniles under 18 to indulge in violent acts and vandalism without suffering any punishment. This seriously violates the human rights of all citizens, the right to a peaceful and lawful life. We have heard that the federal government proposes to reduce the age of criminal convictions to 14 years. What improvements in this area of law enforcement is your department considering? we asked him.

"In the coming months we anticipate that this department will participate in a dialogue with the federal authorities regarding their proposed bill to replace the Juvenile Delinquents Act. New initiatives will be taken in relation to young offenders who contravene provincial and municipal laws. We are continuing to develop more effective programs for the rehabilitation of chronic young offernders." — H. S. Thuillier, President, Greater Victoria Individual Rights Association.

Unprincipled Conduct

For 20 years we endured resource ripoffs, environment-be-damned policies and sudden up-country millionaires with their gas station corners and road contracts. Since we dumped them in 1972, we have witnessed many desperate Socred attempts to regain power by any and all means. Here are a few items to mull over:

Remember last spring the phoney real estate take-over letter with its substitute paragraph photocopied in, which turned out to be a sneaky attempt to inflame the real estate boys. Then the forged endorsement on Mr. Levi's cheque.

Now we have a Socred leader proclaiming the election was called because the NDP government did not like the report of the committee on redistribution, being brought to time by Judge Norris, since the report had not even been handed in to the government until three days following Barrett's calling the election.

Who is stealing the dozens of NDP signs which are disappearing from people's private property?

Consider the ugly aspects of potential Liberal and Conservative candidates being intimidated from running for office, thereby splitting the right-wing vote. This in a democracy.

All this crowned by an aspiring premier stooping so low as to read a stolen program, in public (delivered to him in a plain brown envelope indeed), in his frantic run for power. Then howling about breaches of security.

How brainwashed do you have to be to support unprincipled conduct like this? —Ruth J. Masters, Courtenay.

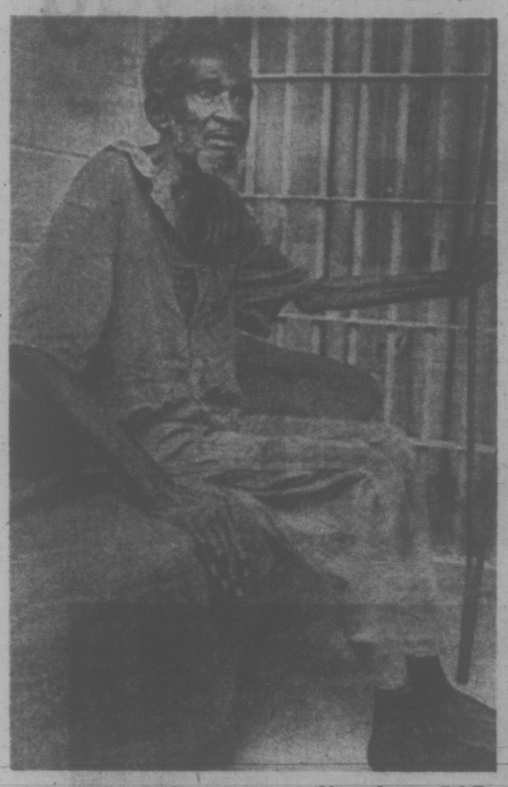
Gin and Friendly Ghosts Help Possum's Days Roll By



Possum Slim . . . jailbird at 105

APOPKA, Fla. (CP) — Ed (Possum Slim) Myers spends a lot of his time in a small, dark bathroom, sipping gin to keep his spirits up and chatting with a couple of ghosts who he says come calling pretty reg'lar.

"Just two ghosts," he wants to make clear. "The only woman I ever loved and the only woman I ever shot dead. They both forgive me."

He thinks about that a lot because what distinguishes Possum, apart from his grinding poverty, his loneliness and his candor is his age and legal status. He's 105 years old and he's been convicted of manslaughter.

"I's just sittin' here studyin'," he tells a visitor, "wonderin' how I got me where I is and whether I'll ever go home again. Have to depend on Jamie. He's seein' me through all this."

John (Jamie) Jameison, a gifted 34-year-old lawyer who devotes most of his time to acting on behalf of marginally-poor clients after a successful career as a political aide and private consultant in Washington, is Possum's lawyer, personal adviser and close friend.

Abruptly, it was time for a drink and all talking had to stop while Possum dug out a halfbottle of gin and took a long draw. "It's all that keeps me goin'. I'm setting' up here like a possum in a box all day, askin' Jesus to chain my enemies and get them out of the way. They gonna reap it. They gonna get it."

For Possum, enemy No. 1 is circuit Judge Troy Hall. When Possum was found guilty of manslaughter last June, Judge Hall banished him from his beloved Lake County home where he had lived on and off for 55 years and placed him on 15 years probation.

Possum wants to go back and Jameison is searching for arguments to back up his case. But he won't accept the proposition Possum wants to put to the judge.

"I knowed that damn judge when he still a little boy," Possum says. "Used to shoot rabbits and give 'em to him. Now I want to just walk up and say: 'Judge I got a plan. You let me go back to Sorrento (in Lake County) and people won't be able take advantage of me again.'

Possum Slim was born in Virginia in 1870 to former slave parents. He has vivid memories of his father, Pres, and his Mother, Wennie, who were kept in such a state of ignorance on the plantation that they never knew the names of the days of the week "for their own good."

He doesn't remember exactly how old he was when he ran away to California where he worked at odd jobs, mostly in citrus groves, until the First World War when he went to the shipyards.

It was in those years that he got the nickname Possum Slim because of his small size and a sideline of trapping and shooting possums for their hides.

Later, in his early 80s, Possum decided he'd had enough of living alone. "So I took to housekeepin' with Miss Mattie and we was common-law married 'til the Lord called her away three years ago."

That was when Possum's troubles started. Alone and friendless, he bought a bottle of whisky to give to a hard-living local woman on her 50th birthday.

"Like she always did, she asked for more," he says. "I take a few dollars out and show her that's all I got and she grabs it and run off with another man."

That was June 13 and for Possum it was the final insult. He grabbed his gun and followed the pair, wounding the man and cornering the woman in her house. He demanded the money back "and she reaches up her skirt and I knowed there was a gun there so I shoots, bam, bam, and she's dead."

If there was a gun, it was never found. "She tells me now when she comes to visit that I done right," he says, "and the Lord understands, I know that."

As his visitors prepare to leave, Possum looks mournfully at Jameison. "You forgettin,'" he says, and the young lawyer returns and embraces him. "That's better," Possum sighs, groping contentedly after his gin bottle.

If you hear sounds but don't always understand the words, the Clarifier Cros may be your hoped-for answer!

Next, She'll Want To Bring Back Dish Night . . .

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Louise Ainsworth is a movie fan and her tastes run to nostalgia classics starring Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall and other film greats.

So she was shocked to return from vacation to find Deep Throat and The Devil in Miss Jones on her favorite theatre's marquee.

She was not alone in her displeasure about the Carrollton Theatre's switch to X-rated films. A group picketed and newspapers editorialized against the change.

But Ainsworth decided to try the direct approach. She called the owner of the theatre, LeRoy Griffith, in Miami Beach and asked that Bogard and Bacall be given another chance.

So Bogie's back, thanks to Ainsworth.

"I called the owner in Miami Beach and asked him if he would give the classics a real trial again," Ainsworth said Sunday.

"He was a perfect gentleman, very pleasant to talk to. He asked me to write down what I thought would be good reasons to show these pictures, Then, later, I had another very delightful conversation with him and he said he would be willing to give these pictures a decent trial if New Orleans would allow him to make a decent profit.

"When they showed the old movies, many of the people in this area had not been able to go. When they started at 7 o'clock and ran only at night except for Sunday matinees, people who couldn't go to the movies because they wouldn't go out at night or for other reasons just didn't go."

Under the plan, Bogart and other classics will play as double features continuously from 10 a.m. to midnight, with a $1 admission on weekdays and a $1.50 charge weekends.

The first Bogie films, Casablanca and To Have and Have Not, start today.

"I'm strictly a volunteer, that's all," Ainsworth said of her efforts. "I'm a movie fan, and I've done all this on my own just because I like to go to the movies."

At the theatre, interest shown by patrons has been picking up, according to Cynthia Robbins, the assistant manager.

"I hope it does good. From the looks and the sounds of things, from the way people have been calling and all, it looks like it should go well."

"I'm really confident it will work," Ainsworth said. "The Cary Grants, the Myrna Loys, they were all so wonderful."

Sailing Champion

MONTEVIDEO, Uruaguay (AP) — Spaniard Felix Gancedo has won the world snipe class sailing championship for the second successive time after six days of competition.

Gancedo and Manuel Bernal scored 13.7 points. Americans Augie and Gonzalo Diaz finished second with 28.7.

N.S. Recreation Playing Catchup

HALIFAX (CP) — Recreation programs and facilities in Nova Scotia still are playing catch-up with those in other areas of Canada, says a professor at the Acadia University school of recreation who was recently elected president of the Recreation Association of Nova Scotia.

Bill White said in an interview here Nova Scotia is about 25 years behind Ontario in development of municipally-oriented programs.

"Things are happening so fast today in the recreation field that as soon as we feel we are catching up, new programs are initiated and we find outselves in the background once again," he said.

"However, this attitude of government is changing as the public demand for additional and better recreation programs is increased. Flexible working hours are becoming increasingly popular among many big companies as more and more employees ask for the change."

People also want more time off from their jobs. Most jobs were not self-satisfying, so people were looking towards recreation to fill their personal needs.

Most people were looking for recreation in creative pastimes — the arts, music, theatre and rama — and only about 20 per cent were involved in traditional physical sports.

"Municipal recreation committees are not interested in the elite sports activities such as professional football, hockey, baseball or whatever," Mr. Boone said.

ELECTION CORNER

SCOTT WALLACE

We are all rightly concerned about natural resources. Too often we think only of minerals in the ground and trees in the forests, when our most precious natural resource is people, particularly our young people.

They will inherit great responsibility for the future management and development of our Province in a world immensely more complicated than the world their fathers knew in their youth. This makes EDUCATION an extremely important issue for any modern government.

Technology and scientific advances have reduced the number of jobs requiring little skill. By the same token, it is imperative that our system offer students an appropriate curriculum, which provides them with the learning and skills required for available jobs.

HOW WELL DOES THE SYSTEM MEET THE NEED?

Many first year university students have been unable to write adequate essays and have failed examinations, because of their inability to communicate in writing, even though they have the knowledge in their head.

While our modern world offers a wide diversity of careers, our education system must ensure that students are given the opportunity to learn the basic skills of communication . . . The Three R's if you will. Our policy stresses that the department of education must maintain a core curriculum to ensure that basic skills are taught.

At the other end of the scale, we will give priority to increasing resources at kindergarten and primary levels, to detect individual problems at an early age, particularly learning disorders related to physical or [illegible] problems. The emphasis in the crucial early years must be in helping the child to learn how to learn.

With regard to sex education in school, parents must have the fullest opportunity to scrutinize and assess the content of the programme. They then must have complete freedom to choose whether or not their child will take part in the course.

We believe that society flourishes best when the individuals have choices. Hence we believe there should be alternatives to the public schools. A P.C. Government will give Legislative recognition to independent schools which meet the same standard set by Public Schools. A formula to provide financing has not yet been decided, but a voucher system providing an annual per student payment to the school is under study.

Our Party attaches the greatest priority to education as a means of enhancing and utilizing our most precious natural resource, the young people of British Columbia.

Bomb Hoax, Fight Mar Bennett Do

A boisterous Social Credit rally in Victoria high school Saturday night was marred by a bomb hoax and a fist-fight between a heckler and party supporters.

Socred leader Bill Bennett had barely started his address to the noisy, feisty crowd, when a heckler was heard in the back corner of the auditorium.

The second time the heckler shouted a question, a scuffle broke out with Socred supporters around him and the meeting came to a halt as the man was dragged out by a couple of beefy-looking bystanders.

Bennett quickly got the meeting back on course by saying: "That wasn't nice. That's no way to treat tourists in B.C. that we know the NDP has brought in."

Outside the auditorium, Adam Ustik, a 35-year-old provincial government employee, charged that he had been assaulted, left the meeting and returned shortly with two Victoria policemen.

In the meantime, three other police officials arrived and quickly told Socred organizers a bomb threat had been received and the bomb was allegedly hidden under the stage.

Metchosin Pair Held Captive

By DEREK SIDENIUS
Times Staff

A man believed to have escaped from William Head prison held a husband and wife captive for more than six hours Sunday as he ate their food, dried his clothes, had a bath, and then told them how he escaped.

Paul Joseph Desjarlais was arrested by RCMP shortly after 11 a.m. today near Chemainus. The wanted man was discovered hiding near where a camper truck, stolen Sunday night in Victoria, had been found abandoned. An RCMP spokesman said the man submitted without struggle.

"It was the most frighening experience of my life," Mrs. April McKenna 26, of 4611 William Head Road said this morning. "All I could think about was tomorrow people will be talking of me because I'll be dead."

She and her husband, Colin, 31, had just arrived home at about 11 a.m. Sunday after spending the night with friends on the Malahat when they discovered a window at the rear of their seaside log cabin had been smashed.

She said she thought at first it might have been broken by their Irish Setter trying to get out.

They opened the door, "expecting to find a bloody dog," walked into the kitchen when suddenly "this tall burly man stepped out from the pantry area, holding knives in each hand, and told us 'Don't be a hero'."

The description of the man matched that of Desjarlais, a 30-year-old inmate of William Head federal medium security prison who went missing at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. McKenna said the man pointed the knives at her and her husband but "made it plain he didn't want to hurt us provided we did as he said."

He told them he had put the dog in the bedroom. They asked him if he had hurt it and he replied No.

She said the man appeared "... and obviously desperate." He asked for some food. They told him to help himself. He

S.C. Crowd Reports 'Biased'

Victoria NDP officials have requested a formal inquiry into what they term the "biased reporting" of the Social Credit rally in Victoria on Saturday by CTV.

In a telegram today to Canadian Radio and Television Commission (CRTC) acting chairman Harry Boyle, the NDP allege that CTV's Andy Stephen inaccurately reported a crowd of nearly 4,000 at the Victoria high school meeting.

"In fact," said the telegram, "in conformity with the fire regulations, the fire marshall for the city of Victoria allowed no more than 1,650 people into the building."

The Times had estimated the crowd at 1,800 to 2,000 but checked with the fire chief's office and was told the inspector on duty reported an attendance of about 1,600.

The inspector said there were 800 in the main auditori-

B.C. TOP CONTROL FANS

TORONTO (CP) — A survey conducted across Canada for CBC News indicates Canadians favor federal selective wage and price controls by a three-to-one margin, the CBC said Sunday.

The CBC said the controls received the most support in British Columbia where 76 per cent of those surveyed said they would back the controls. The least support was found in Quebec where 44 per cent of the persons surveyed said they would support the controls, the CBC said.

The survey, conducted by Adcom Research of Toronto from Nov. 25 to Dec. 3, indicates 61 per cent of Canadians favor the plan, 22 per cent oppose it and 14 per cent are uncommitted, the CBC said in a news release.

Portugal Appeals to UN Over Indonesia in Timor

Times News Services

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Portugal asked for an urgent meeting of the security council today, charging that Indonesia had military intervened in Portuguese Timor.

The request followed announcement by Indonesian foreign minister Adam Malik in Jakarta that Indonesian-led forces had captured Dili, capital of Portuguese Timor.

Portugal has broken off relations with Indonesia and the Indonesians, in turn, have ordered the Portuguese diplomatic representative in Jakarta to leave the country.

Political observers in Jakarta said the seizure of Dili would pave the way for incorporation of the four-century-old Portuguese colony as Indonesia's 27th province.

Malik told a news conference the invaders had quashed all resistence in Dili by the leftist revolutionary front for East Timor, known as Fretilin.

More than 1,000 Indonesian soldiers landing from warships spearheaded the attack on the remote colony, wracked by a bloody civil war since August.

There was no information on casualties.

Information Minister Mashur said Indonesian "volunteers" supported the attack on Dili, and a Fretilin broadcast said the Indonesians are pursuing the independence fighters in the hills.

The Portuguese government planned to give its half independence in 1978, but on Aug. 10 the Timorese Democratic Union UDT attempted a coup against the Portuguese. Fretilin forces opposed the UDT and took over Dili, and the Portuguese colonial administration fled to an offshore island.

Violence, a major issue in hockey these days, cropped up again on the weekend with Attorney-General Alex Macdonald, Gordie Howe and police in London, Ont., adding fuel to the fire.

Macdonald, blaming "people like Clarence Campbell and the big-league officials" for violence at games, said in Kamloops that an incident in Vancouver last Wednesday is being investigated by his department. Phil Roberto of Detroit Red Wings was assessed a match penalty and suspended indefinitely for deliberately trying to injure Vancouver Canucks Don Lever in a National Hockey League game. Page 12.

There's a vast difference between violence and plain, hard-hitting hockey, as Memorial Arena patrons learned Saturday night when Victoria Cougars edged Edmonton Oil Kings in a Western Canada Junior League game that was close and entertaining. Page 12.

St. Louis Cardinals, getting three first-half touchdown tosses from quarterback Jim Hart, rolled to a 31-7 triumph over Dallas Cowboys in one of three National Football League games of major importance. In the others, the injury-riddled Miami Dolphins overcame Buffalo Bills 31-21 and Washington Redskins rode Mark Mosley's 39-yeard field goal in the last five seconds to a 30-27 win over Atlanta Falcons. 'Cavalier Disregard' For Business Ethics

OTTAWA (CP) — Top Air Canada management was not dishonest but several executives failed to deal properly with the real nature of some controversial financial dealings by the publicly-owned airline, the Estey report says.

The report, tabled in the Commons today, says there was "cavalier disregard of the ordinary rules of business" in some of the deals investigated.

Washington Post Workers Vote No

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking pressman and stereotypers, by an overwhelming vote, voted "No" Sunday to what the Washington Post has called its final offer to end a walkout.

Contempt Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise offer from President Ford to head off contempt action against State Secretary Henry Kissinger was rejected today by the chairman of the House of Representatives intelligence committee.

Inflation Drop Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A moderation in food and energy prices and an increase in worker productivity should cause the inflation rate to come down to 6 per cent for the next year, predicts U.S. assistant commerce secretary James Pate.

Twister Chews Town

PORT HEDLAND, Australia (AP) — Cyclone Joan chewed up Port Hedland, a town of 13,000 in northwest Australia, today. A police spokesman reported: "Practically every house in town has its roof torn off. It's been a bloody disaster here."

The police reported one casualtiy a man with a broken arm. Storm warnings were issued hours before the cyclone's 120-mile winds reached the town, and everyone took shelter.

Officials said the storm left 50 families homeless, destroyed all but one wing of the hospital and one out of every nine houses, and damaged 85 per cent of the town's other buildings.

They said there was two feet of water outside the police station after 16 hours of rain and that flooding had isolated the town by road.

"There was no panic, nothing like that," the police spokesman said. "Some people are already cleaning up."

"We're organizing a search right now, from one end of town to another, to see if there are any people in the wreckage," said emergency service controller Dick Langley.

TORY BOOST FOR KAREN

One riding where Social Credit warnings about splitting the so-called free enterprise vote seems to be unheeded is the northern Vancouver Island constituency of Comox. There Tory candidate Vic Stephens has been running such a strong campaign he is expected to ensure the re-election of the NDP's Karen Sanford. Linda Hughes reports on Page 5.

IRA REFUSES VICTIM TRADE

LONDON (UPI) — Four trapped Irish Republican Army gunmen today rejected a police offer to provide them with food and cigarettes in exchange for the release of a woman they are holding hostage with her husband in a small apartment living room.

(See Picture Page 3)

"Absolutely not," came the answer on a hot-line telephone between the IRA gang's besieged Dorset Square refuge and the police outside. It came as the ordeal was in its second day.

The IRA gang is believed to include Britain's most wanted man, Michael Wilson, said by the police to be responsible for London-area bombings that have killed 27 persons and wounded 540 in the past 18 months.

Wilson is wanted for the murder of Ross McWhirter, co-founder of the Guinness Book of Records. McWhirter was shot to death 10 days ago after offering a reward for the capture of the bombers.

The offer to provide food and cigarets to the gunmen in exchange for Mrs. John Matthews was made via the hot-line telephone connecting the second-floor living room on Dorset Square with police outside.

With police in hot pursuit, the gunmen seized Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, aged 54 and 53, respectively, Saturday night in their apartment, then barricaded themselves in the 13-by-14 foot living room overlooking the street.

They were given water, a portable toilet and toothache pills for Mrs. Matthews, but the police refused late Sunday and early today to supply requested food and cigarettes. Then they made the exchange offer.

Mediator Fails In Amsterdam

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — A mediator tried for two hours today to negotiate the release of four children held by South Moluccan rebels at gunpoint in the Indonesian consulate but he failed and left the building grim-faced and silent.

The children are among a group of more than 20 hostages held in the consulate by gunmen demanding freedom for their South Asian homeland from Indonesia. Another 31 hostages were being held for a seventh day on a hijacked train near the town of Beilan.

The Rev. Semol Metiary, a Protestant clergyman from South Moluccs, took out with him a white envelope containing the Dutch government's "guidelines" in negotiations with the gunmen who seized the hostages in a raid on the Amsterdam consulate last Thursday.

At least two attempts to secure the safe release of the children collapsed over the weekend. The gunmen stuck firmly to their demands for Dutch government support of South Moluccan independence from Indonesia.

The Netherlands has firmly rejected any deal with the gunmen at the consulate or with the six holding an estimated 31 persons at gunpoint on a two-ear train at Beilen, 75 miles north of Amsterdam, in the second of the two long running sieges.

A government source at the crisis centre in the capital of The Hague said chances for ending the twin standoffs without bloodshed were "bleak, to say the least."

The Dutch government has mobilized more than 1,000 heavily armed police and troops, including special anti-terrorist squads, around both sites.

Stop Smoking, Nobel Trio Urges

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Th three winners of the 1975 Nobel Prize in medicine today blamed outside environmental factors for causing up to 80 per cent of cancer in human beings.

About half of the cancer from these factors could be eliminated, but the population appears to turn its back on expert advice, they said. The three said the most prominent outside cancer-causing factor was cigarette smoking.

Profs. David Baltimore, Howard Temin and Renato Dulbecco won this year's prize for their "discoveries concerning the interaction between tumor viruses and the genetic material of the cell."

Appearing at a news conference prior to the Nobel Prize awarding ceremonies Dec. 10, Temin, of the University of Wisconsin, said:

"Well over half or up to 80 per cent of cancer in human beings is caused by things in the environment. The first thing is to recognize them and the second is to remove them. If they were removed, about 50 per cent of these cancers could be prevented."

Baltimore, from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said even if these factors are identified, he doubted if the population would heed the advice of the experts.

"People still smoke," he said. "The number of youngsters smoking is appalling."

Baltimore said some cancers are caused by high fat content in food and to warn people of the risks they are running "is just not going to work to get them to avoid these things."

Asked what was the most important development in cancer research during the past three years, Dulbecco, who is currently researching at the Imperial Cancer Research Laboratory in London, said without hesitation, "the proof between cancer and smoking."

Temin said: "Now we can shift our attention to things in the environment that cause cancer. Therefore most cancers can be prevented. The most practical thing that could be done is for people to stop smoking."

Wall St. Begins A New Upswing

The market backed away from its headlong decline of last week at New York, apparently having absorbed the brunt of investor worries over the economic recovery.

The closely watched Dow fell 41.87 to 8118.80 last week, its biggest weekly drop in a year. Analysts pegged the slump to investor concern that the economic recovery was faltering and on the chance that interest rates may soon turn higher.

At mid-day, as the market began its upturn, Sen. James B. Allen who led opponents of the bill providing $2.3 billion in loans for New York City, said he would no longer seek to delay the measure and predicted its passage by Thursday.

Although issues declining in price on the New York Stock Exchange held a slight lead over those advancing, the exchange's composite index moved ahead 0.15 to 45.99 by 2 p.m.

Toronto

Prices in all major sectors at Toronto moved sharply lower in slow mid-afternoon trading, extending last week's steep decline

Falconbridge Nickel, which said the anti-inflation board has approved a 17 per cent wage increase for employees at the company's mill in Sudbury, Ont., fell ⅝ to $28⅞.

Inco A lost ½ to $24⅜, Texasgulf ½ to $28½, Canadian Imperial Bank ⅜ to $25½, Price Co ⅜ to $13½ and Husky Oil ⅜ to $17½.

Nu-West Development B gained ¾ to $12, Dofasco A ½ to $23, and Steinberg's A ¼ to $18.

Among mines, Western dropped 60 cents to $2.65, Preston ¼ to $13¼ and Pan Central Explorations 19 cents to 91 cents. Roman Corp. rose ⅜ to $12⅞ and Dension ¼ to $53½.

Montreal

Prices were lower in moderate trading at Montreal.

Volume at 2:30 p.m. was 254,500 shares compared with 437,200 shares traded up to the same time Friday.

Interprovincial Pipeline fell ¼ to $12, Imperial Oil A ⅛ to $23½, Atco A ⅛ to $12½, Noranda A ⅜ to $29¼, Abitibi Paper ⅛ to $8⅝ and Domtar ½ to $17¾. Massey-Ferguson rose ⅛ to $18⅞.

London

The Financial Times index fell 6.8 to 360.8 by the close of trading.

Analysts said the low volume of trading showed investor concern about the expected announcement of an economic package by the United Kingdom

Postal Staff Doubled For Yule Rush

Victoria post office has hired 584 Christmas helpers to assist the 550 regular employees with a mountain of parcels and letters.

The hiring began Friday and was completed on the weekend. Many had worked last December as well. No further hiring is planned.

"It is useful to hire people who have worked in previous years because they are experienced workers," public information officer Buz Sawyer said.

Of the permanent staff, all but one have returned to work. One inside worker has not yet reported.

The load consisted of 2.5 million pieces of mail and weighed about 25 tons.

Normally the post office handles 400,000 pieces of mail per day, rising to about 1 million in December.

Loads of mail to businesses and homes are expected to be unusually heavy this week as the post office begins delivering the backlog of letters and parcels.

With all post offices in the country back on regular shifts, mail from out-of-town points is expected to be unusually heavy all week.

However, the Victoria post office has enough workers to handle the load and is "on top of the situation," Sawyer said.

By contract, regular post office workers may apply for overtime to handle the heavy load. Following that, the hours of regular part-time employees will be extended and then, if the load requires more workers, the Christmas help will be brought in.

The post office does not expect to have to hire more Christmas workers this year, Sawyer said.

Yule help is hired through Canada Manpower during the first week of December. Their wage is $2.75 to $3 per hour, depending on their classification.

Christmas workers are already on the job in Vancouver. About 2,100 were hired there on the weekend and some were brought in for the midnight and early morning shifts.

Top Debater

Victoria debater Dermod Travis, 15, of St. Michael's University School, won the Western Canada Debating Seminar Saturday in Winnipeg.

One hundred speakers from the four western provinces took part in the event, which determines who goes on to the next level of competition and the national finals before the end of school term.

Travis is a grade 10 pupil and competed as a senior for the first time following his win with a junior debating team in Nanaimo last month, repeating his success at that level in 1974.

City Merchants All Smiles As November Sales Up 15-20%

Retail sales were strong in Victoria during November, up as much as 20 per cent from the previous November, according to a study by Canada Manpower.

Department stores and shops aim for an increase of 15 per cent but in November they were doing better than average with results in the 15 to 20 per cent range.

This good news for the economy is bad news for the consumer. Because of the heavy spending there will be fewer pre-Christmas sales this year, store managers say.

Stores reporting a 20 per cent increase had a net growth of 7 per cent, allowing 13 per cent for inflation over the past 12 months.

All retail items were selling well in November, except for Christmas cards, and department stores reported customers seemed to be favoring higher quality goods, indicating there was a lot of prosperity in the city, despite the recession.

Merchants were optimistic that the brisk retail pattern would continue through December.

Stan Purdy, manager of the Victoria Canada Manpower centre, said most of the large stores have already lined up their Christmas help and some have started work. Many stores have begun offering extended shopping hours.

Elsewhere in the economy hiring is on a holding pattern with people being hired only to replace those who are leaving.

Demand for woodworkers was at a low level in November and extended Christmas layoffs are expected in the bush. There is some hope for a higher level of production in January if orders increase.

The fishing industry has closed and no activity is expected before March. The local fish processing plant has reduced staff from 50 to a maintenance crew of 20, which will continue wholesale activities and smoke curing.

The harvest has been completed but there have been some orders for dairy workers and for greenhouse workers in connection with Yule plants.

The Canada Manpower survey, conducted by information director Dan Bowes, shows that construction activity in November was aehad of the same period in 1974. Outlook for the new year is good with several large new projects just starting.

There has been a reduction in shipyard workers to 700 from 775 but there is enough work on hand to last until spring.

The number of jobs listed by the provincial civil service is down to 40 per week, much below normal levels, and no increase is expected in the near future.

Federal government hiring is also low at this time.

The have been 69 LIP projects approved for this area providing 11,560 man-weeks of work. As of the end of November, 58 projects had started, employing 255 workers.

There was very little hiring by municipal government in December and this pattern was expected to continue through December.

Who'll Win the Election —Or Why Nobody Knows

My friend Al Fotheringham, the talented and astringent columnist for the Vancouver Sun, has made it a habit for several years, before each provincial and federal election, to poll a number of experts in advance for their predictions of the outcome.

I expect that there's been a massive sigh of relief from these experts — one of whom happens to be your correspondent — that the mail strike interfered with the sadistic exercise this time around since, in the past, a good 90 per cent of those polled have been spectacularly wrong.

In retrospect, of course, each and every one of these experts has been able to tell why the election went as it did — some, indeed, can't be shut up — but calling the shots has proven to be as risky as Russian Roulette.

Since I have been as wrong—or even wronger—than the other people on Al's list I'm happy to be off the hook and never happier than right now since this particular election, whatever else may be said of it, seems to defy even an informed guess. I know who I want to be elected, of course, but I expect that's all even the so-called experts know for a certainty.

* * *

Truth is, I hadn't realized the full impertinence of British Columbia election predictions until recently when a visiting Londoner, Drew Webster, a long-time journalist and predictor of British elections, with a high batting average, solicited my help, among others, on the idiosycrancies of our provincial politics. My hunch is that Drew went on his way more confused than enlightened. As for me, it convinced me that you might as well consult an ouija board as to make any rational judgment on how it will go, ever.

There are, of course, shocks and surprises in many British elections, but they do work to an identifiable pattern which can hardly be said to be the case on these slopes. By and large the Parliament, fluctuating between Labor and the Conservatives, reflects the views of the country as a whole so that provincial or county elections at the local level very often provide an advance look at who will be in power at Westminster next time around.

Here, as there, it is the uncommitted voter who makes the difference, but here practically everybody is uncommitted and there's simply no political barometer that can be trusted to anticipate the weather ahead.

We have, for example, and thank God, no class distinctions, which are the very basis of the British electorate. It can be said that the working man and woman, especially in the union movement, supports Labor and the rest support the Conservatives, though, as I say, it is the free-spirited floater who may make the difference.

I saw this once, very dramatically, on that strange night in the immediate post-war years when Clement Attlee upset Winston Churchill. I had spent the day in the Rhonda Valley, interviewing Welsh coalminers and their wives, and returned to Cardiff that night to hear the results. Since I was on a very generous expense account I checked in to Cardiff's grandest hotel. Most of the other guests could fairly be described as posh.

* * *

When Churchill took an early and apparently commanding lead the guests ordered champagne and cheered each new Conservative victory. Then the whole thing began to turn around. Attlee, so to speak, was coming up fast on the inside rail. At that very moment when it was clear that he would win, a result that left the guests crestfallen, there was suddenly a mad victory parade by the hotel's staff. Scullery maids and chefs and porters and chambermaids, all marvellously plastered, marched through the lounge, wildly cheering their triumph.

No such convenient guidelines are to be found here, I told Drew. Provincial politics not only bears absolutely no resemblance to federal politics, but most voters who endorse a party to run the country will reject it out of hand when it comes to running the province.

There is nothing that passes as a class distinction except, possibly, a purely economic division, though even that is not to be trusted. Whatever lip service, for example, that the NDP may get from organized labor it takes small comfort in the loyalty of the individual unionist. Many a union man with a fibreglass speedboat and a lottery ticket thinks of himself only as a capitalist and votes accordingly.

The Social Credit Party is equally confusing to an outside observer. For a man like Drew who knows a little bit about the economic theories of Major Douglas it comes as a surprise when you tell him that, in this country, the party might as well be called The Sani-Flush Party or the How's-Your-Sister Party, that "Bible Bill" Aberhart who gained power by sheer evangelism never had more than a faint idea of the theory or that the Elder Bernett knew even less.

Then, as now, it became a convenient catch-all and unblushing compromise for the believer in private enterprise, from the mightiest to the lowest.

Still, one might as well stick out one's neck. My forecast? Thirty-six for the NDP, 17 for the Social Credit, one for the Conservatives, one for the Liberals. But don't bet on it.

Johnson Jury Goes Out

The Crown and the defence completed their cases late this morning in the sixth day of the trial of Rodney Trevor Johnson, 24, of 2507 Vancouver.

Johnson was accused of armed robbery April 13 in Saanich involving a wallet and contents from Maurice Dutour of Surrey. His case is being heard by a jury and Judge Peter Millward in county court.

The last witness was Cpl. John Fahey of Saanich police, who said Johnson told him and another policeman in an interview April 15 he had no knowledge of the incident.

But later in the interview he said he and two other men met Dutour while drinking. Johnson said "It all happened so fast and we had his wallet."

Johnson denied a starting pistol was used and said he didn't get any share from the wallet, which, court was told earlier, contained $60.

Johnson testified that he did not participate in the robbery, did not agree with it and did not get any money from it.

The jury was expected to bring in its verdict late today.

BILL SCOTT'S WAY

Instead of spending money on his campaign, Bill Scott, running as an independent in Victoria, announced today he has donated $1,500 to charity.

"A lot of money is spent on elections; much of it is wasted," Scott said. "There are many needy and hungry people, both in Victoria and around the world. I decided to donate the money I might have spent to organizations that would help them."

Scott says he is presenting a $400 cheque to Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova's Unitarian Service Committee, for which the Times is running another year-end campaign this year. Scott said $400 cheques will also go to the Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace, as well as Oxfam of Canada.

In addition, Scott said he would give the Times, Colonist and Victorian $100 each, the money to be used to "help bring a better Christmas to local families."

He said he is running in the provincial election "because I feel people should have a chance to vote for something other than the official party line."

SUSPENSION REVIEW SET

Suspension of a Victoria West rest home licence by the provincial human resources department Friday will be reviewed Thursday afternoon by Community Care Facilities Licensing Board.

B.C. Rest Home Association president John Hanrahan, operator of Douglas House rest home, said the association would support licensee Mrs. Rudolf Baldauf if she wished to attend the hearing at which she is entitled to have counsel.

The special care licence for the Baldauf home at 228 Edward, known as Alston Residence, was lifted in a surprise move by human resources officials who took away seven patients for placement elsewhere.

Hanrahan said if Mrs. Baldauf did not appear Thursday —election day in the province —she would retain the right of appeal at a later time.

Mrs. Baldauf said today she was disturbed by the sudden move Friday, which followed an earlier attempt on her part to have the monthly fee per patient raised from $280 to a figure closer to $400 as paid to operators of similar accommodation in Victoria.

She said when she attempted to give up her licence Nov. 27 it was refused "because they were trying to play politics."

Now, having lost the licence, she is "satisfied, but it's the principle of the thing" to which she objects.

"It's like having the Gestapo appearing at the front door. Why the police cars? I wasn't going to make any trouble; they were going to do me a favor."

She asked why, if the department is concerned about standards of care, the licence was not suspended earlier.

Mrs. Baldauf noted two patients had returned to the home after being relocated.

"If patients were not being well looked after why did they come back?"

"I'm hoping for fairness, justice and equality for everyone," she said. "I'm hoping these incompetent people will be discharged."

If the department restored her licence and increased the fee, she would accept the new arrangement on principle, Mrs. Baldauf said.

Advance Voting Down

Advance voting was down in Greater Victoria last week with 3,001 eligible voters casting ballots compared to about 4,000 voting in the 1972 advance polls.

During the three days of balloting for people who will be away on election day, Thursday, a total of 1,185 Victoria residents cast ballots.

In Oak Bay 774 people cast ballots; in Esquimalt 617; and in Saanich 425.

One reason for lighter turnouts may be the timing of the election since the 1972 vote was taken in August when more voters would be effected by summer holidays.

Power Failed

Power failed in prime viewing time for Saturday night television, remaining out up to 2½ hours in the area of Richmond Road between Royal Jubilee Hospital and Cedar Hill Cross Road and also in Fairfield.

B.C. Hydro said the trouble appeared to be a cable connection near the hospital, which was not affected by the failure.

The failure occurred at 8:30 and service was fully restored at 11.24.

Milk–Not Pills

OTTAWA (CP) — When Dr. Donald Roy ordered all sleeping pills to be discontinued for residents at Island Lodge, a local home for the aged, he was nearly "tarred and feathered" by the irate elderly group.

"Warm milk," ordered the internist.

In no time, the wards were slumbering peacefully and the incidence of fractures reduced drastically.

"These peole had been taking sleeping pills for years before coming to a home for the aged," he said. "Often they would awake at some time during the night, get up and stumble over something and fracture a leg or hip or arm."

Dr. Roy said in an interview: "Not only did I order all sleeping pills to be discontinued, but also all vitamin preparations and in many cases tranquilizers."

He added that the sleeping pills made them feel groggy when they did wake up and "as far as I could see, served no purpose."

Ministers Advised Not To Spread Gloom

DEAR ABBY: My mother died in a hospital a year ago, and one thing still bother and one thing still bothers me.

I wish all those ministers and priests who go around to visit the sick would not tell them they should prepare to meet their God.

This happened to my mother, and she said she had no idea she was going to die. She did, of course, but I just know that had it not been for the minister's visits, my mother would have lived longer. She just gave up hope.

In the first place, the minister shouldn't even have visited my mother because she didn't belong to his church. She is an American Indian and didn't belong to ANY church.

We Indians believe that our church is the whole world. In all Good Books, it says, "The Lord created heaven and earth," so we worship any time, any place — not in a building, only once a week. And there is never a collection plate. Worship is free.

If you think this will help people to understand the faith of the American Indians, please put this in your column. Thank you—Jimmy Little Turtle, Harrisburgh, Pa.

DEAR JIMMY: I do and I will. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are planning our wedding for next spring. All of those I've selected for my bridesmaids have accepted. My problem: Two of the girls are very overweight.

After attending a wedding not long ago where four bridesmaids were overweight and four were slim, I decided I didn't want these heavy girls to be in my wedding. The procession was terrible. Fat, skinny, fat, skinny, fat, skinny and finally fat, skinny.

I just can't let my fat friends ruin my wedding. I know I should have thought of it before I asked them, but I didn't.

Abby, this will be hard for me since we've all grown up together. How can I tell the news to my two fat friends without hurting their feelings? —FAT-FREE WEDDING

DEAR FAT-FREE: You can't. And if you are that hung up on having uniformly slim bridesmaids, hire professional models. You've made your commitments. Stick with them.

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for two years and are beginning to think about having a family. My problem is that I am not sure I would make a good parent.

I become impatient with children who throw tantrums when they don't get their own way, and I have to fight the urge to discipline them when their parents stand by and do nothing.

I know I'd be a very strict parent. Would that be good or bad for a child?

You can't take a child back once it's here, so before having one I want to be sure I would make a good mother.

What do you think?—On The Fence.

DEAR ON: "Discipline" is a must. But a child needs love, too. If you have a lot of love to give, I'd say you have the two most important qualifications for parenthood.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law lives in my neighborhood. We both drive, but whenever we go anywhere together she is the one who picks me up. I suppose I should be grateful because it's her gas and her tires, but I'd prefer to pick her up or take my own car for the following reason:

When she picks me up, we are always anywhere from 15 minutes to an hour late. I am by nature a very punctual person, and I hate being late — especially when it's not my fault.

Yesterday, we arrived at a shower 40 minutes late because of her. I have had it!

How can I tell her I don't want her to pick me up any more without making an enemy of her?—Had It

DEAR HAD IT: What's wrong with the truth? Next time she offers to pick you up, tell her no and tell her why.

WHEELS

DEAR MIKE:

We have a 1973 Chevy van that I've been trying to fix for three months. About 45 mph, the front end shimmies. I have to slow down to 30 to make it stop. We've had the front end aligned three times, replaced the front wheels and tires, had brakes checked, put in new bearings, new shocks, sway bar, even a new steering box. Every mechanic including the Chevy guys say everything is as it should be, but I take them for a ride and they're stumped. I've put $350 into nothing, so maybe you can help.

THE SHAKER

DEAR SHAKER:

You don't mention ball jints. Sometimes they feel joints. Sometimes they feel hand, but they're actually not. Have the next shop take them out and inspect them. If that's not it, though, you've got a real problem.

DEAR MIKE:

My 1967 Buick has an oil leak at the top of the engine (430 V-8), at the gasket between the motor and the water pump. The point of leakage is about an inch wide. I've bought a bottle of liquid sealer but am hesitant about putting it in. Is there any danger to the engine when you use this stuff? Will it do the job?

SKEPTICAL

DEAR SKEP:

It can block oil passages, yes, and it probably won't seal the leak. Yours is too big. The best substitute for a bad gasket is a good gasket, and my advice is to change yours.

DEAR MIKE:

My dad bought me a 1970 Maverick 6. He adjusted the carburetor, since he does a lot of the family's car work, but now the engine pops and jerks and sputters and makes a terrible noise when it's cold. The motor shakes and sometimes won't shut off. I don't want to take the car back to my dad, since he did me the favor of buying me the car in the first place and then working on it, but I don't know what to do to correct the problem.

DUTIFUL DAUGHTER

DEAR DUT DAUGHTER:

Sounds as though your engine is idling too high, and possibly you're adjusted too lean. Give dear old dad another chance—I'm sure he won't mind.

DEAR MIKE:

My Pontiac won't start hot. The starter sounds like it's binding—very sluggish. Sounds like a low battery, but it's not. Cool, the engine spins like new.

GRINDING

DEAR GRIND:

Your starter bushings are gone. You might also have a worn armature. Pull the starter and check.

Bomb Hoax, Fight Mar Bennett Do

A boisterous Social Credit rally in Victoria high school Saturday night was marred by a bomb hoax and a fist-fight between a heckler and party supporters.

Socred leader Bill Bennett had barely started his address to the noisy, feisty crowd, when a heckler was heard in the back corner of the auditorium.

The second time the heckler shouted a question, a scuffle broke out with Socred supporters around him and the meeting came to a halt as the man was dragged out by a couple of beefy-looking bystanders.

Bennett quickly got the meeting back on course by saying: "That wasn't nice. That's no way to treat tourists in B.C. that we know the NDP has brought in."

Outside the auditorium, Adam Ustik, a 35-year-old provincial government employee, charged that he had been assaulted, left the meeting and returned shortly with two Victoria policemen.

In the meantime, three other police officials arrived and quickly told Socred organizers a bomb threat had been received and the bomb was allegedly hidden under the stage.

Saanich Socred MLA Hugh Curtis was called off the stage where he was sitting with other Social Credit candidates and warned of the threat.

Metchosin Pair Held Captive

By DEREK SIDENIUS
Times Staff

A man believed to have escaped from William Head prison held a husband and wife captive for more than six hours Sunday as he ate their food, dried his clothes, had a bath, and then told them how he escaped.

Paul Joseph Desjarlais was arrested by RCMP shortly after 11 a.m. today near Chemainus. The wanted man was discovered hiding near where a camper truck, stolen Sunday night in Victoria, had been found abandoned. An RCMP spokesman said the man submitted without struggle.

"It was the most frighening experience of my life," Mrs. April McKenna 26, of 4611 William Head Road said this morning. "All I could think about was tomorrow people will be talking of me because I'll be dead."

She and her husband, Colin, 31, had just arrived home at about 11 a.m. Sunday after spending the night with friends on the Malahat when they discovered a window at the rear of their seaside log cabin had been smashed.

She said she thought at first it might have been broken by their Irish Setter trying to get out.

They opened the door, "expecting to find a bloody dog," walked into the kitchen when suddenly "this tall burly man stepped out from the pantry area, holding knives in each hand, and told us 'Don't be a hero'."

The description of the man matched that of Desjarlais, a 30-year-old inmate of William Head federal medium security prison who went missing at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. McKenna said the man pointed the knives at her and her husband but "made it plain he didn't want to hurt us provided we did as he said."

He told them he had put the dog in the bedroom. They asked him if he had hurt it and he replied No.

She said the man appeared "... and obviously desperate." He asked for some food. They told him to help himself. He

S.C. Crowd Reports 'Biased'

Victoria NDP officials have requested a formal inquiry into what they term the "biased reporting" of the Social Credit rally in Victoria on Saturday by CTV.

In a telegram today to Canadian Radio and Television Commission's (CRTC) acting chairman Harry Boyle, the NDP allege that CTV's Andy Stephen inaccurately reported a crowd of nearly 4,000 at the Victoria high school meeting.

"In fact," said the telegram, "in conformity with the fire regulations, the fire marshall for the city of Victoria allowed no more than 1,650 people into the building."

The Times had estimated the crowd at 1,800 to 2,000 but checked with the fire chief's office and was told the inspector on duty reported an attendance of about 1,600.

The inspector said there were 800 in the main auditori-

B.C. TOP CONTROL FANS

TORONTO (CP) — A survey conducted across Canada for CBC News indicates Canadians favor federal selective wage and price controls by a three-to-one margin, the CBC said Sunday.

The CBC said the controls received the most support in British Columbia where 76 per cent of those surveyed said they would back the controls. The least support was found in Quebec where 44 per cent of the persons surveyed said they would support the controls, the CBC said.

The survey, conducted by Adcom Research of Toronto from Nov. 25 to Dec. 3, indicates 61 per cent of Canadians favor the plan, 22 per cent oppose it and 14 per cent are uncommitted, the CBC said in a news release.

Portugal Appeals to UN Over Indonesia in Timor

Times News Services

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Portugal asked for an urgent meeting of the security council today, charging that Indonesia had military intervened in Portuguese Timor.

The request followed announcement by Indonesian foreign minister Adam Malik in Jakarta that Indonesian-led forces had captured Dili, capital of Portuguese Timor.

Portugal has broken off relations with Indonesia and the Indonesians, in turn, have ordered the Portuguese diplomatic representative in Jakarta to leave the country.

Political observers in Jakarta said the seizure of Dili would pave the way for incorporation of the four-century-old Portuguese colony as Indonesia's 27th province.

Malik told a news conference the invaders had quashed all resistence in Dili by the leftist revolutionary front for East Timor, known as Fretilin.

More than 1,000 Indonesian soldiers landing from warships spearheaded the attack on the remote colony, wracked by a bloody civil war since August.

There was no information on casualties.

Information Minister Mashur said Indonesian "volunteers" supported the attack on Dili, and a Fretilin broadcast said the Indonesians are pursuing the independence fighters in the hills.

The Portuguese government planned to give its half independence in 1978, but on Aug. 10 the Timorese Democratic Union (UDT) attempted a coup against the Portuguese. Fretilin forces opposed the UDT and took over Dili, and the Portuguese colonial administration fled to an offshore island.

NEWS BRIEFS

'Cavalier Disregard' For Business Ethics

OTTAWA (CP) — Top Air Canada management was not dishonest but several executives failed to deal properly with the real nature of some controversial financial dealings by the publicly-owned airline, the Estey report says.

The report, tabled in the Commons today, says there was "cavalier disregard of the ordinary rules of business" in some of the deals investigated.

Washington Post Workers Vote No

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking pressman and stereotypers, by an overwhelming vote, voted "No" Sunday to what the Washington Post has called its final offer to end a walkout.

Contempt Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise offer from President Ford to head off contempt action against State Secretary Henry Kissinger was rejected today by the chairman of the House of Representatives intelligence committee.

Inflation Drop Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A moderation in food and energy prices and an increase in worker productivity should cause the inflation rate to come down to 6 per cent for the next year, predicts U.S. assistant commerce secretary James Pate.

Twister Chews Town

PORT HEDLAND, Australia (AP) — Cyclone Joan chewed up Port Hedland, a town of 13,000 in northwest Australia, today. A police spokesman reported: "Practically every house in town has its roof torn off. It's been a bloody disaster here."

The police reported one casualty, a man with a broken arm. Storm warnings were issued hours before the cyclone's 120-mile winds reached the town, and everyone took shelter.

Officials said the storm left 50 families homeless, destroyed all but one wing of the hospital and one out of every nine houses, and damaged 85 per cent of the town's other buildings.

They said there was two feet of water outside the police station after 16 hours of rain and that flooding had isolated the town by road.

"There was no panic, nothing like that," the police spokesman said. "Some people are already cleaning up."

"We're organizing a search right now, from one end of town to another, to see if there are any people in the wreckage," said emergency service controller Dick Langley.

IRA REFUSES VICTIM TRADE

LONDON (UPI) — Four trapped Irish Republican Army gunmen today rejected a police offer to provide them with food and cigarettes in exchange for the release of a woman they are holding hostage with her husband in a small apartment living room.

(See Picture Page 3)

"Absolutely not," came the answer on a hot-line telephone between the IRA gang's besieged Dorset Square refuge and the police outside. It came as the ordeal was in its second day.

The IRA gang is believed to include Britain's most wanted man, Michael Wilson, said by the poice to be responsible for London-area bombings that have killed 27 persons and wounded 540 in the past 18 months.

Wilson is wanted for the murder of Ross McWhirter, co-founder of the Guinness Book of Records. McWhirter was shot to death 10 days ago after offering a reward for the capture of the bombers.

The offer to provide food and cigarets to the gunmen in exchange for Mrs. John Matthews was made via the hot-line telephone connecting the second-floor living room on Dorset Square with police outside.

With police in hot pursuit, the gunmen seized Mr. and Mrs. Matthews, aged 54 and 53, respectively, Saturday night in their apartment, then barricaded themselves in the 13-by-14 foot living room overlooking the street.

They were given water, a portable toilet and toothache pills for Mrs. Matthews, but the police refused late Sunday and early today to supply requested food and cigarettes. Then they made the exchange offer.

Mediator Gets Dutch Children

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—South Moluccan gunmen today released four children but kept an estimated 15 adults hostage in the Indonesian consulate for political ransom. In the north, fellow terrorists sat tight with their prisoners aboard a hijacked train in the other of Holland's seige dramas.

The children, a girl of 13 and three 12-year-old boys, were the last of 11 seized when the gunmen stormed the consulate in Amsterdam last Thursday.

They appeared unharmed as they left holding hands with mediator Rev. Semol Metiary of the South Moluccan community in Holland, after his second negotiating encounter of the day with the gunmen. They were hustled into an ambulance and taken for a medical checkup.

At least two attempts to secure the safe release of the children collapsed over the weekend. The gunmen stuck firmly to their demands for Dutch government support of South Moluccan independence from Indonesia.

The Netherlands has firmly rejected any deal with the gunmen at the consulate or with the six holding an estimated 31 persons at gunpoint on a two-car train at Beilen, 75 miles north of Amsterdam, in the second of the two long running sieges.

A government source at the crisis centre in the capital of The Hague said chances for ending the twin standoffs without bloodshed were "bleak, to say the least."

The Dutch government has mobilized more than 1,000 heavily armed police and troops, including special anti-terrorist squads, around both sites.

TORY BOOST FOR KAREN

One riding where Social Credit warnings about splitting the so-called free enterprise vote seems to be unheeded is the northern Vancouver Island constituency of Comox. There Tory candidate Vic Stephens has been running such a strong campaign he is expected to ensure the re-election of the NDP's Karen Sanford. Linda Hughes reports on Page 5.

★ SPORTS ★

Violence, a major issue in hockey these days, cropped up again on the weekend with Attorney-General Alex Macdonald, Gordie Howe and police in London, Ont., adding fuel to the fire.

Macdonald, blaming "people like Clarence Campbell and the big-league officials" for violence at games, said in Kamloops that an incident in Vancouver last Wednesday is being investigated by his department. Phil Roberto of Detroit Red Wings was assessed a match penalty and suspended indefinitely for deliberately trying to injure Vancouver Canucks Don Lever in a National Hockey League game. Page 12.

There's a vast difference between violence and plain, hard-hitting hockey, as Memorial Arena patrons learned Saturday night when Victoria Cougars edged Edmonton Oil Kings in a Western Canada Junior League game that was close and entertaining. Page 12.

St. Louis Cardinals, getting three first-half touchdown tosses from quarterback Jim Hart, rolled to a 31-7 triumph over Dallas Cowboys in one of three National Football League games of major importance. In the others, the injury-riddled Miami Dolphins overcame Buffalo Bills 31-21 and Washington Redskins rode Mark Mosley's 39-yeard field goal in the last five seconds to a 30-27 win over Atlanta Falcons. Stop Smoking, Nobel Trio Urges

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — The three winners of the 1975 Nobel Prize in medicine today blamed outside environmental factors for causing up to 80 per cent of cancer in human beings.

About half of the cancer from these factors could be eliminated, but the population appears to turn its back on expert advice, they said. The three said the most prominent outside cancer-causing factor was cigarette smoking.

Profs. David Baltimore, Howard Temin and Renato Dulbecco won this year's prize for their "discoveries concerning the interaction between tumor viruses and the genetic material of the cell."

Appearing at a news conference prior to the Nobel Prize awarding ceremonies Dec. 10, Temin, of the University of Wisconsin, said:

"Well over half or up to 80 per cent of cancer in human beings is caused by things in the environment. The first thing is to recognize them and the second is to remove them. If they were removed, about 50 per cent of these cancers could be prevented."

Baltimore, from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said even if these factors are identified, he doubted if the population would heed the advice of the experts.

"People still smoke," he said. "The number of youngsters smoking is appalling."

Baltimore said some cancers are caused by high fat content in food and to warn people of the risks they are running "is just not going to work to get them to avoid these things."

He pointed to the urgent need of a cancer cure.

Asked what was the most important development in cancer research during the past three years, Dulbecco, who is currently researching at the Imperial Cancer Research Laboratory in London, said without hesitation, "the proof between cancer and smoking."

Temin said: "Now we can shift our attention to things in the environment that cause cancer. Therefore most cancers can be prevented. The most practical thing that could be done is for people to stop smoking."
